DETECTIVES HUNT FOR DYNAMITERS.

Pinkerton Men Unable to Find Author of Threatening Letters.

Disclosure of the Fact that a Stick of Dynamite Was Found Near Southern Pacific Track Two Miles from Fresno—Can of Percussion Caps in Hobos' Cabin. Official Statement—Ex-Convict Suspected.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The swarm of Pinkerton detectives who have been trying to apprehend the writer of the threatening letters to Southern Pacific officials are still in town, but thus far they have made no arrest, and from all that can be learned they are as much at sea as ever as to the identity of the blackmailer. The publication of the threat to blow up the trains brought out today the fact that a stick of dynamite was found last Friday on a rock near the Southern Pacific track, two miles south of town. A fuse was attached, and it was apparently ready to be set off. It was found by a boy who reported it to the Sheriff's office. It was investigated by O. J. Meade, the railroad detective, and a deputy sheriff.

Last Tuesday, a can of percussion caps was found in a cabin, near Conejo, which is occupied by hobos. The officers claim, however, that this dynamite and caps have no connection with the threats made to wreck the Southern Pacific trains. J. M. Lake, the Pinkerton detective, who is at the head of the force of men here, declared tonight that the finding of the dynamite was altogether a separate thing, and not connected in any way with the letter-writing case that he was working on.

The detectives who are working on the case believe that the threat was made by an ex-convict. They have the letters, and they are comparing the writing with that of certain ex-convicts who are known to be at Fresno at the present time. Among those who are being shadowed are J. H. Helm, released from Folsom, November 19, 1902, sentenced for burglary, and W. R. Smith, released July, 1902, also sentenced for burglary. The writer evidently had followed the Gravelle case in Montana, for in one of his letters he referred to the Montana wrecker, threatening to emulate the latter's career of wreck and ruin.

OFFICIAL PRECAUTIONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—The officials of the Southern Pacific are employing every possible precaution to prevent the gang of blackmailers and dynamiters at Fresno from carrying out their threats, but at the same time they are endeavoring to minimize the seriousness of the situation and allay the fears of the traveling public.

The operating officials of the company declare with considerable show of confidence that the author of the anonymous communications, who threatened to wreck a train unless he received $10,000 in gold, has thus far made no attempt to destroy life or property, and probably does not possess the criminal hardihood to attempt any such act.

Investigation into the cause of the wreck of the Owl train at Volta has satisfied them that it was not the work of the author of the anonymous communications and his gang. They say the wreck of the Owl cannot be attributed to the author of the blackmailing letters any more than can the robbery of the express car of the Sunset Limited near San Luis Obispo, some days ago. They do not fear serious consequences from a refusal to comply with his demand, but consider the author of the threats some harmless crank, rather than a desperate criminal.

KRUTTSCHNITT'S STATEMENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. Kruttschnitt, assistant to the president of the Southern Pacific Company, issued the following statement today:

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28, 1904.—The facts about the matter relating to the threatening letters published in this morning's papers, so far as are known to the Southern Pacific Company, are as follows:

A threatening, anonymous letter was received by the company, demanding that $10,000 in gold be thrown off a special locomotive to be started from Stockton January 20, the money to be thrown off at a point to be marked by a red light alongside the track. The demand was made that all trains should carry white signals upon receipt of this letter, and until January 20, as an indication to the parties that the money would be forthcoming.

Two other anonymous letters have been received, both of about the same tenor. The officers of the company deemed it prudent to take all possible precautions in the way of patroling the track, and turned the matter over for investigation to the local agency of the Pinkertons.

This company and other railroad companies frequently receive letters of this character, which, out of excess of caution, are acted on, regardless of the opinions that may be held as to the want of responsibility of the writer.

[Signed] J. KRUTTSCHNITT.

FIVE THREATENING LETTERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FRESNO, Jan. 28.—It appears that five threatening letters have gone through the mails, four from Fresno and the other from the adjoining county of Madera. It is for this reason that detectives are swarming hereabouts on an investigation of the case.

It appears that the detectives have been watching the postoffice closely and noting the movements of suspected strangers, and had made such arrangements as led them to hope that they would close in on their quarry shortly. Their well-laid plans have been frustrated by the publication of the dynamite plot, and their arrangements and the chase have been practically abandoned, after five days of secret work.

LETTERS MAILED AT FRESNO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Officials of the Southern Pacific Company in this city state that the threatening letters received by them were mailed at Fresno, and that as a measure of precaution, the tracks of the company have been carefully guarded. The first letter was mailed January 10, but was not received until January 14. On the 13th the wreck at Volta occurred, but nothing has since transpired.

THEY HAVE SUSPICIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—It is stated that the Pinkerton detectives have centered their suspicions on five men now in the vicinity of Fresno, and that one of them has been picked out as the author of the letters. The men are said to be under surveillance, but immediate arrests are not looked for, owing to the absence of positive evidence. The detectives say that the activity displayed by the railroad in the effort to apprehend the authors of the plot has frightened the would-be wreckers and that danger of the threats being consummated is entirely past.

GATHERING CORPSES FROM HARWICK MINE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 28.—When the work of recovering bodies temporarily ceased at midnight, 106 victims of Monday's explosion had been brought to the surface. Of this number, 56 have been identified.

WORK ON MAIN LEVEL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Jan. 28.—Ninety-five bodies had been taken from the Harwick mine at noon today. Thirty more were at the foot of the shaft, ready to be brought up. All night long the work of cleaning up the mine was carried on. The left heading of the south main level has been thoroughly inspected. The bodies there have all been recovered, and the work on the right heading is now being pushed forward rapidly. A squad of men were put to work today digging graves for the victims, in the plot of ground adjoining the Lutheran cemetery, half way between here and Springdale. It is in this plot that those miners who have no friends able to bear the expense of a burial will be interred.

Inspector F. F. Cunningham, who is in charge of the mine now, says: "Every man in the mine was killed by an explosion of fire damp. They died just as though shot through the heart with a bullet."

RECEIVER'S PROJECT FOR SHIP TRUST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After a meeting of the Sheldon reorganization committee of the United States Shipbuilding Company had been held, this afternoon, Receiver Smith issued a statement in which he unfolded a new plan to reorganize the trust. The following is Smith's plan: Raise $3,000,000 cash on prior lien notes; distribute $9,000,000 in preferred stock and $6,000,000 in common stock to C. M. Schwab in exchange for an equivalent in bonds; give $9,000,000 of preferred stock and $6,000,000 of common stock to other bondholders of the company in exchange for bonds. The capitalization of the reorganized company would thus be $30,000,000.

Smith said: "I have submitted a plan by which all bonds held by Schwab may be retired and stock issued in their place. This would give all parties interested an equal advantage. Schwab has everything worth anything in the Bethlehem plant. He wants to get the plant back. He paid $7,500,000 for it and since then it has earned $4,000,000. That makes it worth $11,500,000. If the creditors succeed in having the stock assessed to meet their claims it would cost the company $1,500,000."

MISREPRESENTED ITS FINANCES.

AMERICAN STEEL FOUNDRIES CO. PUT OFF STOCK EXCHANGE.

Why Securities of This Concern Were Struck from Stock List. Lewis Nixon Knows Nothing About Latest Setback for Schwab.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The Stock Exchange authorities made the following formal statement today regarding the action of the governors in striking off the list the securities of the American Steel Foundries Company:

"Whereas, it appears from the report of the Committee on Stock List that misrepresentations of an important character relating to the financial condition of the American Steel Foundries Company at the time of application for listing of its common and preferred stocks on the Stock Exchange, in November, 1902, were made to the Committee on Stock List, in support of said application, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that in accordance with Article 33, Section 4, of the constitution, the common and preferred stocks of the American Steel Foundries Company be hereby removed from the list."

Lewis Nixon, who was named as a director of the American Steel Foundries Company, said today that he had resigned that position months ago.

"I entered the board at the request of Mr. Schwab," said he, "some time after the organization of the company. I have no interest in it financially now and never did have, beyond the qualifying share of stock I held as director. With the beginning of the shipbuilding troubles, I resigned as a director of that and a number of other companies."

PIG IRON CONSOLIDATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Presidents of leading southern pig iron and steel companies have, according to the Herald, decided upon an attempt to form a large consolidation with a view to restoring normal conditions in the markets.

They have held several conferences with this object in view and it was finally decided to begin negotiations by appointing a committee of experts to examine the holdings of iron ore and coal lands. When this investigation is completed it is understood representatives of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company and the Sloss Sheffield Steel and Iron Company will consider terms on which a consolidation can be effected.

RULER OF THE WORLD.

Johannes Otzen Thinks It Will be Germany, With the Kaiser on Top.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fervid oratory marked the celebration of the Kaiser's birthday. Privy Councillor Johannes Otzen, speaking at Charlottenburg Technical University, concluded an inflated oration by saying: "The future ruler of the world will be neither America nor England, but Germany, and the German Kaiser."

Count Van Ballestrem, president of the Reichstag, at a Parliamentary banquet last night, described William as the mightiest ruler in the world.

FIRE IN PROGRESO.

Market and Public Buildings Burn.

Entire Square of Yucatan's Chief Port Destroyed. Loss Two Millions.

Flames Start from Unknown Cause in Business Section on the Alameda.

Markethouse and the Food Supply Gone, Also Palace and Railway Depot

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 28.—Fire at Progreso, the chief port of Yucatan, Tuesday night, destroyed an entire square of business houses and public buildings, including the market. The loss is $2,000,000. The railway offices were also consumed. The public buildings were not insured, and the loss on them is $300,000. Fifteen thousand bales of henequin were burned.

The business quarter, in which the fire first broke out, is half a mile from the wharves and fronts on the Alameda, the most beautiful plaza in Progreso. The origin of the fire is unknown, and it had gained much headway before the fire department had reached the blaze.

The square, which was consumed, consisted for the most part of one-story buildings, occupied by business houses. The market house, a large single-story building, which furnished the only means of obtaining food supplies, was destroyed. In the same block was situated a large two-story building which was used as the general office of the Consolidated Railway of Yucatan and also the municipal palace, a two-story stone building. These buildings were gutted.

The loss is divided as follows: Municipal palace and contents, $450,000; market house and contents, $300,000; Consolidated Railway of Yucatan, building and contents, $200,000; loss on other business property, which was occupied by general hardware, clothing drug and storehouses, $1,000,000. It is said that the loss is about half covered by insurance, mostly held by European companies.

CUBAN ELECTION PRODUCED RIOT.

REVOLVERS ARE USED, BUT FISTS AND STICKS TAKE EFFECT.

Official Reports to Havana do Not Agree With the Accounts from Cienfuegos, Where the Trouble Occurred—Four Men Seriously and a Dozen Others Slightly Hurt.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CIENFUEGOS (Cuba) Jan. 28.—[By West Indian Cable.] A riot in which four men were seriously injured and a dozen others slightly hurt took place here last night as a result of bad feeling engendered by the election campaign.

The trouble began in the Central Café, when Francisco Canellos and Victor Zegreeran, Republicans, who were entertaining some Colombian friends, were attacked by several Liberal Nationalists. The café was transformed into a battlefield, and a large and excited crowd surged back and forth in the street.

The principal fight occurred in front of the City Hall. Many revolver shots were fired, but nobody was shot, the injuries all resulting from stick-and-fist encounters. The people of the city were alarmed, and barred their doors and windows and closed all the stores. The situation is calmer today, but political feeling runs high.

OFFICIAL ACCOUNTS DIFFERENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HAVANA, Jan. 28.—The official accounts of the rioting at Cienfuegos given out at the Palace here minimize the occurrences. The Mayor of Cienfuegos has telegraphed that the trouble was promoted by detectives dressed in citizens' clothes, and a telegram has been received from the Governor of the province saying that Col. Campillo of Santa Clara was stabbed taree times. The reports issued by the government are meager, but they relate that some men styling themselves "police agents" ejected several Liberals who were copying the lists of voters from the City Hall. These Liberals are reported to have torn down and destroyed other election lists.

Other official reports say that one Liberal leader was so badly clubbed at the railway station that he had to be taken to the hospital.

THE ORIENT.

TROOPS MOVE TO FRONTIER.

Large Bodies of Russians Advance on Korea.

Czar's Reply Refuses the Request of Japan.

"Integrity and Independence" Denied to China.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A dispatch to the Standard from Tokio says that, according to information from a sure source, large bodies of Russian troops are being moved to the Korean frontier from Feng Nang Cheng, and other points in the interior of Manchuria.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Seoul reports the arrival of a thousand Russian troops at Antung yesterday.

The Peking correspondent of the Times cables that Tseng Chi, the Tartar general of Mukden, has telegraphed to the Foreign Board at Peking that the Russians have demanded that he supply 500 carts for immediate military service. The Board replied that, owing to China's decision of neutrality, Tseng Chi must decline to supply the carts in question.

TROOPS FOR THE YALU.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The port Arthur correspondent of the Paris edition of the New York Herald announces the departure of the Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Siberian Rifles for the Yalu River. The correspondent says that Vice-Admiral Alexieff is suffering with influenza, but he confers daily with his military chiefs.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Daily Graphic claims to be able to affirm that Russia's draft of her reply has not yet been officially presented to Japan, but that it has been communicated to M. Kurino, the Japanese Minister at St. Petersburg, who has transmitted the contents to Tokio, whence it will be conveyed to the friendly powers. The Russian reply is courteous, the Daily Graphic continues, but it refuses in uncompromising terms to permit the reinsertion in the draft of the treaty of the two words guaranteeing the integrity and independence of China upon which Japan insisted in her last note.

The clause proposed by Japan was that Russia and Japan should mutually agree to respect the "integrity and independence of China and Korea." Russia has now stricken out twice the words "China and," and it is understood this will close the negotiations.

It is probable, the Daily Graphic goes on, that when this note has been presented, Japan will notify Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister at Tokio, that she has no alternative but to take up arms in defense of her interests, and that M. Kurino will be instructed to demand his passports. In the meanwhile, instructions have been sent to the two Japanese cruisers now at Colombo to proceed to Singapore, where in the event of war being declared their crews will be paid off and the vessels laid up.

There is nothing in the dispatches published this morning to show that the statement of the Daily Graphic is anything more than "intelligent anticipation." The dispatch to the Associated Press from St. Petersburg on the meeting of the Council of State, is the latest St. Petersburg news to reach London. The Daily Mail and the Daily Telegraph both report in their St. Petersburg dispatches the possibility of further negotiations, the Telegraph saying that the culmination of the crisis is not expected before the beginning of March and reporting a sudden rise on the St. Petersburg Bourse.

AWAITING THAT NOTE.
JAPAN ASKS FOR IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Jan. 28.—[By Asiatic Cable.] It is anticipated that the answer of Russia to Japan's latest note will reach Tokio not later than next Monday. Besides the intimation conveyed to Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister at this capital, that an early reply was desired, Minister Kurino, at St. Petersburg, called on Foreign Minister Lamsdorff and politely requested a response. Count Lamsdorff promised that the reply his government would make would be delivered within a few days. If an immediate decision should be reached, the note ma, arrive in Tokio Saturday.

Russia's response is eagerly awaited and if it should prove unsatisfactory to Japan, an immediate declaration of war seems unavoidable. The Japanese feel that the entire responsibility for the outcome rests with Russia. Some doubt is expressed that Russia properly appreciates the determination and temper of the Japanese people, and it seems incredible that Baron de Rosen has failed to consequently inform the government at St. Petersburg of the situation.

Premier Katsura and the other members of the Japanese Cabinet will entertain at dinner tonight a number of prominent bankers of the empire who have gathered at the capital to discuss the financial situation and to assist in perfecting the government's programme. Tomorrow, the Premier and Cabinet will give a dinner to a group of millionaire financiers, and President Matsuwo of the Bank of Japan will give a banquet to the visiting bankers, at which Matsukata and Inouye, former Ministers of Finance, will deliver addresses.

The Marquis Ito, Matsukata and Gen. Yamagata, members of the Imperial Household Finance Council, had an audience with the Emperor today at which it was decided that the Imperial household should subscribe to the government's emergency bonds, should they be issued. Th's will make the Emperor a personal subscriber to the proposed bonds. The government is receiving many offers for the bonds.

PORTER AND DELCASSE.
LONG CONFERENCE AT PARIS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Jan. 28.—[By Atlantic Cable.] United States Ambassador Porter had another lengthy talk with Foreign Minister Delcasse today going over the latest phases of the Russo-Japanese situation. M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador, and Prince Von Randolin, the ambassador of Germany, called at about the same time. The former firmly believes the Czar's influence will lead to a pacific adjustment, but other offic.als of the embassy do not share the ambassador's views, and are inclined to believe that war will result.

Government opinion here remains unchanged, the officials holding that the situation is warlike, but that it has not passed beyond the chance of diplomatic adjustment. It can be asserted positively that France shares the view of the United States, Great Britain and others, that no joint mediation is desirable, as it would probably irritate the situation, but that each power should use its influence, through its own diplomatic channels, towards the maintenance of peace.

PRESSING FORWARD.
RUSSIA'S NEW WIRE SERVICE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A Herald dispatch from Seoul says Cabinet changes continue. Pak Chi Sun, the Korean Minister to China, has been recalled to become Foreign Minister.

Russia is building a telegraph line from Antung to form a connection with the Russian wires now operating on the Chinese Eastern Railway. The Korean government has wires from Seoul to Wiju. This arrangement will enable Russia to cable Seoul without using Japanese wires and obtain telegraph service between Port Arthur and the Yalu River.

MESS BEEF FROM AMERICA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Three special freight trains have just arrived here from Kansas City and Omaha with a large quantity of mess beef destined for the Russian army in the Orient. In the three trains there was an aggregate of about seventy cars, and they contained over three million pounds of beef. The trains came West on fast time, in order that the beef should be carried across the Pacific on the steamer sailing from here the end of this month, or early in February. This large shipment is to be split in two on the other side, half going to Port Arthur and the remainder to Vladivostock.

K. Tosawa, manager of the San Francisco branch of the Yokohama Specie Bank, has returned from a visit to Yokohama. He says that the people of Japan are unanimously for war, feeling that they are entirely in the right and that Korea must be left an independent kingdom, as its domination by Russia means the suppression of Japan's best interests and the interests of civilization.

WAR SCARE AND CUBAN LOAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HAVANA, Jan. 28.—The apparent difficulty that will be experienced in floating the $35,000,000 Cuban loan at present, on account of the Far Eastern war scare, has given rise to a rumor that the National City Bank of New York, the tentative bidder for the loan, has withdrawn. President Palma said tonight that he knew nothing of this withdrawal, as did Señor Zaldo, Secretary of State.

MOB DESECRATES DEAD.

Rabbis in Morocco, Displeased at Coinage, Commits Hideous Outrages in Cemetery Given by Sultan.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TANGIERS (Morocco) Jan. 28.—[By African Cable.] Morocco City has been the scene of serious disturbances in consequence of the government's attempts to force the circulation of new and unpopular copper coins, on which it placed an artificial value and which it is to receive in payment of taxes.

Business was paralyzed, provisions became scarce and starvation was threatened. A mob rose and first attacked the Christian cemetery, lately given by the Sultan to the foreign missions; burned down the gates, desecrated the graves, exhumed the bodies, cut off their heads and paraded the town with the heads stuck on poles. The rioters proceeded to the Jewish quarter, but found the gates closed and strongly guarded. The Jews were panic-stricken until they found that the protection of the authorities was effective. The rabble subsequently looted the jewelers' shops, robbing and wounding many Jews.

The Governor attempted to quell the disturbance, but he was stoned, pursued and obliged to seek refuge in the palace. The authorities finally induced the mob to withdraw on the promise of temporary withdrawal of the obnoxious coinage.

IMPROVED MAIL SERVICE.

Canada Makes Deal With Allen Line that She May Hear from England Quicker.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—[By Atlantic Cable.] It is announced that the Canadian government has made a contract with the Allen line of steamers for an improved mail service between Canada and Great Britain, to commence next August. The British terminus of the service will be Moville, Ireland, the year round, while the Canadian terminus will be Quebec in the summer and St. John, N. B., in the winter. The steamers Tunisian and Bavarian are to alternate with the turbine steamers Victorian and Virginian. The schedule time is to be six and a half days in summer and seven and a half days in winter. The subsidy is $10,000 a round trip for the turbine vessels and $5000 for the slower vessels.

GUARDING ENGINEERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

One hundred and thirty policemen are in the basements of the big office buildings to guard non-union engineers from attack by strikers.

"There must be no violence and no interruption of the hearing of office buildings in this weather," said Inspector Lavin this morning. The "underground force" is working cheifly under the inspector's orders, and upon him devolves the duty of maintaining order in the strike.

CHICAGO'S OLDEST POLICEMAN.

The oldest man on the Chicago police force, Alexander Beaubien, today celebrated his eighty-second birthday anniversary by not reporting for duty in Justice Prindiville's court. He was the first white child born in Chicago.

WILL SUPPLY ANTI-TOXIN.

The Health Department of New York City tonight announced that it would supply anti-toxin to Chicago and other cities which may need it, in view the existence of a combination to force the price of the serum up. An inquiry had resulted in the conclusion that there is a "trust."

RESEARCH AS TO PNEUMONIA.

Suggestions for the establishment of a fund for conducting research work in an effort to discover a cure for pneumonia were made, as a result of the demand of Dr. Arthur D. Bevan before the Chicago Medical Society Wednesday evening that physicians acknowledge to the public that there is absolutely no known remedy for the disease.

WELL SUPPLIED WITH CLOTHES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Joseph Netz, a Hungarian cooper, arrived at the City Hospital today he looked as if he weighed 300 pounds, but when the receiving physicians got through, he tipped the scales at not more than 130. They were astounded when Netz peeled off three coats, three vests, six shirts, two pairs of trousers, two suits of underclothes, three pairs of socks, a pair of No. 10 shoes, a black Alpine hat and a large red necktie.

ACCUSED OF WIFE MURDER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LEBANON (Ind.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cyrus M. Todd, aged 19, was arrested and lodged in jail here today, charged with the murder of his eighteen-year-old wife, December 31 last. The day of her death, he returned home from a hunt in the woods near by, and soon afterward came running from the house, exclaiming that his wife had shot herself. This story was believed until recently, when it was reported that he had threatened to shoot her.

DID NOT INVITE BURTON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Jan. 28.[Exclusive Dispatch.] National Committeeman D. W. Mulvane denies the report that he invited Senator J. R. Burton to address the Kansas Day Club at its annual banquet here tomorrow night.

"I have had no communication with Senator Burton," Mulvane said. Congressman Victor Murdock, president of the club, says that nobody with any authority invited Burton, and, in his opinion, no invitation was sent.

SETTLERS ACCUSE RAILROADS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Settlers along the Canadian Northern between War road and Fort Francis, on the Minnesota side of the boundary, have filed with the Railroad Commission complaints in which they accuse the company of practically reducing them to starvation. The settlers are poor, and depend almost solely on cutting cordwood. Owing to the railroad's refusal to provide loading tracks and sidings, they have been unable to send any wood to market. They are out of money, and storekeepers refuse further credit.

RAILROADS RESPONSIBLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Railroad companies are responsible for damages suffered by passengers through their negligence, even though the passengers are riding on scalpers' tickets. Because Mrs. Edith J. Raiff was riding on a ticket purchased from a scalper, at reduced rate, when she sustained injuries of which she complains, in two wrecks on the Northern Pacific Railroad, the company sought to have the case dismissed, but Judge Seaman this morning ordered the trial to proceed.

BROKE HIS PAROLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OMAHA (Neb.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Nation, a convict, set an example of turning over a new leaf that is likely to stand as the record. Paroled a month ago, he changed his name, married a pretty widow in Grand Island, Neb., and opened a café. It was a shock to the townspeople when deputies from the penitentiary at Lincoln came to arrest him for violating his parole. Nation was sent to prison for three years and the release sentence had about expired.

RAILROAD RECORD.

CLARK SPECIAL BROKE RECORD.

BEAT CALIFORNIA LIMITED BY ABOUT FIVE HOURS.

Although Too Slow to Put Senator's Son at Wife's Bedside Before She Died, it Furnished Statistics of Quick Time Across Continent.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Jan. 28.—W. J. Black, general passenger and ticket agent of the Santa Fé, says, concerning the Clark special train which reached Chicago this afternoon:

"It was the fastest run ever made on our road, taking all things into consideration. The special started from Winslow, Ariz., at 11:28 p. m. Tuesday and reached Chicago today at 1:50 p. m. The run of 1663 miles was made, therefore, in 27 hrs. 15 mins. This is an average of 44½ miles an hour, including all stops and delays.

"The most remarkable feature of the train's flight was its great speed through the mountains. It did better work there than on the level country farther east. The special crossed three mountain ranges, including the continental divide. No delays were encountered in the mountains, and the speed made was something new in railroad experience. If the same approximate speed had been maintained east of the mountains the train would have reached Chicago four hours sooner.

"Much of the distance across Kansas was done at mile-a-minute speed. A noticeable thing about the race against death was the quickness of our enginemen in changing engines for the special at the division points. Santa Fé officials are much gratified over the showing made by this train in breaking past records, but we can do better."

BEATS THE LIMITED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—The Clark special, which left Albuquerque, N. M., at 5:45 a.m. yesterday, made the trip to Chicago 4 hrs. 55 mins. faster than the time of the Santa Fé's fast "California Limited," and 25 mins. faster than the time of the westbound Lowe special of last August.

Heavy snows in Iowa and Western Illinois impeded progress materially. Train dispatchers of the Santa Fé in Chicago received word from Fort Madison, Iowa, that the Clark special had lost over two hours on account of a hot box and would not arrive in Chicago before 1:30 o'clock p. m., too late for the Twentieth Century Limited on the Lake Shore. Reservation for Clark was made on the Lake Shore Limited, leaving Chicago at 5:30 p. m.

ON THE RUN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOPEKA, Jan. 28.—The Santa Fé officials here give out the following statement of the run of the Clark special from Winslow, Ariz., to Chicago:

"The original train consisted of an engine, baggage car and day coach. At Kansas City the Pullman sleeper Umeda was added. The train ran on regular service from Jerome to Winslow, where it became a special, leaving there January 26, at 11:28 p.m. on its 1663-mile trip. Albuquerque, N. M., was passed by at 2:45 a.m., January 27; Las Vegas 8:59 a.m., and La Junta at 2 p.m. Dodge City, Kan., was passed at 7:10 Wednesday night; Newton at 11:20, Emporia 12:38 a.m., reaching Kansas City at 3:14 a.m. The train left Fort Madison, Ia., at 8:35 a.m., arriving at the Chicago depot at 1:45 Thursday afternoon. This the run of 1663 miles was made in 27½ hours, and, taking out dead time, the train made an average of 44½ miles an hour. Three mountain ranges, with elevations of 7257 feet, 7472 feet and 7608 feet, respectively, were crossed. Hot boxes delayed the train over two hours on two different occasions; also snows in Iowa and Illinois made delays."

WORLD'S FAIR RATES.
TO AND FROM THE COAST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Jan. 28.—The final meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association was held tonight, and the following rates from the Pacific Coast were formulated: From Pacific Coast points to St. Louis and return $67.50; from Pacific Coast points to Chicago and return by way of St. Louis, $70. Tickets at those rates shall be sold three days in each month with a ten-day limit going and ninety-day limit returning, with stop-over privileges at points in transit.

The association will convene in Chicago at a special meeting, the date of which has not been set, to ratify these rates and take final action regarding tickets, regulations and prospective measures.

Bay Shore Cut-off.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—The Southern Pacific has asked for bids for construction of the Bay Shore cut-off south, along the bay to San Bruno station on the Coast division, a distance of eleven miles. The new road will cost over $2,000,000, or about $200,000 a mile, in that distance, five expensive tunnels will have to be bored, and much heavy grading will have to be done in order to reduce curves and grades to a minimum, and get a straight, level track that will permit of fast time.

AUTO'S VICTIM IDENTIFIED.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The identity of the American woman killed last night in an automobile accident near La Napoule, France, has been learned. She was Mrs. J. H. Rathbone, a wealthy widow of Baltimore, Md., and sister of the wife of Prof. Otto G. Ramsay of Yale Medical School. She was 40 years of age. Mrs. Rathbone has been staying at Cannes for three months, having been abroad since the death of her husband, a year ago.

VEGETARIANS UP AGAINST IT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Vegetarians are having an expensive season, supplying themselves with food. All kinds of greens are high, owing to long-continued cold, and people in ordinary circumstances have been compelled to fall back on canned goods. Eggs of the ordinary quality, not strictly fresh, are bringing 50 and 60 cents a dozen. Dealers say no fresh supplies whatever are coming in.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION will stop a cold at once. Always keep it handy.

Suicide Leaves Peculiar Will. Arizona Mystery.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The second annual arbor day, which was originated in Stockton by J. M. Eddy, who organized a club of over a thousand members, will be observed tomorrow in the usual manner. Trees of different varieties will be planted on the French Camp road, leading south from the city, while all the dead trees on the other roads will be replaced by the same kind of trees, so that uniformity will be preserved. Committees have investigated and found that over 75 per cent. of the trees put out last year are alive and doing nicely. A large sum has been raised by public subscription to pay a portion of the expense of purchasing the trees, which will be planted tomorrow; and the majority of the local societies will donate and plant trees. It is expected that about 500 people will turn out and assist in beautifying the highways, as all business houses will close at noon. One of the features connected with the celebration will be the planting of a laurel tree by the Native Daughters, in Weber Park, the name of Jones Park having been changed to that of Weber Park, at the suggestion of the Native Daughters.

SUICIDES IN WEST FAMILY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Mrs. S. A. West, wife of J. W. West, a candy manufacturer, committed suicide last night by turning on the gas. Her dead body was found today in her apartments. She was in ill health and had frequently threatened to kill herself. A short time ago her husband, J. W. West, dropped dead on the street, and a few weeks later the daughter, Grace Clara Perkins West, ended her life in a local restaurant. Mrs. West had intimated recently that she had been robbed of her money and some property in Denver. A letter from John Sullivan, Chief of Police of Seattle, was found in her apartments, saying: "If you will send particulars regarding this man Rubenstein, I will do what I can to help you."

It has been learned that Mrs. West made four previous attempts at suicide. Two roomers in the house where she lived were nearly asphyxiated by the escaping gas.

SUICIDE'S PECULIAR WILL.
ALL TO "DEAR LITTLE FRIEND."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, Jan. 28.—The will of Mrs. Lavinia Johnson, who committed suicide by asphyxiation in San Francisco, last Monday night was filed here today. After making small bequests to relatives and distributing personal property among friends, she makes her "dear little friend, Valentine Dean," of 340 Twenty-third avenue, San Francisco, her residuary legatee. Mitchel Phillips of San José is executor without bonds. The will is holographic and is dated San Francisco, January 2, 1904. The estate consists chiefly of a prune orchard near San José, valued at $30,000, with an incumbrance of $16,000.

WOODCUTTER DISAPPEARS.
MYSTERY ON IN ARIZONA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 28.—Norman Odell of New York, 19 years old, who came to Arizona for his health, mysteriously disappeared January 12 from the ranch of W. R. Blackmer at Buckeye, forty miles west of Phoenix. He went to cut some wood a quarter of a mile from the house, and never returned. Blackmer, it was supposed, had gone to secure a better place to work, and alarm was not felt. Neighbors, however, missed the man, inquired concerning him, and reported the matter to the Sheriff here. His deputy has gone to investigate.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Mrs. S. ...A. West, wife of J. W. West, a candy ...manufacturer, committed suicide last ...night by turning on the gas. Her ...dead body was found today in her ...apartments. She was in ill health and ...had frequently threatened to kill her- ...self. A short time ago her husband, ...J. W. West, dropped dead on the ...street, and a few weeks later the ...daughter, Grace Clara Perkins West, ...ended her life in a local restaurant. ...Mrs. West had intimated recently that ...she had been robbed of her money ...and some property in Denver. A let- ...ter from John Sullivan, Chief of Po- ...lice of Seattle, was found in her apart- ...ments, saying: "If you will send par- ...ticulars regarding this man Rubenstein, ...I will do what I can to help you."
...It has been learned that Mrs. West ...made four previous attempts at suicide. ...Two roomers in the house where she ...died were nearly asphyxiated by the ...escaping gas.

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS FROM THE WORLD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADRID, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Yesterday, at the village of Toregano, in the province of Segovia, four wolves came down from the mountains, and getting into the school premises, killed and devoured five children, besides wounding seven others very seriously. The villagers succeeded in killing only two wolves.

DAUGHTERS OF FAITH.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ROME, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Pope has expressed his heartiest approval of the anti-divorce organization recently formed in New York, and known as the Daughters of Faith, and said he wished the movement would spread to every town in the United States. His Holiness hopes to learn all the details of the movement from Archbishop Farley when he comes to Rome.

M'ADOO'S LATEST.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Of various orders issued by Commissioner McAdoo tonight, the police received one with much misgiving. It forbids them to talk with women while they are on patrol, and inspectors and captains are ordered to make complaints against offenders and hale them to headquarters for trial.

STARVED TWENTY-FOUR YEARS.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SYRACUSE, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lucien G. Ransom died here today, aged 28. For twenty-four years he had not tasted solid food. When four years old he drank a cup of lye. His aesophagus closed, but he lived on milk and beef tea. Finally he died of starvation. He was a rich man.

CLEARING THE EXCHANGE.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is said several big concerns are to be thrown out of the Stock Exchange. Should the Board of Governors find that industrials other than the American Steel Foundries have made misstatements of their financial condition, they will be summarily thrown out. A rigid investigation is to be made.

CAN SUCH THINGS BE?
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Omcial and diplomatic society is torn up again, and this time the burning question is whether Countess Cassini snubbed Miss Alice Roosevelt. The Countess went to Mrs. Alger's dinner in honor of Miss Roosevelt, wearing a high-neck dress. Now she says she did so because she was too ill to wear decolleté, but it is said that she later attended another function and wore evening dress.

INDIANS TOO JOYFUL.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Eighteen Osage Indians drunk and raising Cain," describes the situation tonight as to the braves who came to Washington to sign the treaty that opens up their lands in Oklahoma. Not an Osage appeared to sign, and it was later discovered that they had fallen to the temptations of the capital. The treaty will be signed tomorrow.

ST. LOUIS THEATER PANIC.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The snapping of a seat in the balcony caused a panic in Havlin's Theater tonight. Prompt action by Manager William Goren and the ushers prevented the audience from tramping on one another in their mad desire to flee from the house. Many women fainted and pandemonium prevailed.

ENGAGES JOCKEY ROBBINS.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] R. T. Wilson, Jr., has engaged Jockey Robbins, now riding at New Orleans, for the coming Metropolitan season at a salary of $15,000.

REMOVING THE SEEDS OF POLITICAL DOUBT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Probably within a short time something will happen to show that political prognosticators who have been saying that the President is not strong in Indiana are false prophets. There arrived in Washington today Chairman Goodrich of the Indiana Republican State Central Committee, who came to town to talk with Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge of Indiana and find out just how to set people right on national politics, so far as Indiana is concerned. Senator Beveridge, of course, is for the President, and has been for him right along, whereas Senator Fairbanks, on account of having been mentioned for the Presidency himself, has been sitting quietly on the fence. But the conferences that are now going on here will divulge just what Indiana is going to do in the Presidential campaign, and every sign indicates pretty clearly that she is going to get firmly in line for the President for the nomination.
That outcome will smash all opposition to the President, for Indiana was chosen as one of the leading stamping grounds for revolt, and if the seeds of political revolution against the President will not take root in Indiana they will not take anywhere, since Ohio has come so much into line that reference to Hanna's boom is now regarded as something of a political joke.

OHIO POSTMASTERS.
HANNA AND FORAKER DIFFER.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A special to the Sun from Washington says:
"The political offices in Ohio which seem likely to settle the question of whether President Roosevelt is to cast his fortunes with Senator Foraker or Senator Hanna in the matter of electing delegates to the national convention are the postmasters at Lima and Napoleon. Senator Hanna is for the reappointment of the present postmasters at these places, but Senator Foraker has other candidates for appointment. Although the offices are comparatively unimportant, it is expected that they will prove a test of strength between Foraker and Hanna."

MISSOURI CONGRESS DISTRICT.
DECLARES FOR THE PRESIDENT.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—The Republican convention of the Fifth Missouri Congress District today elected two delegates and two alternates to the national convention at Chicago and instructed them to "vote and use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for President; also to support Cyrus P. Walbridge of St. Louis for Vice-President."

THIBET LAMA WARNS ENGLISHMEN BACK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHUMBI (British India) Jan. 28.—[By Asiatic Cable.] Col. Younghusband, commanding the British expedition to Thibet, has received a personal visit from the Lepon Lama, one of the five great lamas of Thibet, who delivered an ultimatum warning him to return to Gnatong, and promising that there would be serious trouble if he did not do so. Large reinforcements of infantry and cavalry have already reached the Thibetan camp, and more are coming from Shigasto. It is expected that an attack will be made on the British camp at Tuna, when the Thibetans are sufficiently reinforced.
In the mean time, the British are pushing the work of road-making through a gorge north of Linga Thang, which is said to be more difficult to traverse and higher than the Khyber Pass. The military telegraph is keeping pace with the road makers. All this work is done in the face of Arctic weather. A flying column under command of Col. McDonald is ready to push forward at any moment, should necessity arise.

LAKE MICHIGAN FROZEN.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lake Michigan is frozen from shore to shore. This condition is the cumulative result of the continuous cold weather, the average temperature during December and January having been lower than in any winter since 1876. It is the first time the lake has been entirely covered with ice in scores of years.

STOLE FOR SIX YEARS.
George A. Rose Makes Confession of His Defalcations While Cashier of the Produce Exchange.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
CLEVELAND (O.) Jan. 28.—George A. Rose, the alleged defaulting cashier of the Produce Exchange Bank, which closed its doors January 22, made a confession tonight to the County Prosecutor, telling of his method of using the bank's money, of which he is said to have lost $187,000.
Rose said that he was alone in his alleged speculation, and that his use of the bank's money began about six years ago. He said that about three years ago, when the loss had reached only $20,000, an auditing committee was appointed to go over the bank's books. Rose had hoped that his shortage would be discovered then, but at the end of a week or so of investigation the committee reported everything satisfactory with the bank's affairs. Rose declared that he lived within his salary of $125 a month, and has not got a cent of the money lost to the bank by his speculation.
When the shortage had reached $20,000, Rose said that he knew he would have to replace that sum, and seeing no other way of doing so than by speculation, he continued to speculate until the amount reached $187,000. His mental state has been miserable ever since his speculation began, he said, and often he had been tempted to commit suicide, but did not do so because of his wife and family. All of the entire sum of $187,000, Rose declares, was lost in grain speculation in Chicago.
His willingness for a speedy trial and imprisonment, he said, was to relieve his mind of the worry that he had undergone. He also desired to be sentenced and to serve his term, and afterward begin life anew.

RECORD SHIPMENT OF COTTON.

CAMP SITES FOR MILITARY.

Another Discussion Had by Committee Yesterday.

Henry Ranch Will Not be Specified in Bill.

Smoot Refuses to Get Out. In Regard to Crum.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A lively contest developed before the House Committee on Military Affairs this morning over the location of a permanent military camp in Pennsylvania or Maryland at which the troops of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Ohio can be mobilized for annual maneuvers. This was but the opening series of similar contests between eligible sites in California, Texas, Kentucky, Wisconsin and other States.

Under the authority of Congress, a special board of army officers, of which Lieut.-Gen. Miles, Maj.-Gen. Brooke, Maj.-Gen. E. S. Otis and Maj.-Gen. Young and others were members, made an exhaustive examination of all sites in the United States offered for this purpose, and in a report of nearly one thousand pages recommended "one in the vicinity of Chickamauga Par, Ga.; one at Fort Riley, Kan.; one in Conewago Valley, in Lebanon, Dauphin and Lancaster counties, Pa., and one on the Nacimento ranch in Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties, Cal." All of these sites, however, have their opponents, as well as their champions, and after a long conference before the Military Committee, Representative Esch recently introduced a bill providing for the purchase of a site in Conewago Valley, the Nacimento ranch, Camp Douglas in Wisconsin and Camp Sam Houston in Texas.

In the case of the Nacimento ranch, the report against it had been made by a medical board of the army, and the Henry ranch in San Luis Obispo county was recommended as a suitable site. Nacimento ranch is in Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties. It was apparent at today's hearing at which Representatives Daniels and Needham appeared, that the committee would be unable to decide upon any ranch in California, and therefore it was agreed to make provision in the bill for the purchase of a site in San Luis Obispo or Monterey counties, leaving the selection to be made by the Secretary of War. This solution appeared to come near satisfying everybody.

IN REGARD TO CRUM.

HE'S DE FACTO COLLECTOR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—In response to Senator Tillman's resolution adopted by the Senate, calling for the record of William D. Crum's appointment and his service as Collector of the Port of Charleston, S. C., Secretary of the Treasury Shaw today sent to President pro tem Frye the following letter:

"William D. Crum was appointed Collector of the Port of Charleston, S. C., March 20, 1902, and a temporary commission issued. Mr. Crum qualified by executing bond for $50,000 and took oath of office March 30, 1903. Mr. Crum was again appointed December 2, 1903, and has given bond in the sum of $50,000 and took the oath of office on January 9, 1904.

"There has been no third appointment and no fourth appointment. The same information is contained in a letter to B. R. Tillman under date of January 8, 1904, and which appears in the Congressional Record of January 18, 1904.

"The resolution also asks 'is Mr. Crum now in office, and if so, under what authority of law?' William D. Crum is de facto Collector at the Port of Charleston, S. C. Whether he holds his position under authority of law is determinable, not by the Executive Department of the government, but by the judiciary, and by that only. He is not receiving pay because of the provisions of section 1761."

MR. FRYE'S DISPLEASURE.

DOESN'T COUNT WITH ROOT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Frye's displeasure at Secretary Root's opposition to the bill to confine the shipment of all government freight by sea to American vessels has not led the Secretary to change his mind as to the undesirability of that measure. He is as much opposed to it as ever, and he has written to Senator Frye another letter emphasizing his objections.

The War Department has been endeavoring, ever since the acquisition of the Philippine Islands, to ship supplies to Manila by American vessels in preference to foreign vessels. These efforts have met with some slight success on the Pacific Coast, but they have been absolutely unsuccessful, so far as concerns shipments from the Atlantic Coast. No American ship has offered to take freight at the rate that the War Department would accept. In its endeavors to obtain American ships from Atlantic ports, the department has acquired some knowledge of rates that such vessels would charge, and for this reason there is much significance in the suggestion in Secretary Root's letter that the government might be permitted to give a preference of fifty or even 100 per cent. to American vessels.

DINNER TO SUPREME COURT.

INJURY KEEPS WHITE AWAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at dinner at the White House tonight in honor of the Supreme Court. Covers were laid for a large company of guests. All the justices of the Supreme Court were present except Justice White, who was detained at home by injuries resulting from a fall while on his way to court today, and Justice Brown, who had eye trouble. The table, horseshoe shape, was set in the State dining-room and presented an unusually handsome appearance. The President escorted Mrs. Fuller to the table and the Chief Justice Mrs. Roosevelt.

SHAW ISSUES CIRCULAR.

PASSENGERS' DUTY-EXEMPTIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary Shaw has issued a circular to passengers arriving in the United States from foreign countries regarding examination of baggage, passengers, declarations, exemptions from duty, etc., which will be sent to each passenger as far as possible before embarking on outgoing steamers. The secretary holds that each returning passenger, if a resident of the United States, may bring into the country, free from duty, articles purchased abroad, except cigars and cigarettes in excess of fifty of the former and three hundred of the latter, for himself or any other person, up to the amount of $100, provided they are not intended for sale.

NAVAL BUILDING PLAN.

SECRETARY RECOMMENDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary Moody has concluded his recommendations before the House Committee on Naval Affairs. He presented two plans proposed by the general board of the navy as the building plan for next year.

The first was based on an expenditure of $34,000,000, and included provision for one battleship, one armored cruiser, three protected cruisers, four scout cruisers, two squadron colliers and two submarine boats. The second plan provides for an expenditure of $30,000,000, and is a duplicate of the first programme, with the elimination of two of the scout cruisers.

The Secretary recommended building naval stations at Guantanamo, Cuba, and Subig Bay, Philippine Islands. The station in Cuba ultimately is to cost $12,000,000, and the one in the Philippines $9,000,000. One million dollars is asked this year for the Guantanamo station, and a little less than that amount for the one in the Philippines.

While nothing definite was decided on, general discussions in committee of a permanent naval programme reveals a desire that the strength of the navy of 1919 should be forty-eight battleships and half of that number of armored cruisers, with auxiliary boats in proportion.

POSTAL TRIAL DEFENSE.

MADDOX OPENS FOR GROFFS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The defense in the postal trial opened today. Maddox, on behalf of the Groffs, said he would prove that George E. Lorenz in 1895 had purchased for $500 a half interest in the Groff fastener. He was followed by Kumler for the Lorenzes. Kumler asserted that, as far back as 1888, Machen, George E. Lorenz and his brother engaged in the oil business in Ohio, and that as a result of their various transactions George E. Lorenz owed Machen $25,000, and that whatever Lorenz paid to Machen was in settlement of an honest debt. When Kumler, in the course of his opening remarks, said that Mrs. Lorenz had been scandalized by the government, which had treated her with cruelty, Mrs. Lorenz broke down and wept bitterly.

The first witness for the defense was Miss Lieband, chief clerk of the rural free-delivery department, who had testified for the government. She gave in detail a statement of the administration duties of the superintendent of the division, and said since 1901 she had placed Machen's name and initial on nearly every paper going out of the free-delivery division and that before that date she had taken similar action with respect to at least half the mail. She said that she signed Machen's initials or name to at least 300 papers a day, and that many of them related to Groff fasteners. This, she testified, was done in a routine manner, because the Groff fastener had become a fixed supply.

She also testified that various officers of the Postoffice Department were aware that she placed Machen's initials and signature on official papers. She said that in all these transactions Machen never in any way had indicated to her to increase the number of fasteners and never had directed her to take any steps to hurry forward the approval of bills.

The witness had not concluded when the court adjourned until tomorrow.

RECEIVES GEN. SANCHEZ.

MORALES'S MAN SEES LOOMIS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Gen. Sanchez, whom the Morales government has appointed Dominican Minister to the United States, had an interview with Secretary Loomis today. The substance of what the Minister had to say was that his government was prepared to execute all the demands of this country regarding pending claims, and to stand by all agreements this government had made with previous Dominican administrations. Minister Powell has practically recognized the Morales government, and no effort will be made to recall his action unless the Morales forces demonstrate their inability to maintain order.

It is said that Minister Sanchez desires to raise funds here to put the government on a firm basis. No date for his reception, and in fact very little of a definite character regarding his status, has been decided upon.

ANNUAL QUARANTINE ORDER.

THIS STATE'S LINE UNCHANGED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary Wilson has issued the annual quarantine order on account of the Texas cattle fever. It is effective February 1, and includes California, Oklahoma and Texas and the Southern States. The line in the States of California, Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee, North Carolina, Maine and Vermont is made practically the same as last year. Monterey county, Cal., is taken out of the quarantine-station district.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES TAFT.

PENDING AFFAIRS DISCUSSED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary Root and former Gov. Taft, his successor as Secretary of War, took luncheon with the President today. This afforded the President and Gov. Taft the first opportunity to discuss pending affairs at length since the arrival of Gov. Taft yesterday.

SMOOT WON'T RESIGN.

IS IN THE FIGHT TO STAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Smoot today denied emphatically that he has any notion of resigning his seat in the Senate to avert the threatened investigation of the relations of the Mormon church to the United States government. He says he is in the fight to stay, and is perfectly willing to have his life searched from its earliest days.

Smoot says the Mormon church has nothing to hide, although he makes a distinction between the contracting of a polygamous marriage and maintenance thereof. If entered into before the manifesto. The former is polygamy, and no longer exists. The latter is a different matter, subject to different laws, and he would not say that Utah was entirely free from it.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. — Dr. Thomas Herran, the Colombian Chargé d'Affaires, has received word from Gen. Reyes announcing his departure next Saturday on the steamed Valencia for Barranquilla, whence he will proceed at once to Bogota. The Colombians feel that as Gen. Reyes came here as special envoy on a special mission and not a regular minister, it will not be necessary for him to present letters of recall. They also feel that the note that Gen. Reyes presented to the State Department before he left will meet all the necessities of the case.

THE CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—SENATE—Among the petitions presented to the Senate today was one from the members of the boards of trade of Philadelphia and Brunswick, Ga., for the prompt ratification of the canal treaty.

The joint resolution authorizing the acceptance from citizens of France of a reproduction of D'Anger's bust of Washington was passed.

When Mr. Morgan's resolution calling for Minister Buchanan's letter concerning amendments to the canal treaty was laid before the Senate Mr. Morgan withdrew it, saying that he had been informed that it was the intention of the President to send the document to the Senate in executive session.

The resolution of Mr. Culberson of Texas, introduced at the instance of the Democratic caucus, requesting the President to inform the Senate whether all the correspondence relating to the construction of an Isthmian canal had been sent to the Senate was taken up. Mr. Culberson objected to the resolution as too broad, and on its suggestion it was amended so as to limit the request for information since June 28, 1902, the date of the approval of the Spooner Act.

Mr. Cullom then suggested that the resolution be further amended so as to relieve the President from the necessity of sending information, to supply which would, in his opinion, be incompatible with the public interest.

Mr. Culberson declined to accept this amendment, and made a speech in support of his objection and in favor of the adoption of the resolution as it stood.

Mr. Cullom assured Mr. Culberson that whether his amendment was accepted or not, the Senate will get all the information there is in the department pertinent to the general question."

Mr. Hale advocated the amendment.

Mr. Tillman contended that there is a difference between negotiations and treaties, but Mr. Cullom contended the President, as the head of one branch of the government, has rights which pertain to his office exclusively.

"Our friends on the other side," he went on, "pass a treaty a week or two or caucus to see some dynamite. They hope to catch the President in an untruth, but they won't succeed, for there never was in the White House a President who was less liable to be found in such a predicament."

Mr. Culberson disclaimed any intention of reflecting upon the President's veracity, and added that the resolution did not justify such an interpretation.

Mr. Cullom gave assurance that the information sought would be forthcoming.

Mr. Gorman replied, saying that there is not now and there is not likely to be a resolution presented on this side of the chamber which is not couched in the most respectful language. We have too high a respect for that high office to pursue any other course."

He stated that the discretionary clause had been purposely omitted from this resolution, but said that the omission was no indication of a desire to reflect on the President.

Mr. Aldrich suggested that the resolution should be so amended as not to include papers covering present negotiations which may now be on, and Mr. Gorman replied that he had no objection, but said that such negotiations were in progress. He was delighted to hear that such was the case, and hoped for the honor of the country the negotiations would be pressed to a successful culmination.

Mr. Gorman said that Mr. Cullom should not be so sensitive about the President. That official could take care of himself, and no Senator should refuse to give his assent to a request for the fullest possible information on a question so important.

"There is no insinuation in the resolution," he said, "and why hesitate about its passage?"

YALE FOLKS FOR PANAMA.

Memorial Supporting Attitude of the Administration Sent to Washington.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Jan. 28.—The memorial of a number of Yale professors and other New Haven citizens recently sent to Senator Hoar deprecating the administration's attitude in relation to the Panama situation has been followed by one of opposing purpose. This latter document, which has just been forwarded to Senator O. H. Platt in Washington, expresses the belief that "The President of the United States was fully justified in recognizing the independence of Panama," and asks for the ratification of the Hay-Bunau Varilla treaty.

The memorial is headed by the name of Charles S. Mellen, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, and has about one hundred other signers, including forty Yale officials and professors.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Idaho-Montana Line.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The Interior Department has arranged for a complete survey of the boundary line between Idaho and Montana, and Howard B. Carpenter of California has been appointed United States surveyor to conduct the work. The survey, it is said, will take about two years. Under the contract, the government will pay Carpenter at the rate of $100 for every mile of boundary permanently established.

Attorney-General's Livery.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Atty.-Gen. Knox has sent to the House a schedule showing that the total cost for livery for his department is $3369. It consists of three horses, four carriages and three sets of harness. Two coachmen are carried on the rolls as "assistant messengers," at $720 a year.

Appropriation for Diplomats.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation Bill was completed today by the House Committee on Foreign Affairs and ordered reported. The measure carries a total appropriation of $1,996,600, an increase of $28,350 over the appropriation for the present year. Of this increase, $12,000 is for the diplomatic service in the republic of Panama. An item of $11,000 is included for the consular service in Manchuria.

Post Exchange Fund Report.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary Root today transmitted to the House the report of a board of army officers convening to recommend the proper manner and places of expending the $300,000 appointed for "post exchange schools, library, reading, lunch and amusement rooms and gymnasiums," made in 1902. The report shows that twenty-nine post exchanges are building in various parts of the country, out of this fund, at an expense at $...2,700.

International Arbitration.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The House Committee on Foreign Affairs authorized a favorable report of the Bartholdt resolution extending the invitation of Congress to the Inter-Parliamentary Union for the promotion of international arbitration to hold its coming session in St. Louis next September. An appropriation of $50,000 is carried by the resolution.

Admiral Barclay's Prospects.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—It is probable that Rear-Admiral Charles J. Barclay, commander of the Puget Sound Navy Yard, will succeed Rear-Admiral Lamberton, commander-in-chief of the South Atlantic Squadron, who has been pronounced by a medical survey as unfit for service on account of his eyesight, and is on his way home.

Charges Against McGuire.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Charges have been filed at the Interior Department against B. S. McGuire, the Delegate in the House from Oklahoma, charging that, in violation of the law, he has been prosecuting claims in behalf of Indians and accepting fees therefor while serving as a Delegate in Congress. The charges have been referred to the Department of Justice.

Convict Labor Supplies.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Representative Van Duser of Nevada introduced a resolution today, inquiring if any supplies for the Postoffice Department are made by convict labor.

Marshal Russell of New Bedford, Indiana, Gets Letter from Louisville, in Which Writer Confesses.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BEDFORD (Ind.) Jan. 28.—Marshal Russell today received from Louisville the following letter:

"I killed Sarah Schaefer. I intend to kill myself. I will drown myself at 2:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the river between Louisville and New Albany. In my pockets will be found letters from her that will explain all. [Signed] "W. H."

Marshal Russell telephoned to Chief Ridge of Louisville, requesting the police there to investigate. Other letters have been received of a similar nature, and have been pronounced hoaxes by the police.

MUCH LUMBER NOW ASHES.

North End of Tonawanda Island, New York, Swept by Flames, Causing Quarter-Million Loss.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NORTH TONAWANDA (N. Y.) Jan. 28.—All of the north end of Tonawanda Island was today swept by flames and between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 feet of lumber, valued at $250,000, was destroyed. The loss is fully covered by insurance. The heaviest loser is the firm of White, Rider and White, whose loss is $225,000. The fire is believed to be of incendiary origin.

NELSON STATUETTE A FRAUD.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Excitement has been caused in art circles at the discovery that a silver statuette of Nelson, supposed to have been presented to George III, and which was purchased recently for $3000 by subscription, the King and the Prince of Wales subscribing, for presentation to the Royal United Service Institution, is in reality the work of a young sculptor-student, Richard Carbee, and was executed two years ago. Carbe is blameless for this foisting of his work on the public.

POPE PIUS AND THE CONCORDAT.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—The Rome correspondent of the Figaro gathers that His Holiness regards the Concordat as a heavy drag on the French church and as unfavorable to the state, and that he would be willing to make any concessions, provided the principles of the church were not touched. In the event of the abrogation of the Concordat His Holiness foresees a temporary crisis from which the church in France would emerge with increased strength.

TRIBESMEN ALARM SETTLERS.

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—A newspaper published in German Southwest Africa just received here, announces that in consequence of the gathering of the Kara tribesmen in the hills, a general [illegible] has broken out among the Vondelswarts tribesmen. Fifteen white men have intrenched themselves at Guederitzbucht, the most important point in the colony, and there is danger that the entire southern section will be devastated.

Catarrh Cured.

After Years of Suffering With

CONSTANT HEADACHE and ANNOYING DISCHARGES

"I Had a Very Bad Case, Constantly Growing Worse. I Could Neither Eat Nor Sleep and Looked Like Death. Nothing Helped Me Until I Began Taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey; 6 Bottles Completely Cured Me." —J. E. WILLIAMS, 1825 E. Main St., Richmond, Va.

Nine cases out of every ten of throat, lung, stomach and nerve trouble begin with Catarrh of the head. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the one swift, positive catarrh germ killer that cures with no bad after-effects. It's prescribed by over 7000 doctors and used in more than 2 00 leading hospitals because of its effective cures and absolute purity. Catarrh is a blood disease.

Mr. Williams, in his letter, goes on to say: "I had been a sufferer with catarrh for a very long time. It had affected my throat seriously. I was never free from headache, and the discharges were extremely annoying. I lost my appetite and became listless, weak and thin. People thought I was going to die. I used all manner of salves, ointments, snuffs and so-called 'sure catarrh cures,' but nothing helped me until I began using in all I have taken but six bottles of your most wonderful medicine and am completely cured.

The Catarrh Has Entirely Disappeared; I Sleep Well; My Appetite is Good; and My Whole System Seems to Have Been Renewed."

"I have to work over thirteen hours a day, but now have none of that tired, played-out feeling I used to have. I am heavier and in all-round perfect health, thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey."

This is just exactly why Duffy's cures where all other treatments fail. It goes right to the root of the trouble and purifies the blood, stimulates the circulation, quiets the nerves, strengthens the heart's action, brings into play all the vital forces, and enables you to get from food all the nourishment it contains. It replaces disease and decay and builds up a strong, healthy body, firm muscles and clear brain—it renews the system.

Cures and prevents catarrh, coughs, colds, grip, bronchitis, asthma, pneumonia, pleurisy, consumption and all diseases of throat and lungs; dyspepsia, indigestion and every form of stomach trouble; nervousness; malaria and all low fevers. It is invaluable in all weakened, wasting, diseased conditions, no matter from what cause.

Makes the Weak Strong—Keeps the Strong Well.

It is a promoter of health and ripe old age. Duffy's contains no fusel oil, and is the only whiskey recognized by the government as a medicine. This is a guarantee.

CAUTION.—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. Unscrupulous dealers, mindful of the excellence of this preparation, will try to sell you cheap imitation and malt whiskey substitutes, which are put on the market for profit only, and which, far from relieving the sick, are positively harmful. Demand "Duffy's" and be sure you get it. It is the only absolutely pure Malt Whiskey which contains medicinal, health-giving qualities. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk or by the gallon. Price $1.00 per bottle. If your druggist or grocer cannot supply you, or will attempt to sell you some imitation, we will send you a bottle, express prepaid, upon receipt of price. Write for our free medical booklet. WRIGHT REEKED OF PRUSSIC ACID.

CORONER'S JURY PASSES VERDICT OF DELIBERATE SUICIDE.

After Sentence Went to Lavatory and Swallowed Tabloid, While Court Attendant Waited Outside. Incidents of His Last Hour.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—[Atlantic Cable.] Suicide was the verdict passed by the coroner's jury today in the closing chapter of the tragedy of Whittaker Wright. His death was caused by poisoning by cyanide of potassium. The jury found that Wright was sane and that there was not the slightest doubt that his death was due to most deliberate suicide. From the evidence at the inquest it was shown that Wright had determined to take his own life in the event of an adverse verdict, and that he went to court with a cyanide tabloid in his possession, while in his hip pocket was a new revolver fully loaded and even cocked. WRIGHT REEKED OF PRUSSIC ACID.

CORONER'S JURY PASSES VERDICT OF DELIBERATE SUICIDE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—[Atlantic Cable.] Suicide was the verdict passed by the coroner's jury today in the closing chapter of the tragedy of Whitaker Wright. His death was caused by poisoning by cyanide of potassium. The jury found that Wright was sane and that there was not the slightest doubt that his death was due to most deliberate suicide. From the evidence at the inquest it was shown that Wright had determined to take his own life in the event of an adverse verdict, and that he went to court with a cyanide tabloid in his possession, while in his hip pocket was a loaded revolver fully loaded and even cocked. After the sentence, Wright went to the lavatory, while the tipstaff in attendance on him remained outside. There he swallowed the tabloid, returning to the consulting room, washed down the poison with whisky and water and died. One of the last things Wright said was, "This is British justice."

The small coroner's court at Westminster was so crowded that Whitaker Wright, Jr., son of the dead man, had to stand up, throughout the proceedings. He and other witnesses, in the main, bore out the facts already related. Neither the son nor the deceased's closest friends, so they testified today, ever heard Wright even intimate that he contemplated suicide.

His solicitor, George Lewis, Jr., said the deceased all along implicitly believed that he would be acquitted, or that, at the worst, he only contemplated a disagreement of the jury. Even after his sentence, Wright showed only indignation.

In talking with Lewis, Eyre, one of his sureties, and Wards, the accountant of the London and Globe Corporation, Wright said: "I really think I am the most composed of you all." As regards an appeal, Wright said he would do exactly as he was advised.

Asked if some one had not better telephone the verdict to Mrs. Wright, Wright said: "No; there is plenty of time for that." Taking out his watch and chain, Wright handed them to Eyre, saying: "I shall not have any use for this in that place," meaning the prison. "I give that to you, Eyre. Keep it for me." This was all that occurred.

After Wright had taken the poison, holding a glass in his hand, and sipping its contents, he said: "Waters, give me another cigar." Waters took up Wright's cigar case, which was lying on a table and Wright deliberately cut the end off a cigar and struck a match. Just as he was going to light the cigar, Wright flung the match from him, sank back unconscious and died without uttering another word.

The doctor who was called into attend Wright, said he had not detected any smell or sign indicating poison, but the official analyst, Dr. Freiberger, who conducted the post-mortem examination, testified that from every organ of the body exuded the peculiarly penetrating smell of prussic acid, and that there was not the slightest doubt that Wright's death was due to that poison, in its cyanide of potassium form. The deceased had not suffered from any disease, there were no lesions of the brain and the heart was healthy, though twice the normal size.

It transpired at the inquest that Wright was only searched after his death. A tabloid found in his pocket did not appear to be poisonous. The revolver was discovered by the police after the law court officials had previously searched Wright. The coroner commented on this and indicated that action probably would be taken by the higher authorities.

EVIDENCE IN TRAIN ROBBERY.

DEFENDANT'S COUNSEL SAYS HE WILL PROVE ALIBI.

Testimony Regarding Purchase of Hat from a Hobo Only Fact Thus Far Adduced to Connect Prisoner With the Robbery.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Jan. 28.—The preliminary examination of the train robber suspect began at 10 o'clock this morning. Several witnesses testified regarding the identification of the defendant. Attorney Campbell for the defendant asserts he can prove an alibi. A great deal of interest is felt in the case and the courtroom was crowded.

Engineer G. E. Wilson saw the defendant on the platform of the depot at San Luis Obispo on the night of the robbery. E. H. Myers, a conductor, corroborated this testimony. Express Messenger Sullivan testified to the robbery of the safe, but did not know the amount of treasure it contained. He left the express car at various times to attend to the baggage. The door through which the safe was taken was opened from the inside. Conductor Hawkinson of a freight train found the safe between tunnels 1 and 2, about one hundred feet down an embankment. He delivered it to the agent at Santa Margarita.

Fireman Quailey found a hat in the vicinity and gave it to Deputy Sheriff McFadden. Rice, Cummings and Mitchell, three tramps, who had sought shelter in a shack west of tunnel No. 6, were aroused during the night by a man who had lost his hat. Rice sold his hat to him for $4, but it was too dark to see the man who bought it. A. Dupbar, a second-hand dealer, identified the prisoner as the man who had offered the hat for sale after he had bought a new one at Anderson's store.

More witnesses are to be examined and court adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. No evidence connecting the prisoner with the robbery has so far been adduced beyond the purchase of the hat.

FOR CATTLE QUARANTINE.

The need of living on the right side of the quarantine line is a serious question to the stockmen of this county and the counties next south, Santa Barbara and Ventura. This has been the driest year since 1869, and only 1.90 inches of rain has fallen to date. In Santa Barbara and Ventura counties there has been scarcely an inch of rain.

This condition of affairs has called State Veterinarian C. H. Biemer here, also County Veterinarian G. F. Faulkner of Monterey and San Luis Obispo counties. They canvassed the situation yesterday and an effort will be made to have the County Board of Supervisors establish a cattle quarantine line through this county, the northern half of which is known to be free from the Texas fever tick.

CHRIS KOPP COMES BACK.

Ex-Councilman Indicted by Kansas City Grand Jury Returns to Fight Charges Against Him.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—Chris Kopp, the ex-Councilman who was indicted by the Kansas City (Kan.) special grand jury on charge of bribery and whose whereabouts has been unknown for six weeks past, arrived at his home in Kansas City, Kan., at midnight last night. He said he had been in Jeffersonville, Ind., at the bedside of his mother. He will fight the indictment, which, he says, was returned against him as a result of testimony given the jury by an enemy.

With the exception of Kopp and Charles M. Bowles, who is ill, every man indicted by the Wyandotte grand jury has been arrested or surrendered himself to the Sheriff.

PROF. ARTHUR HENRY CHAMBERLAIN of Pasadena has recently visited the World's Fair grounds in St. Louis and has written about what he saw for The Times Magazine the coming Sunday. His article is accompanied by some splendid illustrations.

BUSINESS.

The local money market is easier in tone and the demand remains good at prevailing rates of interest.

Early News at Chicago was of a bearish nature. A decline in the price of stocks at New York caused renewal of war rumors and buying orders were in evidence during the last part of the session. May option closed firm at 39⅞ and July at 82⅜. Atchison was a feature of the dealings on 'Change in New York, but the support given to it was ineffective in checking the declining tendency elsewhere in the list. The close found the market weak and dull. Possibility of further restriction of money supplies is coming up for discussion again.

CARNATIONS.

For today, carnations in memory of the martyr. It was the flower he loved—our fallen Chieftain, whom the assassin struck down in the day of his glory, hedged in though he was by the honors of his country and the love of its people. He died as he had lived, a strong, sweet soul, as gentle as he was brave. He rendered to his God the same account that he had rendered to his country—a life of patriotism and hard service, the unselfish and blameless life of an honest man unspoiled by praise and uncorrupted by the possession of great power.

When William McKinley died, the people turned to the genius of history and they said: "Write him down as the Beloved President." Such is his place in the line; so stands he now and so shall he stand—the Beloved President. So will he be called when the historian of the future makes impartial record of the past. So shall his name be handed down from sire to son, from the lips of one generation to another. And what greater title would we ask that he be given than this, that he was the "Beloved President?" Away in the dim ages of the future when our dear country, please God, shall be even mightier than she is today, the children of those times will look with wondering and with loving eyes upon the portraits that limn the kindly and noble face of him, and they will say: "This was the Beloved President; this is he who was very dear to the people's hearts in those old days when the world had not yet learned to be so gentle as it is now."

He will be remembered today, and upon this day evermore, by the sweetest and gentlest tribute that was ever paid to man—by the wearing of the bonnie flower that, in life, he loved the best. Today millions of his countrymen and his countrywomen will wear upon their breasts carnations. This will be their tribute of remembrance, the token of their love that forgets not nor dies, though the years may pass, though time may cast what spell on memory it will. Peace be with him.

"His heart is dust,
His good sword rust,
His soul is with his God, we trust."

THE SAVAGE WITHIN US.

A dispatch from Madrid states that during a circus performance in that city, in an act very fittingly called "The Ring of Death," in which a young American girl "loops the loop" in an automobile, the car fell, and the girl was terribly injured, so that she is not expected to recover.

It is a strange thing, in these days of supposed civilization and refinement, and education of the higher faculties of man, that there should always be found so many people ready to swarm to any entertainment that promises a chance of seeing a human being killed or mutilated. Undoubtedly, in such performances as this, and the dangerous trapeze work and parachute drops from balloons and other dangerous doings of the kind, the main thing that draws a great many of the spectators is the possibility of a disastrous accident. Remove the possibility of such an accident and the attendance would be comparatively slim, for there is nothing particularly interesting in seeing a man hang on a bar, a thousand feet from the ground, unless there is some prospect of seeing his body flying through the air, to be dashed to pulp on the ground below. The same thing is true of prize fights. Take away from the prize ring the blood, the battered flesh, and the occasional broken ribs, and very few people would care to pay from $5 to $20 for a seat to witness a performance that may not last more than a few minutes.

This trait in human nature can only be regarded as a reversion to the original brutality that doubtless characterized human beings when they were emerging from the animal stage of existence, if we are to believe Darwin, as against the theory that the human race was created perfect, and has since fallen from its high estate. "Scratch a Russian and you will find a Tartar" said the first Napoleon. One may also say, "Scratch a civilized man and you will find a savage." Really, it takes but little to awake the innate savagery that lies inert within most of us. It is not only among the four-footed carnivorous animal that the sight of blood brings on a condition of frenzy. Nor is this unpleasant phase of human nature entirely confined to the male sex. Many women are fond of attending such performances as those referred to, and doubtless, if it were not "bad form," they would frequently be found at the prize ring. As it is, they sometimes manage to smuggle themselves in. In fact, in some respects the so-called gentler sex is more bloodthirsty than the male. It is on record that in the day when Christian men and maidens were sacrificed to wild beasts in the Roman amphitheater, and gladiators slew each other with bare steel to amuse a Roman audience, the female thumbs that were turned down, when the miserable wretch lying on the gore-stained sand held up his hand for mercy, were almost invariably in the majority. Also, it is a notorious fact that when some fiend in human form has perpetrated a more than usually horrible and diabolical act, and is put behind the prison bars, awaiting the all-too-lenient justice of the law, his place of incarceration is sure to be crowded with a lot of sickly, sentimental females, who load him down with flowers and delicacies, or write him perfumed notes of sympathy.

All of which goes to sustain the fact that human nature is a very queer thing, my masters.

ALL ARE AFFECTED.

As Judge Grosscup has pointed out in his speech before the Judges' Association at Springfield, Ill., when a truce comes between warring industrial interests the indemnity falls upon the outside public—"the great neutral who up to that time supposed it had only a moral interest in the conflict." Every interest in modern life is interdependent upon every other interest, there are practically no exceptions. When there is a strike or lockout in connection with any industry, the disturbance of normal conditions affect thousands, in many instances, far distant from the scene of conflict. Therefore, is it to the selfish interest of all to use the best efforts of individuals and associations for the conservation of industrial peace by creating right sentiments in the minds of the thoughtless, and by frowning upon those who would disturb relations existing between employer and employé. It is the great consuming public which serves as the grist between the millstones of labor and capital when conflict ensues, and that public should protect itself by getting right on the strike question and by inculcating right principles in the minds of others. And that right principle is industrial liberty—the right of the individual to work free from molestation and to engage with his employer upon such terms as to wages and hours as are mutually agreeable. So long as union pickets are posted about industrial establishments, tyranny reigns, and liberty has fled the scene. It is such addresses as that of Judge Grosscup which will lead to clear thinking on this great question as to the rights of men in the world of work.

BOTH GOOD MEN.

Secretary of War Root has placed a high standard in the conduct of his office, but there is little doubt that his successor is just the right type and figure of a man to sustain it. The nation is indebted to Mr. Root for splendid service. He has proven himself to be adroit, resourceful and capable—master of the situation, at all times, and master of himself. Seldom has that high office been more acceptably filled, and in his voluntary surrender of his portfolio the people of this country have sustained a loss which would be greatly felt were his duties not about to be placed in the hands of a man who has shown himself to be equipped for great responsibilities, possessed of splendid poise and good judgment and an all around success, whatever the duty entrusted to his execution.

The people while contemplating the retirement of Secretary Root have reason for great confidence in his successor and to congratulate themselves that there is an administration in power at Washington which has had the sagacity to designate the right men for place, as it has had the courage and the wisdom to meet every condition of government with the spirit of lofty patriotism and sterling honesty. So long as such men as Judge Taft are to conduct coördinate branches of our government the nation will continue to move forward along right lines and the human standard will remain at the ideal position of sterling Americanism where it has been placed by our great President.

Coates Kinney, who wrote that famous song of the rain which begins with the lines:

"When the humid showers gather over all the starry spheres,
And the melancholy darkness gently

has just died in his Ohio home at an advanced age. While not one of the great poets of America, as literary reputations go, Coates Kinney was a singer who touched the hearts of the people with the sympathy and pathos of his writings. There are few poems in the language, of the simpler or humbler sort, more likely to endure than that one which is filled with the very spirit and melody of the rain. To one who has listened "to the patter of the soft rain on the roof" in childhood days each recurring rainstorm brings the song to the mind, particularly when there has been a long-continued season of drouth such as now presses upon this land of ours. And what joy there would be within our borders could we but awaken this morning to hear "the subdued, subduing strain, that is played upon the shingles by the patter of the rain."

The dreadful mine horror at Harwick, Pa., is no new thing, but it is none the less shocking to the sensibilities of humanity. The hearts of all good people are filled with pity for those who gave their lives and for those bereaved. In the face of that disaster how puny and ridiculous are the little troubles about which average men and women worry themselves. Let us thank the Almighty for the sunshine we have, even though there be need of rain. Whatever our trouble or embarrassments, they cannot be as great as those that are filling the hearts of those still living at the Harwick mine with unspeakable sorrow.

Eastern Democrats, according to a Washington dispatch, assert that if Bryan's advice is taken regarding the reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform President Roosevelt will have a walkover at the polls next fall. And addition might properly have been made to the dispatch that there is likely to be a walkover whatever happens in the Democratic National Convention. There are too many Democrats who believe in Roosevelt to make his calling and election anything but as sure as anything can be in the ordinary course of human events.

Mr. Bryan wants to be one of the United States Senators from Nebraska, and so does his former boon companion and newspaper friend, Congressman Hitchcock. That hard feelings are the result of these several ambitions is not surprising. It seems to be Mr. Bryan's lot in life to get in the way of somebody else's reaching without being able to reach himself.

Long Beach has postponed her Arbor Day until such time as Los Angeles concludes to celebrate, and Los Angeles has decided to wait for one of those copious showers of which a sort of faint recollection is had in the public mind. The hope in this matter is that Arbor Day isn't going to be forgotten when it does rain.

Now that the Indianola postoffice vacancy has been filled, it is to be hoped that peace will reign in Mississippi continuously and that none of her citizens will hereafter have to make trips of twenty-five miles in order to get their garden seeds and agricultural reports from Washington, D. C.

The mercury has gone up some 28 degrees in St. Paul, and the populace of the female persuasion are doubtless already beginning to paw over the shirt-waist patterns in the dry goods shops and otherwise doing the preliminaries necessary to the coming of a further upshoot of the temperature.

The trouble between the building trades of Pittsburgh and their employers which has been on for four months has been settled by insuring the "open shop" and the rights of employers to otherwise manage their own business. The mills of the gods continue their grinding.

The trouble with our normal rainfall is that it is scattered about the Eastern States in chunks, floes, drifts, etcetera. What ails the weather business of this great country is improper distribution and undesirable varieties.

Only two days ago Mr. Bryan declared that he was a private citizen and intimated that he was likely to remain so. Possibly that report about his being a Senatorial candidate in Nebraska is one of those canards.

Idaho has fallen into line for the President by resolution of the Republican State Central Committee, thus demonstrating that Idaho is not going to make a political mistake this year, if she knows herself.

Mr. Jeffries of Los Angeles has shown that he can stop a runaway horse as well as any antagonist yet to present himself who thinks he is a prize fighter.

Niagara Falls has the smallpox among its smart set, but the hackmen of that place still hold the champion belt as being the greater pest of the two.

Mayor Harrison is to be congratulated upon having escaped incarceration in the Cook County Jail, but we might have anticipated as much.

Russia will present her "last word" in the forthcoming note to Japan, and after that we may look for the fireworks—or further negotiations.

Even if California hasn't said so officially, she is for Roosevelt with the rest of the country, and will be heard from all in good time.

HE HAS BEEN WAITING LO! THESE MANY YEARS.

Uncle Sam: I wish that old duffer would wake up and sign that paper so that I can get to work digging.

CARNATIONS.

(Carnation Day. In Memory of William McKinley, Born January 29, 1843.)

Here's a flower, my countryman, to wear upon your breast,
And 'tis of all the flowers that blow the one that he loved best,
And it is for you to wear it for the sake of him, today,
For the sake of him who slumbers in his narrow house of clay.

He hears no more your wild acclaims, no more your welcome hears,
The brave huzzas, the booming guns, the people's ringing cheers,
His tender heart is cold in death, his gentle eyes are dim,
But here's the little blossom that we'll wear for sake of him.

We'll wear it for the sake of him who loved us well and long,
Who met God's summons with a smile and on his lips a song!
Unstained the Nation's heritage in truth and faith he bore—
O loyal heart, O kindly heart, that beats for us no more.

Upon his grave the wintry blast the drifted snows have strewn,
Above him are the watching towers of gleaming marble hewn,
The sentried soldier stands today where he lies low at rest,
And here's a flower, my countryman, to wear upon your breast.

JOHN S. McGROARTY.

THE PLAYHOUSES.

MASON OPERAHOUSE. One of the greatest of the Shakespearean tragedies is "Othello;" and beyond dispute one of the greatest living interpreters of the character of the Moor is Louis James. It is one of Mr. James's strongest impersonations, and this is saying a great deal, for in this actor's repertoire there are many roles in the interpretation of which he has justly won a right to be designated as great.

Mr. James as Othello is majestic. No other word so aptly describes his lofty mien, his superlative passion, his intellectual grasp of the character, and his feeling rendition of the noble lines of the great dramatist. In the presence of Shakespearean drama, adequately rendered, all other dramatic productions (or nearly all) seem trivial and commonplace. Both Mr. James and Mr. Warde are at their best in the dramas of the immortal bard. To interpret the characters of Shakespeare effectively requires the highest order of histrionic talent (such as is acquired by experience,) and a high order of intelligence. Both of these splendid actors have those qualifications. They have delved deeply into the meanings of Shakespeare. Having grasped these meanings themselves, they are able to interpret them to others.

Shakespeare, intelligently translated, has an indefinable but potent charm for all classes of people; for the scholar and for the illiterate. He speaks to all men, and for all men, in the language of all the moods known to the human heart. Mr. James's Othello is a great and potent creation because he interprets the character with marvelous fidelity to the conception of the master dramatist. He reads not merely the lines, but between the lines, and unfolds the more subtle phases of this terrible psychological study so clearly, so forcibly, so masterfully, that the dullest observer must needs understand.

Frederick Warde is as devilish an Iago as ever trod the stage. Edwin Booth was a finished and scholarly interpreter of this character which seems to be the sum of all diabolism. But Booth was never in love with the role, and he played it with more or less of listlessness, amounting almost to stepping out of the character in the pauses of action. Mr. Warde may not be in love with the role; but he enacts it as if he were. Action—action—is the keynote of his success with this character. Mr. Warde makes up to "look the part" admirably. His interpretation is scholarly, and from the standpoint of art it is superb in every detail.

Miss Kruger wins a liberal share of the honors in the role of Desdemona. She conveys with a high degree of success the charm of ingenuousness and sincerity which the character should possess. Miss Kruger is particularly effective in her simulation of surprise, solicitude and fear in the later scenes, when the poison of jealousy has wrought its havoc in the veins of the Moor. Her work throughout is dainty, sincere and wholly convincing.

Norman Hackett presents a virile Cassio, and the other characters are well sustained, the staging is excellent and the costumes appropriate.

The bill for tonight and for tomorrow's matinée will be "Alexander the Great," the engagement closing tomorrow night with "Macbeth."

GRAND OPERAHOUSE. If you like minstrel shows, there is one at the Grand Operahouse which is worth while. These minstrels do not have to black their faces—although some of them do—because they are all colored men. Some of their fun is horse play, and some of their music is in boisterous camp-meeting style, but it is honest fun of the soil, and the melody is genuine.

This genuine black-face aggregation is supposedly entertaining the guests of a great Florida hotel, and the scene for the first part of the performance is set accordingly. There is an orchestra of capable players, and songs are given by a goodly number of vocalists, a few of whom have very good voices. William Garland, tenor, is probably the best singer of the troupe. His voice is of a resonant lyric quality, light, yet with ample strength. He is seconded in his efforts by Will Goode, possessor of a rich though untrained basso-cantante.

S. H. Dudley, chief mirth-provoker, is a comedian of laughable abilities. His humor borders sometimes on the boisterous and grotesque, but its genuine cleverness keeps it from palling on refined susceptibilities.

There is a variety of entertainment, the programme including the regular minstrel performance, a good vaudeville bill, and a ridiculous coon farce on policy playing, with the same outlandish Dudley as the head farceur.

Last night's audience voted it great, and the yells and cat-calls of the gallery drowned out the fortissimo chords of the music.

GREATEST DECEMBER RECORD.

The advertising in the Times for December, 1903, has exceeded in volume (March excepted,) any previous month in the year, and the end of December closes the most prosperous year in both circulation and advertising in the history of this journal. For the purpose of showing the exact increase in the volume of advertising for December, 1903, over the same month of 1902, the figures for each day of both Decembers are here presented:

	DECEMBER, 1902. Col.	In.	DECEMBER, 1903. Col.	In.

Gain	343	16

The gain of 453 columns for the month, or more than a page for each day, amounts to nearly 10 per cent.

According to reports compiled and printed by The Times frequently during the year, which have shown the relative amount of advertising printed by the leading journals of the country from month to month, no paper in the whole United States has equaled the record of The Times for any month of the year 1903 up to and including November.

The following tabulated statement shows the number of columns of advertising printed in the Times for each month since December, 1902:

December, 1902	2,119
January, 1903	2,643
February, "	2,775
March, "	3,794
April, "	2,976
May, "	3,001
June, "	2,673
July, "	2,707
August, "	2,772
September, "	2,777
October, "	2,907
November, "	2,897

CIRCULATION.

The average circulation of the Times for every day of December was 37,746 copies, as against 32,651 for December 1902, showing an average daily gain of 5095 copies, or about 15 per cent.

The circulation for each month of the year has shown a substantial increase over the corresponding month of the succeeding year.

The impotent liars and industrial assassins who for thirteen years have resorted to every conceivable form of infamy in their endeavor to injure the business of The Times are welcome to all of the comfort obtainable from the above figures. Neither misrepresentation, abuse, nor the boastful shouting of newspaper braggarts can deprive The Times of the constant patronage of an independent and discriminating people.

CLARK REACHES CHICAGO.

Has Been Notified of His Wife's Death, and Though Exhausted, Resumes Journey to New York.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. S.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—The Santa Fe special, on which Charles W. Clark started in a record-breaking attempt to reach the bedside of his dying wife in New York, reached Chicago at 1:30 p.m. today.

Clark had been notified of his wife's death. He was exhausted on reaching here, and went to the Auditorium Annex, where he remained until 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, when he boarded a Lake Shore and Michigan Southern train and resumed his journey to New York.

Tool Repairing.

Every engineer is now familiar with the fact that in all modern works of any size the making and repairing of tools is managed by a special department of the works. The "good old days" when a gang of men would stand in line awaiting for their turn at the grindstone have gone by. If a modern shop, when a tool needs grinding it is sent to the tool department and another one, all ready for use, is outlained at once. It is easy to see how much more economical such a method is, for the preparation of tools is kept in the hands of people who are doing nothing else and who are necessarily much more expert than the general workman would be, while the latter does not waste time in waiting for a turn at the grindstone.—Engineer's Magazine.

A. R. Fraser Seeks to Stop Work at Ocean Park.

Demands Half of Corpse of Abbot Kinney Railroad.

Removal of Remains Goes on Against His Protests.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

OCEAN PARK, Jan. 28.—Just once was made a bold attempt to stop the funeral of the Abbot Kinney railroad here today but the removal of the remains proceeded without interruption.

A. R. Fraser claimed a half of the corpse but they said him nay and he didn't get the fragment.

It happened on the sands this afternoon.

A gang of workmen was busily engaged under Roadmaster Street of the Los Angeles-Pacific railway in removing the tracks of the Abbot Kinney railroad purchased last Tuesday by the corporation. Fraser, red of face and stern of countenance, appeared near where the workmen were operating their picks and shovels about the ruined tracks and ordered that the work cease.

Mr. Fraser was asked why he gave such an order.

"Only half of that road was Abbot Kinney's," he said. "The other half is ours."

He did not explain what persons were meant by "ours."

Work went on merrily in the face of Mr. Fraser's protest while one of the men telephoned to Los Angeles-Pacific headquarters in Los Angeles. What orders were received in reply is not stated, but it was observed that there was no cessation in the tearing-up operations. Ties that did bind were unbound, spikes were drawn from their redwood sweats and plates were loosened while the cheep of the picks was muffled in the supporting sands.

Mr. Fraser retired from the field without further parley. Later developments are looked for. Mr. Fraser is one of the "big" men in the Ocean Park improvement Company. That company succeeded the firm of Kinney & Dudley in the ownership of the mint which the sands property developed. Of course Abbot Kinney was a "big" man in the Kinney & Dudley firm. It may be that that is how it happened that Fraser wanted the Abbot Kinney railroad corpse bisected so he could have a piece.

The removal of the Kinney atrocity which run parallel with those of the Los Angeles-Pacific, is in consonance with a scheme for better transit facilities along the sands. The change will leave the number of tracks along the route two. Those two will be twenty-five feet apart. With that distance between them the danger of accidents at the point of congestion of traffic will be largely eliminated. Persons in the crowd giving their whole excited attention to getting on and off a car going one way on one track will not be likely to be run down by a car going the other way on the other track.

The twenty-four foot space between the two tracks will be solidly planked all the way from Strand street to Short Line Beach.

At each stopping point a neat pavilion or depot will be erected. These pavilions will be provided with seats and all will be well lighted by electricity.

At Pier avenue a fine depot will be erected on the south side of the street and on the east side of the track.

OPENING WAS AUSPICIOUS.

JOLLY GATHERING AT NEW PRODUCE EXCHANGE ROOMS.

Staid Business Men Joked Like Boys and Then Talked With Enthusiasm of the Glory of the City's Future.

Cordiality must have been the motto of the opening of the new quarters of the Produce Exchange yesterday afternoon at No. 340 South Los Angeles street. While a formal opening, informality reigned, and the whole affair was one of the "we want you to see our prosperity and help us enjoy it" kind. Flags everywhere, fruit and flowers and friendliness of feeling on all sides which made the assembling forget its business cares. A large room adjoining the callroom proved so popular in its attractions that those of the 300 or more guests who could not get in contemplated the forming of a fly wedge against those who were so reluctant to pass on. Large tables were laden with baskets of all kinds of fruits, nuts, raisins, dates, crackers and cheese and other good things, soft bottled beverages and fruit punch, while another table was burdened with seven beautiful ice forms, which had been made by the Ice and Cold Storage Company. One contained a large bunch of carnations, another oranges and apples, and a large fish almost deceived his eyes, so natural did he look.

SPEECH OF WELCOME.

At 3 o'clock Gen. John R. Mathews rapped on the table in the callroom and the guests filed in, most of those dignified business men munching on a big apple or with a package of figs in hand under his coat, which was later taken out and passed down the line. "You may keep right on eating," said Gen. Mathews as he began his little speech of welcome. He spoke of the formation of the old produce exchange which died a natural death during the boom, and which, with the return of prosperity, was incorporated anew on May 28, 1902. He pointed out the fact that the membership of the exchange is limited to fifty, and that through the membership of this exchange, alone a business of three or four million dollars a year is done, that the exchange has become a notable factor in the commerce of Southern California, a direct financial benefit and a substantial advertising medium. He showed the relation of the Produce Exchange to other business organizations, and explained that the object of the housewarming was that the organization might become more closely allied and work together for the future greatness of this marvelous city."

MADE MONEY IN PRODUCE.

W. C. Patterson was introduced as one who had made so much money in the produce business that he had graduated a banker. "I have a home feeling when I drift in here," he said. He spoke of the relation of the produce dealer to the consumer, of the produce dealer to the banks, and of the produce dealers among themselves. "This formation of the exchange marks an era of reformation," he said. "an era

JOLLY GATHERING AT NEW PRODUCE EXCHANGE ROOMS.

Staid Business Men Joked Like Boys and Then Talked With Enthusiasm of the Glory of the City's Future.

Cordiality must have been the motto of the opening of the new quarters of the Produce Exchange yesterday afternoon at No. 350 South Los Angeles street. While a formal opening, informality reigned, and the whole affair was one of the "we want you to see our prosperity and help us enjoy it" type. Flags, flags everywhere, fruit and flowers and friendliness of feeling in all sides which made the assemblage forget its business cares. A large room adjoining the callroom proved so popular in its attractions that those of the 50 or more guests who could not get comfortably ensconced in the callroom contemplated the forming of a fly column of picks wedge against those who were so reluctant to pass on. Large tables were laden with baskets of all kinds of fruits, nuts, raisins, dates, crackers and cheese and other good things, soft drinks and beverages and fruit punch. While another table was burdened with even more beautiful ice forms, which had been made by the Ice and Cold Storage Company. One contained a large bunch of carnations, another oranges and apples and a large fish almost deceived his eyes, so natural did he look.

SPEECH OF WELCOME.

At 3 o'clock Gen. John R. Mathews stepped on the table in the callroom and the guests filed in, most of those dignified business men munching on a juicy apple or with a package of figs or dates under his coat, which was later taken out and passed down the line. "You may keep right on eating," said Gen. Mathews as he began his little speech of welcome. He spoke of the organization of the old produce exchange which died a natural death during the boom, and which, with the return of prosperity, was incorporated anew on May 28, last. He pointed out the fact that the membership of the exchange is limited to fifty, and that through the membership of this exchange alone a business of three or four million dollars a year is done, that the exchange has become a notable factor in the commerce of Southern California, a direct financial benefit and a substantial advertising medium. He showed the relation of the Produce Exchange to other business organizations, and explained that the object of the housewarming was that the organization might become more closely allied and "work together for the future greatness of this marvelous city."

MADE MONEY IN PRODUCE.

W. C. Patterson was introduced as one who had made so much money in the produce business that he had graduated a banker. "I have a home feeling when I drift in here," he said. He spoke of the relation of the produce dealer to the consumer, of the produce dealer to the banks, and of the produce dealers among themselves. "This organization of the exchange marks an era of reformation," he said, "an era as California butter and freighted eastern eggs as fresh laid, when potatoes grown in one place don't come from another, and when competitors are on the best of terms with each other. This has all been accomplished by the exchange."

H. S. McKee, president of the Chamber of Commerce, told of the "Benefits That Flow From Commercial Organizations," and incidentally took occasion to offer the most hearty support of the Chamber of Commerce in the good work which the Produce Exchange is doing.

Frank Simpson told of the "Work of the Produce Exchange," and he did it nicely, without giving away any of the secrets. "The material work speaks for itself," he said. "Look at these decorations, and have you not eaten and regaled yourselves in the next room? But the other work of the exchange is for the betterment of trade conditions. Values are steadied by the surplus of products being taken care of and the retailer has a stable price upon which he may figure and rely. The work has abolished trade abuses, such as rebates and substitutions, and has done an educational work among its members by relieving them of some of their narrow-mindedness. We all had our little hobbies when we came in here; we have not so many now. This is an age of commercialism, and we are banded together to represent and work for the Los Angeles idea of commercialism."

BETTERMENT OF BUSINESS.

"Trade Betterments Increase Trade-Education," was the subject assigned to Niles Pease, president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. "Betterment of business naturally increases trade relations," he said, "and it is the betterment of business which this exchange is working for. Betterment is very much a matter of experience, and must start from the bottom up or run the business into the ground, and the betterment is obtained principally through business methods. It takes years to learn it, and when a man is about ready to depart hence, he may have begun to learn it." Mr. Pease spoke of the pleasure of business, and said that too many men look at business as a trouble, an ordeal to be gone through with. Such men are out of their right environment. He closed his remarks by referring to the remarkable improvement in the reliability of the big business houses of this day and age.

Gen. Mathews informally called upon several in the audience, and among those who made remarks were President Preston of the Credit Men's Association; J. A. Graves, first vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank; J. G. McKinney of the Ice and Cold Storage Company, and H. J. Rodman, secretary of the Produce Exchange.

AGRICULTURAL SPAIN AWAKES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—E. De Bouilla, the Spanish Consul-General, has announced that the Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Cordova will hold on the 25th day of May, 1904, in connection with the annual and traditional fair, the most ancient in Spain, called Feria de Mayo, an agricultural-industrial exposition to exhibit agricultural products from Spanish and foreign manufacturers. The Consul further announced that the chamber wished to call the attention of the manufacturers of agricultural machinery in the United States to the fair, and invite them to send the best improvements in agricultural machinery to exhibit.

4 or 5 Days Without COFFEE

May show you exactly—what causes your trouble.

It's worth more than a ton of coffee to feel well and comfortable again.

It's easy to quit coffee when you have a good, rich, steaming cup of Postum Coffee in its place, and the Postum puts one a long ways ahead on the road to Wellville, because it supplies the food elements that rebuild the system coffee has broken down.

These are eternal facts proven by trial.

It pays to be well and happy.

PHILANTHROPY OF JEFFRIES.

Sold Everything for Less Than He Paid.

Ex-Sergeant of Police on the Rack in Court.

Unable to Tell What Became of All His Money.

Ex-Sergeant of Police W. T. Jeffries was in Justice Pierce's court yesterday teaching a Latin class. There were Le Compte Davis, Oscar Lawler and R. W. Coleman as the principal pupils, with a miscellaneous crowd of others interested.

The lesson of the day was the mastering of the intricacies of the old Latin proverb that "Nothing out of Nothing Comes," and that the star pupils were the ones most dense in their understanding.

There was an attorney for Jeffries present, who said little. He understood probably, but then he may have taken private lessons.

Some time ago G. F. Arnold got judgment against the ex-Sergeant of police for $263, and as he wanted to satisfy that judgment in some way he had Jeffries in court on supplementary proceedings, hence the scholastic proceeding in which his attorney learned the truth of the Latin proverb which under a free translation means that "one can't get blood out of a stone."

Mr. Jeffries was complacent and perfectly ready to answer all questions put to him. When he was through it was all as clear as mud. Only one thing stood out in bold relief—he has no money nor valuable assets of any kind. True he and Chief Elton and Chief of Detectives Bradish own the Egyptian Queen and Lucifer mining claims in the Providence Mountains, and he owned up to an interest in two other claims in the same group; as the value of these claims is problematical and Jeffries did not care to mislead by placing a value upon them. The assessment work has been done, and they are still in the mountains and have not been brought to the city or otherwise disposed of.

"I paid for the foundations, sidewalks, electric lights and fixtures, the insurance and lots of things on that house on the hill, where I live, and altogether I spent about $7000 to $8000 on my wife's property," said Jeffries.

"How long have you been married?" inquired Attorney Coleman.

"Nearly four years."

"And that property you refer to belongs to your wife?"

"Yes, sir."

"Didn't she pay for these improvements on her property?"

"No, sir," was the acrid reply, "I paid for them and gave them to her—like a fool."

Jeffries was asked to tell about some of his real estate ventures, and it was extraordinary to note how unfortunate these all turned out. He had only to take hold of something and right off it would fly to pieces. He took a piece of property on Figueroa near Seventh street, over from the old woman who was his housekeeper and ex-fiancee, for the mortgage on it of $2500. That was about twelve years ago, and he sold it two years ago for $5700, after having expended about $3400 on it. But he didn't even get $5700 for it, for he said that he had to borrow money from the Merchants' National Bank to take up the mortgage, and also borrowed money to meet the interest every three months, and when it came to a show down it took the entire property to liquidate the indebtedness.

Then there were three lots at Budlong avenue and Thirtieth street, which Jeffries and Sergeant R. C. Harris bought six or seven years ago. Jeffries said that he paid $840 for a half interest and sold out over a year ago for $1200. The $600 he received he said that he handed over to Harris on a debt of $1000 that he owed him.

Several other real estate deals were shown also to have been losing propositions, but it was in the manipulation of mining stock that Jeffries got refined to a finish. Any little bit of money that he had flew into some kind of unprodnctive real estate, or improvements that depreciated the property apparently the more there was piled on.

For a short time, too, Jeffries said that he was loaning money. He got one per cent. a month, but as he advanced on personal notes he lost money at that. After he had got rid of his real estate he said he was worth about $10,000 less than nothing. Occasionally he would raise money on his own note but couldn't tell where he put it.

"I used to pay Harris $74 a month, and kept that up for a long time."

He said that about ten years ago he had borrowed $700 from Harris, and the sum of his total indebtedness to him, he said, is about $4000, "and I'm going to pay him, too," he added, emphatically.

"And how much do you owe his brother, Lon Harris?"

"About $2500."

"Well, what became of that $7200?" and Attorney Coleman thought he saw a glimmer of light.

Jeffries tried to show that what had become of that bunch of money, but he didn't make a startling success, after a good deal of calculation it appeared that his loaning money in the Jeffries department had lost him about $1000, but the mining stock of the Providence Gold and Copper Mining Company was supposed to have absorbed all the rest.

The then sergeant of police was going about as a kind of public benefactor, buying the stock at anywhere from five cents to fifteen cents per share, and peddling it out again at three and one-half cents a share, and for the more expensive stock at from five to ten cents. Upon being pressed for a detailed statement, however, it developed that Jeffries had not lost as much as he thought he had in this deal. After a good deal of figuring it appeared that on a block of 55,000 shares of stock, he lost from $500 to $600, and that left a goodly portion of the $7200 being inquired after.

"Well I don't care much to talk about it," said Jeffries, "but when my son was sick in San Francisco I borrowed from Mr. Hill and spent the money. Altogether I spent about $1200 and never got any of it back again."

It was no use trying to account for the balance. It had all been sunk in the home on the hills, and that's all there was to it. Mrs. Jeffries has the benefit, but the improvements are all that Jeffries has to show for the large balances remaining, even allowing that Dame Fortune was unkind to him and never allowed any of his schemes to show a profit.

CREED-MIXERS SET A TRAP.

SCHEME OF PREACHERS FOR CATCHING CHRISTIANS.

St. Valentine's Day Will Witness a Secret Exchange of Pulpits All Over the City — Scholarly New Preacher to be Installed on Sunday—Society to Aid Sailors.

Every Christian, when he dons his Sunday clothes on St. Valentine's Day, must also put on the very best brand of piety he keeps hung away in his Sunday coat.

The preachers have put up a job that is dead sure to catch the creed-worshipers napping.

If you go to church on that Sunday morning, loaded to the brim with denominational dogmas that you hope to have tickled, you want to look out, that you don't make a comic valentine of yourself.

The devil will have you in his coils in a minute and you'll go flying off the handle like a skyrocket.

It's all a part of the scheme of evangelism now operating throughout the city, under the auspices of the Ministerial Union. They have determined to make a secret shake-up of the preachers of the city, and nobody is to know what he is to draw.

People who go to Temple Baptist Church, on that morning, to hear Brother Burdette on "close communion" will run up against a preacher from some wide-open church who believes otherwise, and who may preach his belief.

The quiet United Presbyterian may be surprised by a Methodist revivalist, and some believers in the old Bible in its entirety may be treated to a taste of "higher criticism."

Anyway, it is a novel tack taken by the ministers, and it will likely result in crowded churches all over the city. Both curiosity and church pride will contribute something to this result, but this will not minimize the good that may be done in the way of bringing all denominations closer together.

INSTALLATION OF PASTOR.

Rev. Herbert J. Weaver, pastor of the First English Lutheran Church of this city, returned yesterday from the annual meeting of the Southern California Conference of that denomination, which has been in session at Santa Barbara.

He brings the information that Rev. P. W. H. Frederick will be installed as pastor of the recently-organized Trinity Lutheran Church at Pasadena, on Sunday morning. The ceremony will be held in the G.A.R. Hall. Rev. Herbert J. Weaver will deliver the charge to the pastor, and Rev. George H. Gillerman of Riverside, secretary of the California Lutheran Synod, will deliver the charge to the people.

Rev. Mr. Frederick has for four years been professor of church history in the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Chicago, which work he laid down to come to Southern California for the health of his wife. He was at once called to the Pasadena church, which is his first pastorate, having taken the professorship immediately at the close of his university course. He already feels assured of success in his new field.

SEAMAN'S FRIEND.

The Seaman's Friend Society, which conducts a sailors' bethel at San Pedro, is composed of many prominent people of Los Angeles. The old ship, Warrior, was purchased from the Banning Company, beached and transformed into various departments for the comfort of sailors landing at that port.

Mr. Farr, the superintendent, is an old sailor and has had much experience in work of this character and has met with much success at San Pedro. His last monthly report shows ten services held in the bethel, and 110 vessels visited, distributing 150 bundles of literature. Three sailors in distress were aided and three professed conversion.

The expense of maintaining the work is $100 a month; receipts last month, $80. W. E. McVay, cashier of the Union Bank of Savings, this city, is treasurer of the fund.

ASSAULTED BY BEGGAR.

Mrs. Mary Dunning Attacked by a Vicious Tramp Whom She Refused to Feed.

Mrs. Mary Dunning was assaulted by a vicious tramp yesterday morning at her home, No. 306 Bonnie Brae street. About 7 o'clock she opened the kitchen door in response to a knock, and was accosted at the threshold by a rough-looking man, who demanded something to eat. She replied that she did not keep a boarding-house for beggars, and was about to close the door in his face, when he made a rush at her and grabbed her by the throat. In the struggle her clothing was torn, but she received no serious injury. The miscreant ran away when he heard other members of the family coming to his victim's rescue. Mrs. Dunning describes her assailant as about 35 years of age, of medium height and heavy build. He had a sandy mustache and a disfigured nose. His clothes were shabby and he wore a round black hat with a hole in the crown. The police were promptly notified and are on the lookout for the scoundrel, but thus far he has eluded arrest.

TO INTEREST THE LADIES!

Surpassing Showing of New Spring Styles

Again the Walk-Over Store is to the front, making the first extensive showing of Women' Fine Footwear for Spring 1904, and surpassing as have been the Walk-Over styles in previous seasons, this year the great Walk-Over factory has outdone even itself.

The result is the swellest, snappiest, smartest shoe shapes ever formulated in the United States—and that means the world. Walk-Over shoes are sold only at one price, everywhere, $3.50. Pay that and you obtain shoes just as stylish, just as durable, just as satisfactory in every way as though you had paid five dollars—in fact,

Few Five-Dollar Shoes Equal the Walk-Over at $3.50.

Dress Shoes

This spring sees the Ladies Dress shoes in prettier shapes than ever before; the Louis XIV and Cuban model heels will divide first honors; the leathers are fine French finished kids and patent kid with tips and plain toes in a wide variety of widths. Cloth tops will be extensively worn by the smartest dressers, and the Walk-Over cloth top will be most popular, for it has many features that go only with these styles.

Oxfords for Spring

No less than a dozen models are shown in the Walk-Over Oxfords for Spring 1904, and not a single style but will have hundreds of admirers and wearers in this city. The Oxfords are made in all the famously finished leathers that have contributed to the popularity of this factory.

Walking Shoes

That wide, comfortable shoe that the men have been wearing now has a prototype in the new Walk-Over walking model for women. Made of finest calf, patent kid and vici kid, it has all the distinctive points that go into every pair of shoes that leave the Walk-Over factory. Particularly desirable for those who spend much time out-of-doors, as is the custom in Southern California, the walking models will have wide popularity.

A Word About Walk-Overs

Walk-Over shoes are made in the Walk-Over's own factory and sold only in the Walk-Over's own exclusive shoe stores. Walk-Over shoes are made to fit the feet, and no make of shoes has such a wide and deserved popularity on account of the shoe satisfaction obtained as is known in the Walk-Over.

EIGHTH WARD'S REDEMPTION.

NOTICEABLE BENEFIT FROM CLOSING OF THE CRIBS.

Rev. Dana W. Bartlett Protests Against Dubbing the District the "Bloody Eighth" or the "Slums." Says Great Change Has Been Effected.

Closing of the "crib district" has been of inestimable value to the Eighth ward, according to Rev. Dana W. Bartlett, pastor of the Bethlehem Institutional Church, corner of Vignes and Ducommon streets.

Mr. Bartlett has worked and lived right in the center of the Eighth Ward for the past eight years, and he is certainly well qualified to make an accurate observation as to the effects of this crib closing.

"This was the greatest thing that has ever happened to this ward," said Mr. Bartlett the other day, as he discussed the general situation. "It has tended to lift from this community the stigma under which we have so long struggled.

"We protest, and we protest vigorously, against being classed all the time as 'The Bloody Eighth' and 'The Slums.' There are many just as good and just as respectable people down in this part of the city as can be found anywhere. And we are doing our best to redeem the ward from the foul name that has been given it.

"Even in the short time since the closing of that open sore on Alameda street there has been a noticeable change in affairs here. It is true there are several more parlor houses in the district than there were before; but of the two evils the latter is less objectionable.

"I do not presume that any of the social purity crusaders have the idea in their minds that the social evil is to be entirely wiped out of Los Angeles through these efforts. It is useless to expect such a thing as long as there is human lust. But we do know that the vice is not now flouted so openly as heretofore, and that the closing of this open market of shame and sin is a decided advance in the morals of the neighborhood.

"As it was before, our wives and our children could not go to the downtown districts without having to witness these scenes along the Alameda-street district which no man wants his wife or children to see. Now they can go downtown without so much as seeing these women of the underworld on the streets.

"The parlor houses will doubtless be found by the reports who always seek after such places; but the very fact that the general crowd of men and youths is shut out, and that there is no lounging place now as there was in the time of the crib district, is of itself a great victory."

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

THE dinner given by Mrs. Elizabeth Prewitt of No. 13 St. James Park last evening was one of the most perfectly-appointed affairs of the season. The table decorations were carried out most successfully in white and green. The centerpiece was a delicate arrangement of white hyacinths and maidenhair ferns; a dainty silver candelabra, containing white candles, which shone through shades of green, ornamented the table further, and green bon bons carried out the color effect, while white hyacinths were everywhere in the room.

Those at the table were: Mr. and Mrs. John E. Plater, Count and Mrs. Von Schmidt, Dr. and Mrs. John Oldham, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Dorsey, Col. A. W. Hamilton of Kentucky, G. M. Chartiers, Miss Eva Prewitt and Mrs. Elizabeth Prewitt.

For Oakland Guest.

Mrs. S. C. Johnson of No. 1157 Hobart boulevard was the hostess on Wednesday at a dainty luncheon given for Mrs. W. L. Hamilton of Oakland.

Poinsettias formed pleasing decorations, the center of the table being ornamented with a cluster of the gorgeous flowers, and each place marked by a single brilliant blossom. The menu was also in red. During the afternoon the guests were entertained with recitations by Miss Pearl Wilson. Covers were laid for Mrs. W. L. Hamilton, Mrs. J. N. Bellers, Mrs. John S. Outhwaite, Mrs. W. Williams, Mrs. D. A. Russell, Mrs. W. G. Wilson and the Misses Pearl Wilson, Jennie E. Moore and Myrtle Carter.

For Mrs. De Van.

Mrs. J. S. Chapman and the Misses Chapman of No. 262 North Soto street gave one of the prettiest and most charming card parties of the season at the Woman's Club House yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Durward de Van, who was Miss Rita Merril, and is only a bride of the last six weeks.

In honor of the occasion the clubhouse was gaily decorated by Miss Winnifred Waite. The hall was in bridal attire, all done in white and green. Down the center hung four large bells of white tarleton, with clappers formed of white callas, and asparagus plumosus rested lightly on the bells, while fluffy white tarleton was festooned about the room with ropes of asparagus plumosus, until it seemed a veritable fairy bower. Beneath the receiving party a curtain was arranged of filmy white tarleton, draped over with smilax, and hung with white satin ribbons. The musicians' stand was screened by potted plants arranged in artistic profusion. The lights here were covered with shades of dainty white tarleton.

The room to the right was a yellow affair of unusual beauty and intricacy of design. From the chandeliers which were covered and draped with bows of yellow tarleton, long strands of asparagus plumosus went to the side walls and suspended at intervals from them were tiny French baskets filled with yellow jonquils. Over the central card table and suspended from the chandelier was a large basket of jonquils tied with yellow satin ribbon and large bows with long streamers were placed about the room to make an added bit of color. Acacias and black Venetian iron candelabra covered with yellow shades added to the beauty of the room.

The other apartments were arranged in the same color scheme of red and green. The lights here were shaded with scarlet tarleton and ornamented with dainty bows of the same. From the central chandeliers festoons of red satin ribbons were arranged to go to the corners of the rooms and from these hung dainty little Japanese lanterns, making a bright and attractive scene. About the rooms rustic baskets hung filled with red carnations and asparagus plumosus ferns, and over the door was suspended a canoe filled with carnations and ferns. The mantel was banked at the top with Boston ferns and lower the graceful sprengeri added its foliage, while red carnations were banked in among the ferns. The score cards for the occasion were hand-painted heads done in green and white and tied with green and white ribbons.

Mrs. Chapman wore a handsome gown of black violet over white taffeta, and Miss Chapman's gown was of white embroidered chiffon with garniture of cerise roses and green foliage. Miss Mary wore a stunning frock of black chiffon embroidered in pink roses. Mrs. De Van wore her wedding gown, an elaborate creation of white voile with trimmings of peau de sole. Those who assisted the hostesses in receiving were: Mmes. Charles Modini-Wood, Edward L. Doheny, H. G. Cates, Ward Chapman, J. W. Hendrick, Herman Kerckhoff, W. H. Perry, J. D. Bicknell, E. P. Johnson, Jr., Charles Dick, Charles Noyes, A. B. McCutcheon and Mme. Genevra Johnstone Bishop.

Hull-Lloyd Nuptials.

Last evening beneath an airy canopy of pink and white crêpe paper, Miss Lula Hull, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hull of No. 402 East Adams street, was married to Ralph H. Lloyd at the Vincent Methodist Episcopal Church on East Twenty-ninth street. The altar was a mass of smilax and white calla lillies, and the altar rail was twined with smilax until it appeared a hedge of coal greenery. The whole church was artistically decorated with tan palms and potted ferns and palms.

The bride was unattended, and wore a stunning frock of white crepe de chine, over white taffeta, with garnitures of pearl passementerie and Cluny lace, and a long white sash added to the girlishness of the gown. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, but wore no veil, only white carnations were prettily arranged in her hair. Miss Reba Hull, sister of the bride, and Earl Rebber, a cousin of Miss Hull, Virginia Montgomery, a niece of the groom, and Wayne Montgomery acted as ushers, the girls being gowned alike in pink mull over white taffeta. Rev. Hugh Dobbins of Colusa, brother-in-law of Mr. Lloyd, had charge of the ceremony, assisted by Rev. George Hough.

The bride is a very pretty girl of the blonde type, with rich coloring, and is a graduate of the Los Angeles High School and also of the State Normal School. She has a large circle of friends here. The groom is a resident of this city, but formerly lived in Berkeley.

As the couple came up the aisle J. A. Barrows rendered the Mendelssohn "Wedding March," and before the ceremony Miss Anna Lloyd, sister of the groom, sang "Ecstacy," and during the service sang, "O Perfect L." After the service was performed a reception was held for the relatives of the bridal couple, at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hull, at No. 702 East Adams street. Here the house was decorated in garlands of colored crêpe paper and potted plants added a touch of greenery to the whole. Light refreshments were served during the receiving hours.

A wedding trip has been planned which is only known to the happy couple themselves, after which they will be at home to their friends at No. 134 West Twenty-third street. Many beautiful wedding gifts attested the popularity of the young couple.

Dinner for Actors.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dobinsell and Mr. and Mrs. J. Bond Francisco gave a delightful supper on Wednesday evening complimentary to Frederick Warde and Louis James, the two well-known actors who have made themselves so popular in Los Angeles. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ozro W. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hay Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. August Kurtzeburn, Mrs. L. Gottschalk, Miss May Ward, Miss Gertrude Kellar, Miss Elizabeth Wood, Miss Alma Kruger and Norman Hackett.

Ragazza Club Entertained.

The social club known as the "Ragazza Girls" was informally entertained by Miss Mirna Baldwin at her home on West Twenty-eighth street, Wednesday. The afternoon was spent with music and needlework and dainty refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Edna Waterman, Stella and Alice Blanchard, Grace and Lura Maile, Helen Day, Iris Newman and Madge Henry.

Buffet Luncheon.

The luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Clifford Page, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman and Mrs. Albert Crutcher, was quite as much a success as that of Wednesday. The decorations were the same, and the hostesses as charming, only the receiving party were changed as follows: Mmes. S. S. Salisbury, Shelley, Tolhurst, W. L. Graves, J. T. Norton, Jos. Y. Jones, Roland Bishop, Charles Baille Irwin Herron, I. N. Van Nuys, A. G. Wells, Carroll Allen, Will Mathews, Ira O. Smith, Henry T. Lee, Albert Stephens, Donald Frick, Burton Green, J. H. Bohan, Carl Adams and Miss Eleanor Page.

During the luncheon hours delightful vocal music was given by Mrs. Madison Boyd Jones, Miss Hays of Kentucky and Mrs. R. B. Baumgart. These luncheons have been something of an innovation here, as nothing just like them has been given, and they have been so successful, owing to the graciousness and tact of their hostesses, that others will probably follow.

Club Entertained.

Mrs. R. C. P. Smith of No. 1044 Grattan street gave a delightful luncheon and informal afternoon yesterday to the members of the Friday Afternoon Club of Ontario.

The table was exquisitely ornamented, the soft greenery of maidenhair ferns and asparagus plumosus mingling among the brightness of yellow jonquils. The place cards were dainty affairs, ornamented with hand-painted jonquils and tied with yellow ribbons. The lights were softened by dainty shades of tulle in the prevailing color.

During the afternoon a guessing game furnished entertainment, and the prize, a pretty picture, was won by Mrs. W. L. Malone. In the four-leaf-clover hunt, which followed, Mrs. W. H. Watson was awarded a beautiful cut-glass vase. The guests of the club were Mrs. W. W. Smith of Ontario and Mrs. H. W. Rapier of Los Angeles.

The club members present were Mmes. C. G. H. Bunnineck, D. A. Woodford, Earnest Thayer, W. L. Malone and Sara Ensign of Ontario, Mrs. Leslie Smith of Armona, Mrs. I. S. Wilson of Long Beach, Mrs. W. J. Home of Long Beach and Mrs. M. B. Ayers of Los Angeles.

From Santa Barbara.

Mrs. G. Alexander Bobrick, with her little girl, Miss Marie Bobrick, are at home at No. 923 South Burlington avenue, after a visit to Santa Barbara. Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Givenaraud of New York will be the house guests of Mrs. Bobrick for some time.

Home Wedding.

Last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, No. 752 East Washington street, the parents of the bride, Miss Maude M. Hill, was married to William E. Calvert.

The house was artistically festooned with smilax and white ribbons, while white carnations and callas were used in profusion. The couple were united under a canopy of white roses and satin ribbons, the bride wearing a beautiful gown of cream silk voile over cream taffeta silk, with lace medallions. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses. The maid of honor wore a dress of cream crepe de Paris, with ornaments of spider-web lace, and carried pink carnations. David Davids assisted as best man, and Rev. J. E. Burr performed the ceremony.

Later supper was served to the bridal party and the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvert will be at home to their friends after February 1 at No. 638 East Twenty-fourth street.

Jolly Evening.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Colby were at home to a number of their musical friends. Musical numbers were given by Messrs. Lott, Barnhardt, Zinck, Gates and Edson and Mrs. Welburn, accompanied by Misses O'Donohue, Rogers and Williams.

Leap Year Event.

Mrs. Ozro W. Childs of No. 928 West Twenty-eighth street entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of Frederick Warde and Wordsworth Harris. Mr. Warde and Mr. Harris delighted the guests with recitations, and Mrs. Albert Carlos Jones sang in a particularly pleasing manner.

Mrs. Childs was assisted in receiving by all the gentlemen present and by Mrs. John E. Plater, Mrs. Von Schmidt, Mrs. Stephen Childs, Mrs. R. H. Hay Chapman and Mrs. Frank Hicks.

The affair was altogether one of the most charming given lately.

Church Social.

The ladies of the Knox Presbyterian Church announce a social in their parlors this evening. Some prominent young ladies will take part in the programme. They are Miss Jessie Pope, Miss Henrietta Dobinson and Miss Carrie Williams of the Dobinson School of Expression, and Miss Ruth Messmer.

Notes and Personals.

Mrs. Francis A. Eastman, wife of Col. F. A. Eastman, formerly of this city, is staying at the Hotel Figueroa for the winter.

The members of the Concordia Club gave a delightful bowling party last evening at their clubhouse, corner of Sixteenth and Figueroa streets.

E. W. Britt of No. 710 West Twenty-eighth street is quite ill.

Samuel Riter of the Riter-Conley Steel Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., is the guest of Mrs. Mary A. Tombes of No. 1022 West Eleventh street.

At the home of Mrs. E. Parsonage, in Santa Clara, Cal., January 18, 1903, Walter Brown and Nina J. Paulin were united in marriage by Rev. F. B. Walworth.

L. T. Shettler leaves tonight on the Santa Fé and will visit Chicago and Detroit on his trip. He will be gone about two weeks.

H. H. Walker has accepted a position with a gold mining company in Antioqua, South America, and left for there a few days since. He leaves a host of friends, who wish him good luck and Godspeed.

Making the Desert to Blossom.

Though so recently established the reclamation service undertaken by the Geological Survey in the barren lands has already begun the construction of certain large dams, and has under consideration among other projects a six-mile tunnel for diverting the Gunnison River in Colorado, so that the waters may be used in irrigation. In the planning and carrying out of these great works the officers of the service will have unexampled professional opportunities, not only because of the size of the works themselves, but on account of the freedom given the engineers in planning and building them. The supervising engineer will report to a board of consulting engineers, each of whom is thoroughly familiar with the difficulties of such work, instead of having to win, as in private work, the approval of a board of directors largely unfamiliar with his difficulties, and concerned mainly with completing the work at the lowest possible cost.

It has been estimated that ultimately sixty to one hundred million acres, which are now worth perhaps 50 cents an acre, will be converted by irrigation into farming and orchard land worth from $50 to $500 per acre. The law carefully provides that this shall be sold in small lots to actual settlers, so as to accomplish the main purpose of the whole work—homes for our rapidly-increasing population and opportunity for the young men and the children equivalent to that which the older generations enjoyed.—[Booklovers' Magazine.

MINES AND MINING

SEARCHLIGHT DISTRICT.

OPEN SHOP IN MINING WORK PROVES SUCCESSFUL.

More Prospecting Now Going on Than in Many Years—Number of Los Angeles People Interested in the District.

Will Richardson returned several days ago from a visit to the Searchlight district just across the Nevada line, and reports that the camp has almost completely recovered from the effects of the strike of last summer, and that the old-time activity prevails. According to Mr. Richardson the plan adopted by the mine operators of making no discrimination between union and non-union men, so long as the work is properly done, has proven successful and now work is going forward actively on a number of properties.

The Quartette, which is the big mine of the district, has just opened up the 600-foot level of the mine, and the showing is reported as better than expected. The company is now operating the ten-stamp mill at the property in addition to the twenty-stamp mill on the Colorado River, and both mills are making good showings.

The Southern Nevada Mining Company is operating its ten-stamp mill successfully, and is sinking the shaft at a point, where the big blanket vein on the property has dipped. This shaft has reached a depth of 200 feet, and is in a good grade of ore.

Mr. Richardson states that more prospecting is going on in the district than for many years, and that a number of new Los Angeles people are becoming interested. The Cyrus Noble and Ione companies are among the most active in the field.

MISSIONARY'S DEATH.

The Two Founders of the Friends' Missionary Work in Guatemala Die Within a Few Weeks' Time.

About two years ago two bright and promising young men went out from the Friends' Missionary Training School in this city to open up mission work among the natives of Guatemala, a territory practically untouched by missionary efforts.

Today both of these young men, C. J. Buckley and Thomas J. Kelley, are in their graves. The Times several weeks ago published an account of the death of young Buckley, which occurred in Honduras, his body being found beside a road, where he had been traveling as colporteur for the American Bible Society.

Kelley came back to Los Angeles some time before and was recruiting a band of missionaries to take back with him to the work in Central America. This band started from Los Angeles several weeks ago, and on the 10th inst., sailed from New Orleans, arriving at Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, on the 12th inst.

But at the time of their departure, their leader, who was the pioneer in the Guatemala field, was in such precarious health that it was deemed advisable for him to remain in California for a longer time in order to recuperate.

He went to Orland, where his father resides, and now the Friends' training school has received word of young Kelley's death. He passed away just nine weeks after the death of his close friend and associate in the new mission fields, C. J. Buckley.

The Friends' missionary work in Guatemala will not cease, however, because the two young men who opened the field have passed away. The new band which has just reached that country will carry on the work and establish headquarters in Guatemala for the general work in Central America.

Henry Phipps, the Baltimore steel magnate, has donated $20,000 to the Johns Hopkins Hospital to establish an out-patient department for persons suffering from consumption.

Bank clearings today were $832,606.85 against $869,509.89 in 1903, and $751,[illegible] in 1902.

MONEY SENSITIVE. The condition of business has not everything to do with the money market. This is shown by the fact that often money situates while business remains almost stationary. The violent fluctuations of interest rates during the last winter of 1903, were not justified by business conditions, but were rather attributable to a feeling of doubt as to conditions that 1904 would usher in. Secretary Shaw was justified in his assertion last fall that "the microne (or money) exists, if at all, in the mind, not elsewhere." That the present is an opened propitiously is admitted by all and the Wall Street Journal is confined to say:

"Surplus reserves of $23,000,000 in the New York banks make a cheering condition. A credit capacity of nearly $100,000,000 imparts confidence and affords a basis for more extended operations."

Sales of stocks of more than 900,000 shares in one day are also a good thing, especially when accompanied by higher prices. This is a sign of optimism. It is a good that some men believe that times are not as black as they have been painted. Even though the volume of sales represents mostly professional trading, it is something that gives confidence and dispels fear. Better it is a still better thing that the transactions in bonds in the New York Stock Exchange exceeded fifteen times this represents, not speculation, professional or otherwise, but investment and investment is the backbone of American business, as it is, or should be, the chief aim of Wall street.

The best of all is the conviction that is coming home to all observers of the situation that the business of the country, notwithstanding the partial reaction which has taken place, is in very large, and is bound to continue so in spite of every condition that might be unfavorable to it.

LAND'S WHEAT SUPPLY. Journals have been somewhat optimistic as to the outlook for the wheat supply for the ensuing year. Mr. Johnson, a Canadian statistician of repute, made a graphic showing of the immense possibilities of Canada. Bradstreets, and in this week's issue the same journal Edward Atkinson takes the view that the new and little southwestern portions of the United States, is capable of a production equal to the needs of the whole Kingdom. It appears from these statistics as well as from others that there is not yet occasion for alarm on the part of England or of any other country in the matter of food supplies. That the undeveloped areas of the United States and Canada may be relied on for production equal to any demand that may be made in the immediate future.

LUMBER PRODUCTION IN 1903. The total pine lumber cut of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota aggregated 4,791,553,000 feet, as compared with 5,294,395,000 feet in 1902 and 5,[illegible],000 feet in 1901. Following figures compiled from the American Lumberman give the cut for important districts:

LUMBER PRODUCTION IN 1903.

The total pine lumber cut of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota aggregated 11,812,000,000 feet, as compared with 12,386,000,000 feet in 1902 and 5,[illegible] feet in 1901. Following figures from the American Lumberman give the cut for important [illegible]

[illegible]	3,[illegible]

The stock of pine on hand at the end of 1903, contrasted with previous years, were 1,964,552,000 feet in 1902, with 2,112,719,000 feet in 1902 and 2,839,705,000 in 1901. This is going back far enough to show the boom in the lumber trade with 1900. Stocks on hand at the end of 1903 were less by 148,[illegible] feet than they were at the close of 1902, and were less than at the close of 1901 by 874,152,000 less than at the close of 1900. During these four years the cut declined 693,709,000 feet. A decline in the shingle production for the same period in the United States is the fact that the shingle production from 1890 to 1903 have shown that degree of decline that pertains to the output of lumber. The falling off during the thirteen years named was 1,5,8,123,000, the product in 1890 having been 4,320,325,000, and in 1903, 2,342,202,000. During the thirteen years there was much fluctuation from year to year. In 1896 the total fell to 1,836,062,000. In 1891, 1892, 1893, 1897 and 1898, the totals were in the three billion class. In 1894 the product was 2,-993,367,850, and the total has not risen to 3,000,000,000 since 1898. Stocks of shingles on hand at the end of 1903 make a heavy showing against 1902. the figures standing for 667,072,000 at the close of 1903, compared to 397,815,000 in 1902. In 1893 the production of hemlock reached 1,324,444,000 feet, against 1,277,814,000 feet in 1902 and 1,264,943,000 feet in 1901. The output of northern hard woods amounted in 1903 to 789,-734,000 feet, which compares with 730,-315,000 feet in 1902, and 790,592,000 feet in 1901.—(Bradstreet's.

COFFEES. The continued advance in the New York market for Rios has occasioned a further advance in Arbuckles to $16.25. Lion will countless follow tomorrow or next day. Business in these goods has been seriously curtailed by the frequent advances during the last few months.

SUGAR DECLINES. Following the local decline in sugar came a notice today of a decline of 5 cents in all grades for Arizona points. Dominoes declined ten points to $7.80.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

ORANGE SHIPMENTS. Improved conditions in the orange markets of the east have led to a resumption of picking, and shipments are slightly in excess of those of the last few days.

ACT OF GOD. The Supreme Court of Minnesota held, in the recent case of Jones et al. vs. Minneapolis and St. Louis Railway Company et al., that while an act of God will excuse a common carrier for loss of goods in his possession, yet where the negligence of the carrier concurs in or contributes to the loss he is liable therefor; but that where it is shown that the loss was due to an overpowering cause, the burden is on the opposite party to establish such negligence of the carrier. It appeared in this case that the plaintiffs delivered to the defendant certain cattle to be transported in one of its freight trains to their destination, but before it was reached the train was caught in a blizzard and became snow bound, and the cattle were frozen to death. The court held that the proximate cause of the loss was an act of God, and that the evidence did not support a verdict to the effect that the defendant was guilty of negligence.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Some disposition to hold up the price of eggs is shown, but offerings are heavy on the street at 21 cents by ranchers and the market is probably 22 and 23 cents for ranch.

Potatoes continue firm and in good demand, Salinas being quoted up to $2 for fancy.

Onions are unchanged, fancy kiln-dried Nevadas and Oregons go at $2 and $2.50.

Berries are not plentiful but meet with only moderate demand at quotations.

Oranges sell better and demand from hotels and restaurants is increasing as quality improves. Fish and game are sufficient for the market's needs.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The speculative party which has persistently supported stocks through the later stages of the recent advance declined today and allowed prices to slip back without any appreciable resistance. During the morning, a big order was executed in Atchison, which lifted that stock a large fraction over last night and which was attributed to the organized bull party for the purpose of supporting the market. It was accompanied, however, by the rumor that Atchison was soon to be listed on the London Bourse, and the fact that Atchison has a block of $18,000,000 bonds for sale was supposed to furnish a motive for stimulating the market for the stock. The movement was ineffective in checking the declining tendency elsewhere. The rally in the last hour was palpably due to covering of short contracts by room professionals, and pointed to an inference that the days' selling had been on the short side. The bears, however, found it so easy to secure stocks that they desisted from their buying, and prices sagged again to the end of the day. The closing was weak and dull. The highly professional character of the market makes it fitting that it should be treated from the standpoint of technical causes. So far as actual conditions bearing on values were concerned, the most influential was the frankly outspoken tone of pessimism in which a leading trade review wrote of the outlook for iron and steel. "The tonnage is not there," says the Iron Age, "and the industry must simply adjust itself to the prevailing conditions." United States Steel preferred was not illogically the weakest and most active stock under these circumstances. A batch of very unfavorable railroad earnings for December furnished another reactionary factor. Possibility of further restriction of money supplies is coming up for discussion again, owing to the decline in the inflow of currency to New York. February 1 requirements to be considered include the payment of a $3,000,000 Central Pacific note to the government; deposit of $2,000,000 to retire the month's quota of banknotes for which application has been made, and the increase in deposits in reserve to comply with the clearinghouse requirements for 7½ per cent of deposits in place of 5 per cent. The reflection implied by the action of the Stock Exchange authorities in striking from the list the securities of an industrial corporation on the ground of misrepresentation of financial condition was a depressing factor. The severe weather in the winter-wheat belt was a possible factor as well. As a result, prices were 1 to 4 points lower, when trading left off, than they were last night. Bonds were heavy under the leadership of United States Steel second 5s. Chicago Terminal 4s slumped 5½ points. Total sales (par value) $3,20,000. United States 2s declined ¼ on call.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Severe cold weather, with rain in Argentina, strengthened wheat prices today. A gain in the price of cash wheat in the Northwest also contributed to the advance. The close was firm, May being up ¼ to ⅝c. Early news was of a bearish nature. Cables were lower, the price of consols steady and crop news generally was of an encouraging character. May opened ¼ to ⅜c lower to a shade higher, at 81@81⅛c, but soon sold off to 80 cents. The leading bull operator then came to the support of the market, and on buying by this interest May quickly advanced to 83¾c. A decline in the price of New York stocks caused some traders to give credence to a private dispatch from London which stated that the war cloud was again assuming alarming proportions, and buying orders were more in evidence during the last part of the session. From 83c, May slowly moved upward until it had reached 90¼c. Realising sales late in the day caused a decline of ⅝c, but the close was firm at 89¾c. The speculative demand for the July option showed some increase. After ranging between 81¾c and 82⅝c that month closed ⅛ to ¼c higher at 82⅜c. The corn market was influenced mainly by the action of wheat. May closed firm, at 48¾c. Oats followed other grains, fluctuating within a narrow range and closing about unchanged from yesterday, at 42¾c for May. Liquidation of lard by the leading bull estate was in force in the provision pit early in the day, and the whole list weakened in consequence. Later, however, the market recovered most of the loss on a scattered commission-house demand. The close was steady, with May pork unchanged; May lard, be lower, and ribs 2½c lower.

The leading futures closed as follows:

New York Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The cotton market from the start ruled exceedingly firm and active on higher cables, light estimated receipts and further reports of a growing scarcity of spot cotton in the South, accompanied by the most bullish gossip concerning the speculative situation. The opening advance had been into new high ground. Europeans were buying heavily here, the local bull leader was openly supporting the market, whatever he may have been doing previously, and outside demand seem d bigger than since last Tuesday. At any rate, with only slight concessions, the market was pushed steadily upward until shortly after midday. May reached 10.15 cents at noon. This uncovered stop-loss orders and the market developed into the wildest excitement so far noted. In one jump July went from 10.25 to 10.40, while May sold up to 10.30. The active months at this level were just 46 points higher for the day and had scored a net advance from the low point of last week of about 2¼ cents. Such a gain as this naturally attracted heavier realizing, and with demands less pressing there was a quick reaction of about 25 to 30 points, which, however, was followed by renewed steadiness as the bulls again came to the support of the market. Sales were estimated at 1,500,000 bales.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Jan. 28.—The bull leaders swept the ring off its feet in the cotton market today. With frenzied covering by shorts March was sent about the 15c mark to 10.80. The market opened excited on favoring cables from Liverpool. A fair amount of general buying orders were sent in, but late in the morning, the bull leaders offered to take all the May cotton the ring had at 10.23. The market was practically bare of offerings after this, and prices quickly rose. March was 23 points higher than yesterday's close, at 10.02, and May 45 points higher at 10.32.

New York Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Tin was weaker in London, declining £1@£1 2s 6d, with spot quoted at £128 12s 6d and future at £127 5s. Locally, tin was sympathetically easy, closing at 27.70@28.25. Copper was 2s 6d lower in London at £58 12s 6d for spot, but futures were unchanged at £58 12s 6d. Locally copper was nominally unchanged. Lead and spelter closed steady and unchanged. Iron was quiet and nominal.

ACTIVITY IN KERN FIELD.

GREAT STORAGE RESERVOIR BEING CONSTRUCTED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 28.—A storage reservoir with a capacity of half a million barrels of oil is being constructed for the Southern Pacific on Kern River, in section 5, 29, 28. One hundred and fifty teams and fifty men are at work on the big excavation, and operations will be pushed along rapidly under the supervision of C. J. Lindgren, the contractor. The reservoir will be 20 feet deep, 400 feet in diameter at the bottom and 460 feet at the top. It will require one-half million feet of lumber for the roof and the amount of P. and B. roofing required would cover four acres of land.

The contract price is over $20,000, and this does not include freight on material. Mr. Lindgren also has a contract to erect a similar reservoir at Coalinga on section 7 for the same company, and the work is under way.

The standard is about to construct a pipe line from its reservoirs across the famous section 6 belonging to Joan Enos to connect with different properties, and thus relieve the pressure now being placed upon the different lines in the field. The need for more facilities in this regard has been felt for a long time, those now in existence being insufficient to carry the oil. A short time ago the company issued an order forbidding the placing of more than 500 pounds pressure on the line. This was due to the fact that several very serious breaks had occurred from too much pressure being put upon the pipe by producers who were anxious to get their oil to market.

The great line to Point Richmond has not yet started actual work, there being some delay in getting the pumps in operation, but the several stations are manned by full crews, and they are waiting for the order to start work, and the expectation is that oil will again begin to flow within another week or ten days at the outside.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTENING.

The period of inactivity which has characterized the oil fields for the past few weeks is giving way to a general resumption of operations with prospects brighter for the inauguration of a season of old-time activity.

The Union Pacific Company, which has operated extensively near McKittrick, has begun drilling again, its present undertaking being the putting down of a test well upon its property in the vicinity of McKittrick.

The Oriental Company has two rigs up in the San Luis Obispo field, and will do considerable drilling in the next few weeks.

A rig has been put up by the Southern Pacific Company near McKittrick, and the work of sinking the well will be hurried to completion.

The Alta Oil and Development Company is deepening and completing a number of wells it has been prospecting for some time.

A new well of the United States Company, also in the McKittrick field, is down to quite a depth, and the company is hopeful of satisfactory results.

The Fearless Company has commenced operations on a "wild-cat" well that gives promise of pleasing results.

At present the railroad is taking four thousand barrels of oil out of McKittrick daily. This is gratifying to the oil men, who, for a while were unable to have their product removed as quickly as desired. The improved transportation facilities are thoroughly appreciated by those interested.

Business in the Sunset field is a little dull at present, owing, it is alleged, to the inability to obtain adequate railway and pipe-line facilities. It is thought, however, the former hindrance will soon be obviated by the extension, for which the grading will shortly be completed.

Fred Gordon, who has been assistant to the superintendent of the California Consolidated Oil Fields Company, has been promoted to succeed Superintendent W. N. Forker, resigned. In his new position Mr. Gordon will have full charge of all the pipe lines through Sunset and Midway and all the interests of Jewett and Blodgett.

It is reported that Mr. Forker has accepted the management of the Fulton Oil Company under President John M. Wright.

DEEP WELLS.

LOCAL EXPERIENCES.

The experience they had at Beaumont, the greatest and earliest of the oil fields of the Southwest, may again be repeated right here in Los Angeles, namely, the finding of lakes one beneath the other, at depths varying from 700 to 1200 feet. The Consolidated Crude Oil Company has had on the pump for a long time to practically exhaust it a well on Yale street, a little beyond Bernardo street, at the extreme limit of the company's field. This well is now being deepened, and there is every indication that at a depth of about 1200 feet a new and larger supply of oil will be encountered. The original depth was 700 feet. The company has now thirty-seven wells on the pumps. Almost directly in front of its office door, at the corner of Adobe and College streets, a smaller operator, John Joyce, has a brand new well already drilled to a considerable depth. But it is not apprehended that for a long time to come the enterprise of local oil men will be called upon to drill to such depth as that attained by a new well of the Union Oil Company in Santa Barbara county, which well is now practically two-thirds of a mile in depth, or, to be exact, 3240 feet.

Chief of Late King Alexander's Cabinet Implicated in Misappropriation of a Few Thousand.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BELGRADE, Jan. 28.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Miloch Peteronievich, chief of the late King Alexander's Cabinet, is also implicated in the misappropriation of $30,000 belonging to the estate of a natural son of Prince Michael Obrenovics, in connection with which former Minister of the Interior Todovics was arrested January 27.

Peteronievich admits that he remitted money to certain persons in England, claims he obtained a direct order of King Alexander, and refuses to furnish further details. He has been arrested pending an examination of the statements made.

AT NEW YORK HOTELS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the Holland, W. T. Bishop, Jr., and wife, Miss F. L. Jones; Waldorf, L. Lindsay.

FREDERIC J. HASKIN'S letter in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday will tell something of the leading men in the new republic of Panama.

FLEE IN THEIR NIGHT CLOTHES.

Roomers in Main-street Lodging-houses Driven Out by Early-Morning Fire.

Fire broke out in the second story of the Alaska rooming-house, southeast corner of Fourth and Main streets, about 2:30 o'clock this morning, and was quickly communicated to the Golden West Hotel, adjoining. Occupants of the places were obliged to flee for their lives, and thronged the streets in their nightgowns, saving what they could of their personal effects. The names wer confined to the upper portion of the Alaska House, and destroyed one corner of the Golden West Hotel, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars.

The places are owned by J. B. Lankershim. The Alaska is managed by Harvey Robinson and the Golden West by John Hays.

Fleeing inmates, many of them scarcely more than naked, were cared for in adjoining buildings. They were able to save but little of their property, as the buildings are of wood and burned swiftly, compelling their occupants to think of their lives rather than of their belongings. The burned structures are in a thickly-settled portion of the city, just across the street from the Van Nuys and Westminster hotels. The fire was under control in less than half an hour after it started. The total loss will not exceed $3000.

CLASS DAY AT STATE NORMAL.

GRADUATES CRACK JOKES AND RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

County Superintendent Keppel Hands Them a Lot of Good Advice Along With the Sheepskins—The Class Roster, With Its One Young Man.

Assembly Hall at the State Normal School was crowded to the limit last night, to witness the class-day exercises of the winter graduating class. They to the fore a of a reading of an unpublished copy of the "Exponent"—the annual class publication. The hits and joshes on members of the class, other students and the faculty, were received with laughter and applause.

At the close of the exercises by the graduates, Mark Keppel, County Superintendent of Schools, addressed the class. He said, in opening:

"The Los Angeles Normal has graduated many classes, and its graduates are the educational leaders of the Southland today and are doing a great work for education. On behalf of the great county of Los Angeles, with its 60,000 school-children and its 1250 common and high-school teachers, I welcome you to the ranks tonight."

The address was one of solid advice to the coming teachers, meant to guard them against the many pitfalls that beset the feet of the novice, when he comes into the field of active participation in his chosen calling. At the close of this address the diplomas were presented.

The complete programme was as follows:

"Swing Song" (Davis,) Normal Glee Club; Echoes of an Unpublished Exponent: (1) "Dedication" (Etha Dawley,) reader, Edith Graves. (2) Senior A department: "The 'Now,'" reader, Floy Stafford; "Twenty Years from Now," reader, Pearl Thompson; "Thirty Years from Now," reader, Ida Lawrence. (3) Literary department: "A Street Incident" (Margaret Manson,) reader, A. Hardy Riddell; "A Toast to Normal Girls" (Margaret Robinson,) reader, Josephine Hodgkins. (4) "Joshograph," reader, Mamie Stanton; vocal solo "Spring Time," Zoe McClure; accompanist, Blanche Williams; address, County Superintendent Mark Keppel.

JIMINEZ'S SECOND WIND.

Will Soon Return to Santo Domingo With Arms, it is Said—Haytien Government's Throw-down.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CAPE HAYTIEN, Jan. 28.—[By West Indian Cable.] The Dominican gunboat Presidente arrived last Tuesday and the captain asked the Haytien government for munitions of war. President Ord made no response. After the installation of the new Dominican consul here, the Presidente left for Monte Cristi to attempt to prevent the German steamer Schamburg from entering Monte Cristi. It is said.

Word has been received from Gen. Deschamps, a partisan of Gen. Jimines, of the shipping of munitions of war and that he and numerous followers of Jiminez will soon return to Santo Domingo from Cuba. Leopold Espalat, former Minister of War, has arrived at Monte Cristi, to help Jimines.

RELIEF FOR AALESUND.

Needs of Thirteen Thousand Inhabitants fo Norwegian Town, Destroyed by Fire, Provided for.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Official information has been given out that the needs of the 13,000 inhabitants of the town Aalesund, Norway, which was destroyed by fire January 24, have been provided for adequately. Several thousand of the people of Aalesund have gone to neighboring towns and villages, and the Hamburg-American line steamer Phoenicia, which was sent out for Aalesund with relief, at the instigation of Emperor William, is caring for 4000 more; she has twenty days' supplies for this number.

DIDN'T REACH DESTINATION.

Wines and Tobacco for Army and Navy Officers Safely Stored Away by Customhouse Officials.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Locked up in a private storeroom on Pier 15 is a pile of cases of wine, cigars and Cuban cigarettes, each case addressed to an officer of the army or the navy. The customs officials have placed their seals upon the cases, however, and unless the officers who own them pay duty, some commercial person will probably bid them in at an appraiser's sale. The goods came on the transport Sumner from Havana, but an officer who got nothing got sore and tipped the customs officers off that the goods were contraband, and seizure and scandal followed.

Quartermaster-General Humphrey, whose wine was seized along with the rest, was chief quartermaster at Havana during the Spanish War. As quartermaster-general he has com, lete control of the transport service, and he and officers under him are expected to work in unison with customs officials to see that dutiable goods are not brought into the United States without being properly declared.

To officers returning from Cuba and the Philippines much latitude has been allowed in the matter of bringing in dutiable goods as personal property, but the privilege has been greatly abused.

PORT ITEMS.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT.

WEATHER: Clear at 5 p.m.; wind southwest, velocity 9 miles.

Another eastern-built steamer is on the way to San Francisco to augment the coasting fleet. The vessel is the steamer Breakwater, which has been purchased by John D. Spreckels of San Francisco to run on this coast in the coal trade. The Breakwater was purchased at New Orleans, and sailed from that port Tuesday of the current week. Capt. Seamens, who formerly commanded the Charina, is in command of the Breakwater, and will bring her around to this coast. The Breakwater is a 700-ton vessel, and will ply between San Francisco and Coos Bay.

A tugboat has been ordered from San Francisco to take the disabled steamer Bonita to that port. Capt. Gibson, master of the Bonita, stated this morning that it would probably be necessary to beach the Bonita and make some repairs to her rudder and steering gear before she could be taken North.

The following masters of Pacific Coast vessels are reported: Schooner Gem, J. Benson, master; steamer City of Dawson, F. L. Kato, master; schooner Gracie S., H. Duggan, master; schooner Regina S., H. Bolten, master; schooner John Lambert, H. E. Melville, master.

The schooner Mabel Gray arrived today from Eureka with 242,000 feet of lumber consigned to the J. M. Griffith Lumber Company of Los Angeles.

The steamer Redondo finished discharging her lumber cargo and cleared for San Francisco with freight and passengers.

The schooner Alice McDonald sailed yesterday from Tacoma with 650,000 feet of lumber for wholesalers at this port.

TOURISTS, as well as residents of California, will be interested in an article in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday, entitled "On the Horse's Back." It tells of the delightful trips people of Santa Barbara take.

MISS ANGIER'S article for the "House Beautiful" the coming Sunday will tell all about orchids and how to raise them.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK.

Food Eaten is Worthless Unless Digested—Some Stomachs Must Have Help.

Food taken into the stomach which, from the nature of the food or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement as far as it goes and a great many dyspeptics go only thus far in their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten and carry out Nature's plans for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year old baby. A strong man doing strong work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bone of a broken limb, which is of course not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of every one.

The Leading Specialist.

PAY WHEN CURED

I make a definite proposal to wait for my fee until you are satisfied that your cure is complete. This, of course, indicates that I have unlimited confidence in my ability, but I want you to have other and better reasons for choosing me as your physician. I want you to consider my vast experience and my unequaled success as a specialist. For more than fifteen years I have been curing cases just like yours and have built up a practice that is by far the largest of its kind west of Chicago. Every method of treatment I employ is original and marks a distinct advance in medical science. Surely, that is by far the largest of its kind considering all these things, you will not remain undecided as to what physician can serve you best.

MEN ONLY

"WEAKNESS"

There is no other physician treating functional weakness by my method of obtaining results that even resemble complete and permanent cures. I employ no tonics, stimulants or electric belts.

"VARICOCELE"

No caustic, no cutting. Mild and painless treatment that restores complete health and tone to the weakened and dilated veins in one week's time. Cannot fail.

I cure Contracted Disorders, Specific Blood Poison, Stricture, etc., by equally advanced methods. I will mail you free my pamphlet, "Live All Your Years a Man." Write for it. Consultation free at office or by mail, and so is colored chart of the sexual organs.

Certainty of a Cure Is What You Want

STATEMENT OF INTEREST TO MANY MEN.

Many men are treated for conditions that do not exist, guessing through the mail is the direct cause for many chronic conditions. Good results cannot be had by such unreliable methods. An effective treatment cannot be given when guessing is resorted to. The exact cause and condition cannot be removed, with any degree of certainty, without personal attention. Certainty of a cure is what you want and you may know just what you can depend upon under my method of treatment.

FUNCTIONAL DECLINE
Fagging of Strength

I believe the treatment I employ in the cure of this derangement is the only scientific, rational and absolutely certain method whereby functional activity of the parts can be fully restored to normal. I do not excite temporary activity. This would be followed by reaction. Instead, I remove the local cause, "EXACT CAUSE" producing the derangement, and restore normal physiological conditions throughout the organic system. As the congestion or inflammation is removed, circulation is increased and the parts take on a healthy, strong and vigorous action, the effect of which is felt throughout the entire body. Men suffering from general debility will find the causes directly traceable to these conditions.

The most cleanly and perfect treatment for contracted diseases, stricture, urethral and bladder trouble.

It is the most effective since it removes the exact cause and restores the membrane to health, completely and quickly eradicates all soreness, irritation, discharge and inflammation. I cure the most aggravated cases in from one week to ten days by knowing just what to do and how to do it.

Varicocele

Many men have treated for this diseased condition and few have found permanent cure. My treatment is thorough and cures in 4 to 6 days, and there is no relapse of the old weakness that accompanied the disease. The treatment is direct, and for the exact cause. It is a treatment not in common use and is the most effective yet known.

Varicocele.

Any man can write an advertisement or copy one, and say he can cure VARICOCELE, but no man can produce you to a large number of well-known business men here in the city and say he is a success in his work. If you want to demand this proof and keep your money in your pocket until you get the proof you will not waste your dollars and your time on smooth advertisers who are not specialists. Please don't forget the above FACTS. We have been curing Varicocele in Los Angeles for 10 years and are ready to show the proof of our statements through our cured patients. Is the above a sensible and fair proposition? We will leave the rest to your judgment.

Vital Decline Can be Cured

About nine years ago here in Los Angeles I wrote and published (in the Times) the first responsible article on the THREE CAUSES and rational treatment of premature weakness. I also pointed out the direct connection of the prostate gland with weakness of the organs, and proved to the profession that my treatment would cure these troubles which heretofore had practically defied all forms of treatment. Since that time nearly all of the prominent specialists in the largest western cities have adopted my methods, with marked success, and at the same time for years my advertisements have been continually copied word for word, by pretended, self-styled specialists all over the land, who have absolutely nothing of my principles of treatment. By thoroughly understanding the true cause of this trouble, I am able to give the desired result by restoring the trouble by natural and scientific means.

Contracted Diseases.

By this we mean specific blood poison, urethral inflammation, stricture, bubo, ulcers and swellings. We have worked out a rational, reliable treatment, unreliable methods for treating this most serious disorder. Patent medicines and treatment by drug clerks are dreadfully dangerous experiments and should on no circumstances be trusted to. The cheapest and best course is to go at once to an able specialist who has the advice and experience necessary to diagnose each case exactly the right time at the right time. You thus avoid dangerous complications which might result in stricture, prevent becoming a lasting annoyance, or oftentimes assuming a dangerous character. Every patient under my care is thoroughly cured before he is discharged. All who come to us receive courteous treatment. Consultation and examination free.

Call at our entrance, 607½ South Broadway, and take one of our pamphlets. It contains a large amount of interesting information which cannot be published in print. Do not fail to get one. Terms are made plain.

BEAUTY OF SKIN AND PURITY OF BLOOD

Ancient and Modern Ideas on These Interesting Subjects.

UP-TO-DATE METHODS

For Purifying and Beautifying the Skin, Scalp, Hair and Hands.

Socrates called beauty a short-lived tyranny, Plato a privilege of nature, Theocritus, a delightful present, Theophrastus a silent chest, Cratinus a solitary kingdom, Homer a precious gift of nature, Ovid a favor of the gods. Aristotle affirmed that beauty was better than all the letters of commendation in the world, while none of these distinguished authorities has left us even a hint of how beauty is to be perpetuated, or the ravages of age and disease defied. That the lilends the lily and the rose with the pallor of age, disease dots the skin with cutaneous disfigurations in crimsons the Roman nose with unsightly flushes, moth, if not rust, corrupts the glory of eyes, teeth, and hair, and beautiful by defacing the one and dims and fills the sensitive soul with

If such be the unhappy case with one afflicted with slight skin or scalp troubles, what must be the feelings of those whom torturing humors for years run riot, covering the body with sores and scabs and clogging the blood with poisonous elements that become a part of the system with each succeeding year?

It is in the treatment of such deep-seated, deep-rooted, deep-reaching humors and affections of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, that the Cuticura remedies have achieved their greatest success, and have proved themselves, beyond question, the most infallible, the most economical, the most agreeable to the most delicate of sensitive, they prevent by yielding to them the most successful curatives of modern times.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Bank Promotion.

W. F. Callander, for the past five years note teller in the Union Bank of Savings, has been made assistant cashier of the German-American Savings Bank. He will take his new position on February 1, and is now receiving the congratulations of his friends upon his promotion.

Dr. Tyndall.

Dr Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall will lecture Sunday afternoon at Blanchard Hall on "What is Thought?" The lecture will be illustrated with demonstrations of the power of thought and various other phases of the marvels of the mind. The reserved seat sale opens at Bartlett's this morning.

Grand This and That.

Mrs. R. G. Bussenius, Grand Marshal N.D.G.W., has received the appointment from Miss Stella Finkeldy of Santa Cruz, Grand President of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, to represent the Grand Parlor of Native Daughters at the Camino Real convention to be held in this city on the 30th inst.

Imperial Course.

The Scottish entertainers, Miss Flora Donaldson of Glasgow and Gavin Spence of Edinburgh are to give the event in the Imperial course made vacant by the illness of Miss Clara Morris, in Simpson Auditorium at 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Spence on a former visit to Los Angeles, made a favorable impression.

Realty Board Dines.

The Los Angeles Realty Board held its regular monthly meeting at Levy's yesterday noon, after a sumptuous luncheon which put the twenty-five or more members in a good humor. Little outside the regular monthly business was transacted. Discussion of the realty situation showed a falling off in the number of transactions.

Conwell's Earthquake.

Russell H. Conwell was greeted with another great audience last night at Simpson Auditorium. His subject was "The Jolly Earthquake;" in other words, the influence of laughter, and he had a veritable earthquake in eruption all evening. He begins with a myth, reciting that when the inhabitants of a certain valley in Switzerland laughed the mountains came tumbling down. Thus he gets his title.

Brought Back for Trial.

Nathan Kleinman, who was arrested several days ago in San Francisco at the request of the Los Angeles police, was brought back from that city last night by Detective Craig. He is charged with grand larceny. He was a clerk in H. DeVor's jewelry store on East First street, and on the 5th inst. stole several watches, rings and a revolver during the noon hour and left the city. He says he will plead guilty.

Fell Off a Car.

Ray Palson, a roomer at No. 121¾ North Main street, narrowly escaped death under the wheels of a Downey-avenue car Wednesday night. It was the last car northbound for the night, and Palson was a passenger. In front of his lodging place he attempted to alight before the car had stopped, slipped and fell almost under the wheels. The steps of the car struck him on the hip, injuring him quite badly. He was also hurt about the face.

Fractured His Ankle.

W. B. Luchenbach of No. 704 Edgeware road, a driver for the Harper-Reynolds Company, was thrown from his wagon at First and Los Angeles street yesterday afternoon, while his team was running away, and sustained a fracture of the right ankle. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where the fracture was reduced. This is the second time Luchenbach has broken his right leg within a year.

A Quiet Wedding.

Alonso M. Whitney and Miss Florence Boyd were united in marriage at 6 o'clock last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 1101 West Orange street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George H. Hilton in the presence of relatives and a few friends and was a quiet and simple affair. Afterward a wedding supper was served. Mr. Whitney is an employé of the Union Hardware and Metal Company. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney will make their home at No. 942 West Eighth street.

Tank and Pumping Plant.

A 15,000-gallon tank is to be built at the South Park carhouse to store the water from the new wells, which are rapidly nearing completion. The tank will be placed between fifty and sixty feet in the air and a pumping plant will be put in to force the water from the wells. "The wells are proving a great success," said General Manager Huntington, "and the big tank will give us a fine supply of water for the carhouse. We will have a splendid pressure for the washing of the cars and other purposes."

Will Lose His Toes.

William Gray, an employé of the Los Angeles Railway Company's powerhouse at Sixth street and Central avenue, was severely injured yesterday afternoon. He was passing a place where a carload of heavy pipe was being unloaded and was caught under one of the pipes which had slipped and fell. His left foot was smashed, the flesh being torn from between his toes and the toes crushed in such a manner that several of them will have to be amputated. The injured man was taken to the Sisters' Hospital. His home is at No. 1454 East Twentieth street.

Church Site Purchased.

The recently-organized Euclid Heights Methodist Church has purchased as a building site for its church edifice the southeast corner of Euclid avenue and Eagle street, from F. A. Pollard. The pastor, Rev. Fred Ross, expects to get the building started during the present conference year. A Sunday-school department will be constructed first, and will be used as a place for public worship until the congregation is able to erect the auditorium. Some of the active workers from the Boyle Heights Methodist Church have cast their lots with the new Euclid Heights Church.

Burton Holmes Lecture.

Last evening Burton Holmes gave an illustrated lecture at Blanchard Hall on St. Petersburg, western end of the Russo-Japanese controversy. The speaker carefully reviewed the history of Russia's capital, and described its people, its vast resources, its manners and customs. Motion pictures of the army gave a fine sample of the vast reserve force of the great Russian nation, and the power of its government. The point of the talk was the probable attitude of the Russian army and government in case of Korean trouble. Mr. Holmes paid much attention to the American legation, our Ambassador and America at the Russian court. Tomorrow afternoon the lecturer will speak on Alaska and tomorrow night upon Peking.

BREVITIES.

At the First Congregational Church, Hope, near Ninth, there will be a hymnal service at 7:30 Sunday evening. The choir will be assisted by a mixed chorus. The hymns of the early Latin fathers will be used.

Tesla's Rain Coaxer.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] They are having a scarcity of rain in Colorado, and it is reported that Nikola Tesla has gone to Colorado Springs, in that State, to institute a series of experiments with his high frequency electrical apparatus with a view to inducing precipitation from the clouds which hover over that region, but fail to yield their precious contents for the benefit of the parched earth.

It is intimated that the recent meteorological disturbances in the East are due to electrical agitations of the ether by means of wireless telegraphy, of which there are many installations along the Atlantic Coast and further in the interior. Sir Oliver Lodge has demonstrated in England that the starting of an electric discharge from a Wimhurst machine will cause atmospheric particles of vapor to cohere and then quickly fall in rain. But the Wimhurst machine is not powerful enough to affect a radius of more than a few hundred feet, while Tesla has a high frequency machine sufficiently powerful to affect a territory several miles in extent. The spark of the Wimhurst machine is only twenty inches long, while Tesla produces one thirty feet in length.

Tesla's experiments in Colorado will be watched with great interest, and, if successful, even to a moderate extent, he should be invited to come to Southern California, and lure the raindrops from our moisture-laden atmosphere. Of course we are not anxious for an accompaniment of cyclones and blizzards, nor need we fear them, as we are protected by topographical features not existing on the Atlantic seaboard.

LORDED OVER WILD TRIBE.

Borneo Governor Guest at a Dinner Party.

His Exciting Adventures in Quelling Insurrection.

Character of the Kipling Sort Visiting City.

When Kipling wants to write a particularly delightful story, one that you can imagine him fairly hugging himself for when it's done, he always takes for a hero just such a man as a modest little Scotchman who was guest of honor at a charming dinner on Soto street last night.

Hon. Alexander Dunlop is like to a T the three men in Kipling's "At the End of the Passage."

The joke of it is that, like them, he hasn't an idea in the world that he is a star.

He is visiting his mother in Los Angeles as a vacation from eighteen years wild life forcing the British rule on the savages of Borneo.

The life he had there sounds like a chapter out of the African border days. It is bewildering to think of such things in these days when the wildest demon is the janitor of your flat.

The dinner was a stag affair, an unusually pretty one, at the residence of his brother, James E. Dunlop, at No. 207 South Soto street. There were present, Messrs. Howard Clark, Dana M. Griffith, W. G. Young, E. B. Rivers, Wm. Chambers, Leo Sutor, P. H. Blades, Kirkhoffer, Holton, James, William and Alexander Dunlop.

If they managed to get the Hon. Alexander to talk of the wonderful experiences of his life, which being a Kipling sort of man, would be just the thing he would fight shy of, the guests must have gone home to dream of big snakes swallowing deer whole, dances of wild headsmen, rebels shot at dawn, attempted assassinations, chases after wild murderers, battles with twenty times their number of natives and such medieval things.

It is an experience to sit with a man who has seen these things and who doesn't think they amount to much.

Doubtless you think a man who went into the heart of the jungle and appointed himself boss of a wild tribe, ruling the tribesmen with a rod of iron, shooting those who objected, must be a tall, lean, muscular "Bah Jove" Englishman.

The Hon. Alexander is a little bit of a man with a voice as gentle as a woman's. He is afraid of reporters.

He is the next man to the Colonial Governor in Borneo, ruling the most important province with the title of "Resident."

The natives there believe he has a charmed life on account of his astonishing escapes from death in battle. Coming from one of his last campaigns in the interior, the natives of every village turned out and did him almost the homage due a native god. They had it figured out in their own minds that he must be supernatural.

His sister told this out in the hall afterward. The Hon. Alexander said he believed he had been in some tight places and that the natives "got accustomed to the rule."

His most thrilling adventure was made famous by the British Parliament which thought he should have ruled savages with love just as the parliaments do in the Kipling stories.

He had been put with a force of native troops to put down a war begun by the tribesmen. The British desired that they stop the custom of taking off people's heads and having dances over them; they objected to stopping.

The little force of native troops having driven the headsmen to cover, the Hon. Alexander decided that they didn't know how to boss well in that tribe. He did not approve of their system of government at all.

He—one 5ft. 6in. man of the dominant race—made up his mind to stay and rule things himself for awhile to get them started right, which he did, sending the troops home and keeping only a bodyguard of twenty-one men—just a fair-sized mouthful.

His first move was not a popular success. He ordered that the head men of the tribe should be found and shot for having stirred up the fuss.

Somehow he did it.

"Was it very dramatic?" he was asked.

The Hon. Mr. Dunlop looked a little abashed. "Well, you see," he said, apologetically. "You see, we were quite in a hurry. No, we just shot them. Parliament was afraid we shouldn't have done it, but we gave them a fair trial, you know."

Now wasn't that aggravating—and Kiplingesque?

"Wasn't there anything impressive about it?"

"I don't know. We just got them out between the trees and ——."

Although he was in a big native insurrection two years ago, Mr. Dunlop says that the worst times are over in Borneo. Fine cities are springing up in districts where not a white man lived when he first came to the coast. He says the "Wild Man of Borneo" very much resembles the Filipino.

SNYDER'S RIVALS FOR MAYORALTY.

HUTCHISON AND TODD BOB UP AS CANDIDATES.

Col. J. Marion Brooks Says the Democratic Eighth is Going to be the Longest-haired Ward of Them All Next Trip.

Snyder or "El Hutch" or Bob Todd? For Mayor which?

It was discovered yesterday that Hutchison and Todd have designs on the Mayor's regalia.

The alarm was sounded in Snyder's office as fast as a Times reporter could dash to the scene. Some kind of commission was just adjourning and His Honor was being interviewed by people with complaints.

"Good news," he said. "I am real glad to hear of it."

"Do you think they can do you out of the job?" he was asked.

The Mayor's reply was very modest.

"Well now," he said, "you are talking with about the poorest politician that ever was. How do I know?"

Save the mark! Snyder's x-ray eye can see a vote through ten miles of brick wall.

"Then why are you glad?"

The Mayor said he was just glad.

"Maybe you want to be Governor, instead?"

"The Governor is three years away; can't say."

"Well then the Mayor is only next fall."

Snyder waved his hand and vanished.

"Well, Mister Snyder," shrieked a reporter after him. "How would it do to run the job with a syndicate, "El Hutch" and Todd, and ——."

Mayor through the door, "Good idea if they keep me out of it."

Col. J. Marion Brooks says that a "longhair" is going to get the votes of the Eighth Ward next election. He says that the Eighth has begun the first wriggle of a spasm of reform.

Good-by, Tom Savage!

The colonel says it is the cribs that did it.

"No, sir," he said yesterday, "the Eighth is going to turn over a new leaf. It will be the longest haired ward in the city next election.

"The folks down there have found out they have been bluffed for years. Those cribs folks have been bulldozing. Now they see it was a hollow bluff. The people who said closing the cribs would drive the fast women all over the city were false prophets; didn't do anything of the kind.

"They are tearing out the cribs; those people have had to move on.

"People who own property down there now see how their property has been hurt, all for nothing. They are going to have a say next time.

"Next voting time, the Eighth will come up with such a pious face that its best friends will not know it."

LOCKED GATES ON MANKIND.

Mrs. Osborn Safe Within Her Castle Walls.

Minions of Law Try in Vain to Dislodge Her.

Police Pass Job up to Health Inspector Furtsch.

What is Mrs. K. B. Osborn's day at home? That question the police are trying to solve.

Mrs. Osborn lives out on McClintock street, and for more than a week she has been denying herself to gentleman callers. It is not of record that Mrs. Osborn is constitutionally a manhater. Her shrinking from the sight of the masculine sex is said to have been noticeable only since she has learned that a warrant is out for her arrest.

It is all due to the alleged untidy condition of the yard surrounding Mrs. Osborn's home. Perhaps if the gentlemen would wait until the place is cleaned up, they would not receive such a chilly reception. No lady likes to receive callers unless everything about her home is shipshape and tidy.

But the minions of the law are an unfeeling lot of fellows and do not stand on ceremony.

In the first place, Health Inspector George Furtsch went nosing around Mrs. Osborn's premises and reported that the place was not in a sanitary condition. Furtsch, although a follower of Old Hickory Jackson and presumed to have the Democratic virtues of his patron saint, in common with the rest of the great unwashed, has nevertheless become a man of fastidious taste since getting a berth in the health department as a reward for his services to the party in recent Democratic campaigns. He will not tolerate any old tin cans or garbage trimmings to any of the properties in his district.

Furtsch, the fastidious, it was who swore out a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Osborn on the charge of keeping her yard in an untidy condition. He left the warrant in the hands of the police for service, but the police are ready to confess their inability to find and capture the woman.

Officer after officer has been dispatched to the residence of Mrs. Osborn with an invitation from Justice Chambers to visit him at his court. Mrs. Osborn has locked her gates against all creatures of the male persuasion and retired within her castle walls.

The scriptural injunction, "Knock and it shall be opened unto you," does not work in this case. Even the postman is denied admission. For four or five days he has called with a registered letter for Mrs. Osborn, but the lady would not open the door to receive it and sign for it.

One watchful policeman thought he saw the elusive woman take refuge in an outhouse. He watched the place for an hour and a half, waiting for her to come forth, but "She cometh not," he said, when at last he raised the siege. The disappointed cop vows she must have escaped to the house by an underground passage.

Yesterday afternoon Capt. Auble sent one more of his trusted officers out to McClintock street to try to effect the capture of Mrs. Osborn. At last accounts he had not returned, and Mrs. Osborn was still safe within her castle walls.

Now the police are about ready to pass the job of arresting the fair offender of the health authorities up to Health Inspector Furtsch, who instigated the desire to have her haled into court, and who is clothed with authority to make arrests in such cases.

If Furtsch expects the police to render him assistance in his crusade against filth, he ought to give them something easy. Mrs. Osborn is too sly to be taken by moral suasion, and the police hesitate to employ force in such a trivial case. They are willing to let Furtsch have all the glory of effecting the capture, if ever it is effected.

LADY 'BEES SWARMING.

Installation of Officers of Hive Number One—Presentation of Solid Silver Tea Service.

With human waving flags and furling banners formed of a marching company, the installation of officers of Los Angeles Hive, No. 1, Ladies of the Maccabees, was celebrated last night at Elks' Hall.

Mrs. Emma Neidig, supreme installing officer, and Mrs. Lina Wilde, supreme mistress at arms, conducted the installation. Mrs. Hattie E. Walker presided during the presentation of a programme which included a reading by Miss Mable Olin, recitations by Alice Williams and selections by a vocal quartette of Hive No. 2. Mrs. Walker made a presentation speech tendering to the retiring commander, Mrs. Jennie Lorguevan, a solid silver tea service. The recipient responded. The three banner bearers, Mmes. E. Nell, C. Axelson and A. Merrill, presented floral tributes to the retiring officers and installing officers. Dancing was enjoyed. Members of the Reception Committee were Mmes. Jennie Weaver, Sophia Keyes, H. P. Reed, M. Millsap, N. Williams and E. Nell.

The newly-installed officers are: Past commander, Jennie Longuevan; lady commander, Hattie E. Walker; lieutenant-cominander, Minnie Clayton; R. K. Mary L. Dennis; F.K., Cora J. Wolfe; chaplain, Mary Coffman; sergeant, Sadie Davis; mistress-at-arms, Olive Bailey; sentinel, N. P. Velay; picket, Mary Cullen; musician, Bessie Mandell.

STONEMASONS BUSY.

Work on Southern Portion of the Quadrangle at Stanford Has Been Resumed.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 28.—Work on the southern portion of the outer quadrangle has been resumed. Since last summer work on the uncompleted portions of the quadrangle has been practically at a standstill. A strike of the stonemasons caused a cessation of operations, but that has now been successfully settled. It is probable that nothing more will be done on the new gymnasium until spring. The contract calls for the completion of that building by the end of this year.

The Boating Association will begin work next week in preparation for the first season of actual boating on Lagunita. The first step will be the removal of the boathouse from its present location to a site across the lake directly southwest from the place where it now stands. Daily practice will begin in about two weeks. The final events in the class regattas will take place about the first of April.

Yesterday afternoon the freshmen were victorious over the sophomores in a game of baseball. The score was 10 to 8.

FIRE BUG IS AT WORK HERE.

NUMEROUS RECENT BLAZES ARE SUSPICIOUS.

Policemen Were Ordered Last Night to Arrest All People Who Can Not Give an Account of Themselves at Fires.

Another blaze suggesting a "firebug" broke out last night. Both police and fire departments believe this, and other recent fires to have been of criminal origin.

Shortly before 7 o'clock fire was discovered in the yards surrounding the shops of the Pacific Electric Railway Company. The fire was on the Alameda-street side of the company's property, and south of Seventh street. In the yard was a large pile of boxes containing excelsior, a score or more of oil barrels, and other inflammable material.

Near-by was one of the large buildings in which the company's cars are repaired, and had the fire spread to this building it might have resulted in serious loss.

The match was applied by some person who entered the grounds from Alameda street, and the fire burned for ten minutes or more before it was discovered.

The firemen succeeded in confining the fire to the pile of boxes and barrels, and kept it out of the buildings. The loss, therefore, was not serious.

WILL ARREST SUSPECTS.

The police were ordered last night to particularly watch for suspicious characters at all fires, and to arrest all persons who cannot give a satisfactory explanation of their presence there. If a person under suspicion is seen at several fires, that will at least be circumstantial evidence that he may know something of the origin of the blazes.

The first of the suspicious fires destroyed the barn and stables of the Los Angeles Brewing Company. This fire resulted in loss of life, the night stable man being kicked to death by a horse which he was attempting to lead out of the burning stable.

Then came the fire at Schurm's cement and lime warehouse at the foot of Turner street, causing a loss of $35,000. Then the barn of the Los Angeles Lighting Company, and, the next day, the warehouse of the Los Angeles Furniture Company were burned, the loss being $80,000. The last serious fire destroyed the plant of the Los Angeles Box and Hive Company on Avenue 18 Wednesday night.

Fire Chief Strohm stated yesterday that he had not the slightest doubt that these several fires were the work of a firebug, who simply delights in seeing a big blaze, and who selects such places as he knows will make a big fire.

MANY SMALL FIRES.

Small fires occurred at various points throughout the city yesterday. At 9:52 o'clock yesterday morning a two-story frame rooming-house at No. 788 Central avenue, occupied by Mrs. Tucker, became ignited by the explosion of a gasoline stove. No serious loss.

At 11 a.m., a still alarm to the No. 4 engine company, called the firemen to a bakery at No. 307 Aliso street. An overheated chimney had set fire to the frame work of the building. The fire was extinguished with a chemical engine.

A gasoline stove exploded at No. 114 East Seventh street at 1:12 (Mrs. Reney's house,) but the loss was not serious. A brush fire on State street, near Bridge, at 2:45 o'clock, and a small fire on San Fernando street caused by the breaking of a trolley wire, completed the list.

DINKEY WAS SWALLOWED.

Work Train Buried by Big Cave-in Yesterday.

Not Even the Smokestack Was Left in Sight.

Earth Yawned on New Garvanza Line—Total Loss.

Had it not been for the fact that men have to eat, a gang of laborers working in the big cut on the new electric line to Garvanza would have been buried alive yesterday. During the noon hour 150 tons of rock caved in from a point thirty feet above the bed of the heavy rock cut just south of Avenue 50 and completely demolished a steam engine and two flat cars, standing on the tracks below. The engine is a total loss and all that is left of the flat cars is a pile of kindling wood.

The train crew and the laborers had just left the cars and had gone over to some near-by live oaks to eat their luncheon and take a noonday smoke in the shade. Interest was centered in a good story told by Chief Engineer Kurtz who happened to be there. He was nearing this point and was about to spring it, when an awful roar broke the stillness. The ground shook and dinner buckets and glasses rolled in all directions as the men jumped to their feet.

"By the powers that be, what has happened?" said Kurtz.

"That ain't no earthquake," said the section boss as he reached for the sandwich he had dropped and hastened after the knot of men climbing the hillside to the cut where the work-train had stood.

"There was not even a smokestack in sight," said Chief Engineer Kurtz, in speaking about it last night. "Just a great pile of rock. No engine, flat cars, tools nor water pail. The men turned white as they stood and looked at it, and the section boss was the first to break the silence: 'I have heard men say that they wished they didn't have to eat, especially when they have just been married, but thank God I have always had a good appetite and don't work overtime.'"

The cave-in had been caused by an open seam which was twelve feet back from the face of the cut and could not have been discovered from above. The seam had widened imperceptibly and the mass of rock had caved suddenly and without warning.

"Let me look at you. Are you all here?" said the boss as he sized up the gang. "Well you are lucky and even the little dog escaped. Being as you were so lucky we will fall to and clear the rubbish away."

THE CRUSHED DINKEY.

BANQUET TO CAREY.

Alderman Thomas Carey and State Senator Bell of Chicago were the guests of the Los Angeles Iroquois Club at a banquet last night at Eagles' Hall, No. 118½ South Spring street. Covers were laid for forty-five, and after the banquet, speeches were made by the two guests, by D. K. Trask and other local Democrats. A telegram of congratulation was sent to Mayor Carter H. Harrison of Chicago on the dismissal of the charge preferred against him as a result of the Iroquois Theater fire. In its telegram the club stated that it "rejoiced in your vindication from unjust and unfounded criticism." It was decided to hold the annual banquet of the club on Jefferson's birthday. At next week's meeting delegates will be chosen to the annual assembly of the State League of Iroquois Clubs to be held in San Francisco beginning February 22.

HIT BY MAIL BAG.

Arguments were concluded yesterday in the case of John Goldsworthy vs. the Santa Fé Pacific Railroad Company, on trial before United States Judge Wellborn, wherein plaintiff seeks to recover damages to the amount of $25,000 for injuries received in August, 1901, at the station of Danby. Plaintiff seeks to hold the railroad company responsible for allowing the dangerous disregard of the postal department's regulations against throwing mail pouches off at a station while a train is in motion. Attorney W. J. Hunsaker for plaintiff sought to impeach the testimony of Mail Clerk Shotts, and in his final argument yesterday afternoon directed some warm replies to Attorney Norton for the Santa Fé. The case will go to the jury today.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council, convened in special session yesterday, instructed the City Attorney to draw a contract in accordance with the proposition advanced by the West Side and West Los Angeles water companies for the sale of their system to the city. A bond election will be called within the next four months.

A plan to issue $150,000 in bonds for the construction of a large impounding reservoir was filed with the Council yesterday by the Water Commission.

Judge York yesterday denied the application for divorce in the sensational Ingram case, and incidentally alluded to some of the evils attending the present loose marriages and frequent divorces.

A jury in the Township Court yesterday decided that hop ale with 2 per cent. of alcohol is non-intoxicating, and returned a verdict of not guilty in case of W. A. Caldwell of El Monte, charged with selling liquor without a license.

Leonora Aldrich has been adjudged to be the true wife of the late Dr. Ellerton Aldrich, who was killed at the Hotel Savoy early last year.

AT THE CITY HALL.

WATER PLANT BOND ELECTION.

COUNCIL WILL SUBMIT OFFER TO THE VOTERS.

Purchase of West Side System Discussed by City Fathers—Mulholland Says Valuation is What Plant is Worth to City.

Within the next four months the voters of Los Angeles will decide at the polls whether the system of the West Side and West Los Angeles Water companies shall be acquired by the city at a cost of $337,000. At a special session yesterday afternoon the Council instructed the City Attorney to present a contract in accordance with the proposition from the companies in question originally submitted to the Water Commission.

This action was offered in the form of a resolution which recited the terms offered by the companies and contained the following expression from the Water Commission:

"Be it resolved as the sense of the Water Commission that it is for the best interests of the city of Los Angeles to acquire said properties at said price, substantially upon the terms outlined in the proposition submitted by the water companies, and, inasmuch as the acquisition of said properties will require the voting of bonds and the concurrent action of the City Council, be it further resolved that the proposition be referred to that body for action."

The long resolution ended with the following findings of the Council:

"Be it resolved that the Council approves of and concurs in the aforesaid resolution of the Board of Water Commissioners and that the City Attorney be instructed to prepare a form of contract as provided for in said proposition and to submit the same to the City Council and the Board of Water Commissioners."

The tentative proposition finally submitted over the signature of C. A. Hooper, president of both companies, to the effect that, provided the formal contract must be signed up by February 1 or the company would refuse to be obligated by the terms of its offer. The Council therefore plans to take final action, accepting the proposition of the water companies, next Monday.

Four months was the time stipulated in the informal agreement within which the purchase must be consummated by the city. The other principal points of the agreement are:

The city may sell the bonds, if voted, outright and pay the companies $337,500 in cash, or the companies will purchase for par and accrued interest that amount of bonds bearing 5% per cent. interest.

If the sale is finally consummated the revenue of the plant, less the operating expenses and the cost of betterments agreed upon by the companies and the superintendent of the city water department, is to go to the city until the company is in receipt of 6 per cent. interest on the purchase price, from the date of the signing of the contract.

Until such time as the companies can make needed extensions of their mains so as to supply Hollywood, Dayton Heights and other points from independent sources the city agrees to deliver to the companies 2,000,000 gallons of water daily at the Franklin avenue reservoir and in return the companies agree to pump into the city mains a like amount of water from thenr Jefferson-street pumping plant. This arrangement, it is provided, shall in no case continue for longer than three years.

Pending the vote of the people on the bonds all litigation is to remain in statu quo and in the event that the sale is consummated the water companies will have the appeal dismissed leaving the decision of the Supreme Court as the final judgment.

Practically the entire equipment of the West Side and West Los Angeles Water companies is in first-class condition, according to a statement made last night by Superintendent William Mulholland of the city water department, who is recognized as the best of authority on such points. The system has been built up in the last ten years in a rapidly-growing section of the southwest. The territory served by the mains of these companies is bounded on the north by Wilshire boulevard, on the east by Hoover street and Wesley avenue and on the south and west by the city boundaries.

That portion of the system which it is proposed to sell to the city for $337,500 cost, according to the books of the company, $784,000. Fred Eaton, former Mayor and well-known engineer at the request of the company made an estimate of the cost of the plant and his figure was within a few hundred dollars of the actual cost as shown by the books, although he was denied all knowedge of what the book figures were, it is said.

Superintendent Mulholland and the Water Commission made an estimate of what the plant was worth to the city, entirely irrespective of its value as a plant. Their figure was $325,000. Portions of the plant that could not be made to fit in with the general plan for a complete municipal system were not considered in their estimate.

Land owned by the West Los Angeles Water Company above the Big Tejunga was valued by the commissioners at $50 an acre. About two years ago the city purchased land adjacent to and nearly surrounding this property at the rate of $150 an acre. Other pieces of property, it is said, were valued in much the same way.

Superintendent Mulholland and the Water Commissioners believe that the figure agreed upon is a conservative estimate of the actual value of the plant to the city.

The reason given for the desire of the companies to sell is the probability that eventually the city can drive them out of business by litigation. Several years have been spent by the city in litigation already, and the case is now in the State Supreme Court. Beyond the decision in that court looms the United States Supreme Court, as the tribunal of last resort. Several generations may come and go before the case is finally decided. The commissioners believe that it is the part of economy to purchase the plant at the compromise figure.

Should the city win in the courts the companies can continue to supply water until such time as the city has placed mains throughout the southwest section. This would mean the laying of new mains to parallel those of the company already in the streets, and said by the water experts to be in good condition.

If the bonds are voted the interest and sinking fund will be paid from the revenues of the water system. Nothing will be added to the tax rate by the purchase, and the West Side residents will pay for their own plant. There are now 3500 taps, and the revenue from the plant is about $75,000 a year.

The Water Commissioners and all but one of the Councilmen believe that the benefits to accrue to the West End residents from municipal ownership amply justify the purchase of the water plant at the price named. They are convinced that there is such merit in the proposition that it should at least be submitted to a vote of the people and that without delay.

IMPOUNDING RESERVOIR.

When the Council meets next Monday it will also consider the request of the Water Commission that an issue of $150,000 in bonds be submitted to a vote of the people for the construction of a large impounding reservoir to hold 1,000,000,000 gallons of water. Plans for this reservoir have been on file in the water department for a long time. It was originally intended to construct the big reservoir out of the revenues of the water plant, and the Water Commissioners say that this can still be done, but that the city will have to wait several years for the improvement. If the bonds are voted now the reservoir can be built at once, and the interest and sinking fund met from the revenues of the plant. In this way the same result would be attained several years earlier than would be possible if the commissioners are compelled to wait until sufficient revenue accumulated. The cost will be just the same either way, and the money will come from the same source with the exception that forty-year serial bonds will extend the payment for this permanent improvement over a greater stretch of time and lighten the burden on the consumers of today.

The site chosen for this great tank in the hills to be known as the "Ivanhoe Reservoir" is north of Effie street and about a mile west of Alvarado street. The natural contour of the ground is such that by building a dam at Effie street, a lake over a mile in extent can be formed. Should this water through exposure become unfit for domestic use it could be utilized to supply the parks and so conserve the regular supply in summer.

At present, although this is a dry season, succeeding a number of dry years more than 1000 inches of water is going to waste. If this water could be stored against the hot summer season a considerable saving would be effected.

POLE NUISANCE.

WEST ADAMS-STREET WAR.

Next Monday evening has been fixed upon as the time for the meeting of the Council as a committee of the whole to consider the request of West Adams-street residents that the lighting and telephone poles be removed from their street. The question came before the Council on a petition which was referred last Monday at the request of the Committee on Legislation to the committee of the whole. The West Adams-street residents want the Council to include their street in the conduit district, and the City Attorney has said the legislative body has the power. Before the Council next Monday night there will be a test of strength between an organization including many of the most wealthy and prominent citizens and the lighting and telephone companies.

Last night there was an enthusiastic meeting of the Citizens Committee that is marshaling the forces for the fight. R. J. Waters, John D. Hooker and J. W. McKinley met with their attorney, Charles Cassatt Davis, and outlined a plan of campaign. R. W. Poindexter, the other member of the committee, was out of the city. It was decided, among other things, to have a full attendance of citizens at the meeting, and it is probable that a large number of the elite will secure their first glimpse of the Council chamber, where municipal laws are made and unmade by the City Fathers.

Trees along West Adams street have been ruthlessly slashed by the companies, according to the Citizens' Committee, and residents are determined to secure some relief from the authorities. They say that if the poles are removed they will improve West Adams street and make of it one of the finest drives in the city. While their shade trees are subject to continued mutilation they feel that attempts to improve the street are largely futile.

Much data has been gathered showing how these trees are protected in Washington, Boston, Chicago, New York and other cities, and this will be presented to the Council. Some of the legislators declare, however, that the Adams-street people are no more entitled to relief than the residents of other streets, and declare that they will submit a general plan whereby all the wires in the settled sections of the city can gradually be put underground.

Owns Park Lands.

At the meeting of the Park Commission yesterday morning Commissioner Jones was charged with the duty of making some satisfactory settlement with I. W. Hellman regarding certain of his lands which lie in Elysian Park. The city would like very much to acquire these lands, which are of no great value, and Maj. Jones will endeavor to secure them either by donation or purchase. For years the city has leased Mr. Hellman's holdings at a nominal figure, barely sufficient to pay the taxes on them.

MRS. INGRAM, THE BEAUTY WHO WAS CRUEL TO HER HUSBAND.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

THE BRIDE SHE WAS SNAPPY.

EMANUEL JUNGQUIST HAD TO ASK MOTHER'S CONSENT.

Young Couple Fill in a Long Wait in the Courthouse, by Sitting Down and Spatting at One Another.

A quiet, unassuming young man with an unpronounceable name applied for a marriage license yesterday afternoon. He spelled it out, as Emanuel Jungquist, and though it looks easy, it didn't sound like that. He said that he was born in Iowa, and wanted to marry. So much had been assumed, for by his side was a little slip of a girl, rather pretty, but trying to look angry, and she made quite a success of it. At the same time there was a touch of the ludicrous, for while she was a mite of a girl her lover stood 6 ft. in his stockings.

A middle-aged man, bearing the soil marks of toil, appeared to chaperon the young people, and by virtue of his having been through it all before, he tried to make things run smoothly, but, somehow, they wouldn't run.

The girl turned her back upon her father, and made snappy replies to her lover under her breath. Then when the young Goliath gave his name and said that he was only 20 years old, the first hitch took place. He was told that he must have the consent of his parents. The father of the girl volunteered to go down to the boy's mother's place and get her consent, as he had left the workshop on his wheel, he said, and would be back in half an hour.

When he left the marriage license office the two sweethearts sat down in a dark corner, but instead of proceeding to whisper nothings to one another they had a first-rate spat.

After nearly an hour of that kind of thing the father returned, looking very tired. He had asked the mother for permission for her boy to marry his girl, and the old lady had acquiesced, and put it down in black and white. Then the father volunteered the information that Belle was his eldest, and for that reason, if no other, he hated to see her leave home.

Being asked her name in full, the girl said it was Belle Hayes, 18 years old, and born in Nebraska.

"Do you spell Hayes with an 'e' or an 'a'?" innocently inquired Sam Kutz.

"You can spell it anyway you choose," answered the pleasant little woman, and Sam shut up like a clam.

Miss Hayes turned her back on her father, but did condescend finally to yield up the key of his own house. When it was discovered that the hour for closing had arrived, and that a justice could not be found in the Courthouse she made that as an additional cause against both her father and her lover. She wanted to know what they were going to do, anyway.

Sam Kutz tried to help the little party out, but he had been snubbed once, and went carefully to work. Mr. Hayes appeared grateful, but the midget wife sailed out of the office with her head up in the air, while her lofty fiancé trailed after her, and the careworn father brought up the rear.

BAIL FORFEITED.

BABY FOOD COMES HIGH.

Carl M. Clauder failed to make answer in Judge Smith's department yesterday and his bail was declared forfeited.

The defendant was arrested and held on a burglary charge, but not a little sympathy was extended to him, when he made it known that he had wandered from the path of rectitude and virtue in order to get bread for his young wife and babies. Clauder's bail was fixed at $1000, but he worked the sympathetic plea for all it was worth, and finally his bail was reduced to $500. Then B. Lewandowski and O. C. Zahn qualified on his bond, the former proving up as a decorator and the latter as a merchant.

Now the bond has been declared forfeited, and suit will be begun to recover the $800 for the county.

FEES AND FINES.

JUSTICE YOUNG'S RECORD.

During the month of January the record has been broken in Justice Young's Court for the amount of fees and fines gathered in. At the month's end there will be at least $1200 to turn into the County Treasurer's funds, and this is a larger amount than has ever been collected during any one month before. A very large proportion of the sum was received in the way of fines in the liquor cases, and in the prosecution of these cases the District Attorney and the officials of the court have stood together to earnestly and efficiently try out all infractions of the liquor law.

In no court have the same high-class juries been impaneled as in the trial of these cases. Constable De la Monte summoned into court the best men he could find down Broadway and Spring street, and gave the sponges and the loafers the go-by. Convictions followed, and if a slip occasionally occurred, it was more on account of witnesses failing to stand up and testify rather than be cause of any lapse on the part of the court, the prosecuting attorney, or the facts themselves.

NO HELP FOR INGRAMS.

COURT REFUSES DIVORCE.

Mrs. Anna Cornelia Ingram has been refused a decree divorcing her from William A. Ingram, for in practical effect, Judge York's finding that so far as the charges of "extreme cruelty" are concerned honors were about even.

In a very interesting and lengthy opinion in this sensational case Judge York has taken occasion to say some very opportune things regarding the marriage relations, and the frequency of divorces. The stand also that he has taken in this case is an independent one, for in refusing to grant the decree on the ground of recrimination, where the same has not been pleaded, he frankly states that he does not know that such point has ever been passed upon by the Supreme Court of the State. Nevertheless he gains warrant for such course from a wide range of authorities, and from the spirit of equity as applied to divorce proceedings.

From November, 1903, up to a very recent date, Mrs. Ingram, who is a cultured woman of means, and a teacher of music and languages, charged her husband with extreme cruelty in inflicting great bodily harm and grievous mental suffering by calling her vile, vulgar and indecent names in the presence of friends; by threats to commit suicide in her presence, and otherwise shocking her nervous system.

The husband denied these allegations, and Judge York points out that while he does not charge his wife with cruelty Ingram's testimony, much of it corroborated by Mrs. Ingram, showed cruelty committed by her against him equaling or even exceeding in degree the cruelty shown to have been inflicted by the erratic and excitable husband.

The Ingrams were married in Los Angeles, May 14, 1902, after a three days' courtship that followed their meeting in a restaurant. "Their married life," says the court, "has been one of sunshine and shadows—principally shadows. Each has been guilty of petty annoyances to the other, and each has threatened suicide in the presence of the other. Both have been remiss in their considerations of marital duties and obligations, and each has been somewhat selfish, irritable, unjust, intolerant, unforbearing and sometimes unforgiving. The plaintiff's case standing alone, without consideration of the showing of recrimination would be scarcely sufficient to justify a divorce to her on the ground of extreme cruelty."

In an examination in detail of the charges preferred by both parties to the action, Judge York thus sums up the importance of the marriage relation: "The public is vitally interested in marriage. Without marriage, no homes; without homes, anarchy; the reign of discord, discontent, unrestrained strife and terror. With homes we have a great, powerful and just nation; magnificent, independent states and a guarantee of equal justice, concord, peace and liberty without vicious license. We must, therefore, ever look with jealousy upon laws authorizing divorces, and the public interests must be guarded in construing such laws and enforcing them."

Judge York gives his reasons for taking cognisance of the recrimination on the part of the wife, though that had not been pleaded by the husband, and on this ground refuses the divorce. The suggestion of a mutual suicide he pronounces absurd, unchristian, wicked and disgusting. Both made threats which they did not appear to have any idea of carrying to a conclusion.

"God may not have joined them together, but their separation should not make a precedent for the divorcing of parties whom God has joined. In a lax administration," proceeds the court, "of the law of divorce, courts should not encourage inconsiderate marriages, which are liable to result if parties may consider that they can be easily extricated from an unfortunate marital dilemma."

HOP ALE GOES.

EL MONTE LIQUOR MILD.

W. A. Caldwell is the heavyweight resident at El Monte, who was arrested for selling "American Hops Ale" without a license. This beverage is advertised as a temperance drink, and upon the bottles captured as evidence there was a guarantee that the contents did not contain more than 3 per cent. alcohol.

Yesterday a jury in Judge Young's court decided that Caldwell was not guilty of selling intoxicating liquor. Justice Downing presided at the trial, and before the jury filed back into the court to return their verdict he had the defendant take a seat inside the rail. Caldwell faced the jury with a devil-may-care expression, but when he heard them return their verdict of not guilty he stood up and gave the glad hand to each juror as he passed out.

The jurors after trying the case all day didn't even know the defendant. "What, are you the defendant?" inquired one man as he passed. Learning that he was he added, "Good for you," and wrung the liquor seller's hand.

Caldwell didn't appear to be able to just size up the situation, but as he stood in court twiddling his hat a juror returned and gave him his cue.

"Say, the gang's outside waiting for you to set 'em up," he remarked. Caldwell received the suggestive invitation as a happy idea, and he drifted out into the night with "the jury of his peers."

Dr. R. V. Day testified that the hop ale contained by analysis 2 91-100 per cent. of alcohol, and that it is intoxicating when of that strength. Dr. G. W. Campbell testified to the same effect. A number of other bottles of the liquid were brought into court, and strange to say these bottles bore a guarantee that not more than 2 per per cent. of alcohol was contained in the bottle. There apparently is a sliding scale of alcoholic strength to suit the occasion.

A number of citizens from El Monte testified that the hop ale was merely a refresher, and that it in no way ruffled them, or made them feel "dopy." Deputy District Attorney Fleming, however, argued that if no ill effects were felt it was rather because those who had testified had been trained in the "open" school and their "innards" were proof against such mild intoxicants as hop ale.

But, as indicated, the jury thought otherwise, and the first attack made by the District Attorney upon the so-called temperance drinks scored a lamentable failure.

COMMISSIONS ASKED.

FREEMAN'S RANCH CASE.

The involved suit of P. A. Stanton and G. W. Van Alstyne against Archie C Freeman, to recover a very large sum as commissions alleged to be due under certain agreements made with the defendant, came to trial before Judge Trask yesterday. The entire day Mr. Stanton was upon the witness stand, but the facts of the case were not developed beyond identifying and putting in evidence several agreements, escrow deeds, and documents of similar character.

All of the lands involved are in and formed a part of the Centinella Rancho, and the first agreement of sale was entered into on April 24, 1902, by which Stanton and Van Alstyne were appointed the agents to sell certain lands for $128,800.

THE ALDRICH WIDOWS.

LEONORA WINS HER CASE.

Judge Wilbur yesterday decided the contested will case of the late Dr. Ellerton W. Aldrich, who met his death while forcibly resisting arrest in the Hotel Savoy on Broadway more than a year ago. The court found that Leonora Aldrich was the lawful widow of the deceased and entitled to inherit his estate. The court ascertained from the records that Aldrich had been married three times, as follows: To Emma L. Gould, August 17, 1874; to Sarah Olive Chandler, December 15, 1880, and to Leonora, December 14, 1898.

In 1879 Dr. Aldrich tried to secure a divorce from his wife, Emma, and a decree was entered purporting to dissolve the marriage, but it was contended this was void, as the Nebraska court never obtained jurisdiction of the wife. Judge Wilbur took this view of the case, apparently, for after going over all the evidence with great care he finally came to the conclusion that the testimony preponderated in favor of Leonora as against the claims of Sarah, his marriage to her having been defective because of his marriage to Emma, the first wife, not having been dissolved.

COURT NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

TRUST COMPANY. The United States Trust Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $5,000,000, divided into 50,000 shares of the par value of $100. The directors are L. K. Parks, F. W. Wachter, John Van Lieu, F. F. Graves and William T. Lisenby, all of Los Angeles.

DIVORCE GRANTED. William W. Walker was granted a decree by Judge York yesterday divorcing him from Hertha M. Walker, on the ground of desertion. In the same department Helen R. Maxwell was granted a decree divorcing her from Harry B. Maxwell, on the ground of failure to provide.

MORE CLAIMS. C. J. Heyler has begun another action against Ed D. Silent, this time to recover $2000 for services alleged to have been rendered in the house-rental department of Mr. Silent's business.

SENT TO HIGHLAND. Mary Hansen was ordered committed to Highland by Judge Wilbur yesterday on the insanity charge. The patient has been living at the Young Women's Boarding Home on Fourth street, and has made her living sewing. She said that she heard angel voices talking to her, and saw bright lights sometimes flashing before her. Miss Hansen was born in Denmark.

WORN-OUT SUIT. The suit of W. C. Furrey against A. Haas et al. was dismissed by Judge Oster yesterday, sitting for Judge Allen in Department Six. This is a relic of the old days of the "Committee of Fifteen." The suit was one brought by Furrey against the members of the committee to recover damages for certain unpleasant things alleged against him in connection with furnishing supplies to the Board of Education. The case went to trial and Furrey won so far that he was awarded his costs. Then he was going to appeal, and since then the case has been dragging along until yesterday, when the whole thing was wiped out.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

MADE DEAD DUCK OF PROSECUTION.

ZAISER WINS A VICTORY OVER THE GAME WARDEN.

Witnesses for the People Prove Disappointing and Jury Returns a Verdict for the Defense in Celebrated Wild Duck Case.

"Dead ducks" is what a jury made of Game Warden H. I. Pritchard and Deputy District Attorney Frederickson yesterday in Justice Chambers's court. Pritchard and Frederickson were prosecuting Louis G. Zaiser on the charge of having in his possession in one calendar day more than fifty dead wild ducks, which is a misdemeanor under the county game ordinances.

Zaiser is a member of the Zaiser Produce Company of No. 369 South Los Angeles street. The alleged offense was committed on December 31, when, the game warden alleges, he traced to Zaiser's possession two bags of ducks, one containing forty-six and the other fourteen birds, making a total of sixty.

Pritchard alleges further, that on that day the Zaiser Produce Company sold to the Angelust Hotel, the Westminster and the Mott Market ducks in the aggregate in excess of fifty. He thought he was prepared to prove this by the testimony of the stewards or purchasing agents of those concerned, but when the witnesses were called they threw the prosecution down.

The steward of the Angelus and other witnesses could not remember for a certainty whether they purchased or received dead ducks, or how many, from the Zaiser Produce Company that day.

The trial was attended by a number of persons interested in the strict enforcement of the game laws. The prosecution was anxious to make out a case against Zaiser, because his company was suspected of systematically and wilfully violating the game laws by marketing game slaughtered by pot hunters in excess of the amount allowed to be killed or had in the possession of one individual or firm in a single day. Game Warden Pritchard diligently camped on the trail of the suspects and thought he had a cinch case against Zaiser, especially as the latter at the time of his arrest said he guessed that he would plead guilty as the cheapest and least bothersome way of getting out of the difficulty, so Pritchard says, Zaiser's brother, however, was for fighting the case, so a jury trial was demanded and it was had yesterday.

The forenoon was spent in getting a jury, and at the afternoon session the prosecution put on its witnesses. To the surprise of Pritchard and Deputy District Attorney Frederickson, the witnesses upon whom they had most relied did not testify at all as was expected. Mr. Frederickson was for dismissing the complaint without submitting the case to the jury. Attorney Willis and Davis for the defense wanted the jury to decide the matter. The defense rested without offering any evidence and the court instructed the jury to acquit the defendant, which was done without delay.

Though the result was quite to the contrary of what Game Warden Pritchard expected, he says he intends to keep after the violators of the duck ordinance until the close of the season.

COHN'S CHANGE OF VENUE.

FLUKE IN HIS EXAMINATION.

The preliminary examination of Louis Cohn, on a charge of receiving stolen property, came to a sudden end in Justice Austin's court yesterday, but Cohn is not yet out of the meshes of the law.

Cohn is the manager of a second-hand store on East First street, and is charged with purchasing a diamond ring of the value of $150 from a boy named Gemmill for 25 cents. Gemmill has confessed that he stole the ring from Mrs. Alice Castillo of Duarte, and he alleges that he sold the valuable jewel to Cohn for two bits. Detectives Baker and Davis, who arrested Cohn, believe the boy's story, and charge Cohn with receiving the ring, knowing that it was stolen property. Cohn denies it and has thus far succeeded in keeping the ring secluded, that is if he ever had it.

The accused shop-keeper has remained in jail ever since his arrest a week ago, being unable to furnish bond for so large an amount as $2500. He was to have had his preliminary examination yesterday afternoon, and the courtroom was well filled with sympathizing friends when the hour for his hearing arrived. The defendant appeared in court accompanied by his wife and Attorney Allender, who has been employed to defend him.

Mrs. Castillo was called to the witness stand for the prosecution to tell about the theft of her valuables by the Gemmill boy whom she had taken on probation from the Juvenile Court in the hope of reforming him. Before she could proceed with her testimony, Attorney Allender interposed with a request that all persons be excluded from the courtroom during the examination, except such as were required or allowed to be present by the statutes. He intimated that there were persons present for the purpose of coaching witnesses.

Prosecuting Attorney Beebe took exceptions to this move on the part of the defense and asked the court for a continuance of the case, as he (Mr. Beebe) had not had time to familiarize himself with the case and had some doubts as to the soundness of the complaint. If Mr. Allender was going to make a technical defense, the prosecution wanted to be prepared to meet it.

Justice Austin, upon examining the complaint, pronounced it defective in that Mrs. Castillo's name appeared as Costello. Allender suggested amendment by interlineation, but the court told him he ought to know better than that a complaint could be amended in that way.

Mr. Beebe then moved the dismissal of the complaint with the privilege of filing a substitute. This motion was granted and the prisoner recommitted to the custody of the Chief of Police.

Later in the day Mr. Beebe filed a new complaint against Cohn in Justice Chambers's court. Cohn was arraigned and had his examination set for next Monday at 2 o'clock, with bail fixed at $2000, in default of which he was remanded to jail. The new complaint charges the same offense as the old one. The only change in the wording of it is in the spelling of Mrs. Castillo's name.

By the filing of a new complaint Cohn gets a change of venue, for which Justice Austin and his clerk are thankful.

BALLERINO CASE.

JURY STILL INCOMPLETE.

Three days have been spent in Justice Austin's court in the attempt to get a jury to try Bartolo Ballerino and Joseph Wiot on the charge of renting an apartment to Rose West for immoral purposes. The special venire of forty-eight talesmen was exhausted yesterday, out of whom only three were found acceptable. This makes a total of only eight jurors sworn in, out of a total of 143 examined. Another special venire of fifty was ordered returnable at 10 o'clock this morning. The eight already qualified have been excused from further attendance until 10 o'clock Saturday morning, by which time it is hoped the jury will be completed. Attorney E. L. Hutchinson, for the defense, has four peremptory challenges left, and he says he will use them all before he will accept the twelfth man for the jury. Deputy City Attorney Beebe has only two peremptory challenges left of the number allowed the prosecution. Most of the talesmen are excused "for cause," on account of having very positive opinions as to the guilt of the defendants. Many of those who have been excused declared that they would not believe Ballerino or any one of his unsavory reputation on oath.

Cruel Driver Muleted.

W. C. Smith, a driver for Contractor Charles Stansbury, was fined $10 yesterday by Justice Chambers for cruelly beating a mule with the butt end of a loaded blacksnake whip. Smith pleaded guilty and offered no evidence in justification of his act. Waterman Edmonds and Deputy Humane Officer Zimmer testified to hearing complaints of cruel treatment of animals at Stansbury's grading camp near Pasadena, and that on going there to investigate they saw Smith wantonly strike a mule that was pulling its best, in the eye with the butt end of the whip. He paid his fine without a murmur.

Wheelmen up Against It.

Four wheelmen were haled into Police Court yesterday by a policeman, Officer Glenn, and by Justice Chambers for riding on the walks. L. R. Saunders, Adolph Matias and W. H. Frowen were let off on $2 each, but R. J. Ellis, who had trouble for the arresting officer, was mulcted for $5.

BRAGDON HOME IS THROWN OPEN.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION IN HONOR OF MISS RANSOM.

Floral Effects Strikingly Artistic and Elegant — Carriage Drivers Have a Grievance—Presbyterians to Expand—Business Changes.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 1 South Raymond avenue, Jan. 29.—There are many beautiful homes in Pasadena, but none whose atmosphere of furnishings speak more pointedly of cultured elegance and refinement than the home of Mrs Charles Cushman Bragdon, who yesterday entertained with a large afternoon reception in honor of her sister and guest, Miss Ransom of East Auburndale, Mass.

The floral decorations were elaborate. Spring colors in flowers were used in the different rooms, which are all more than spacious. The reception hall was banked in green, potted plants affording a background for a few brilliant Bougainvillias. The balustrade was twined with smilax and ropes of the same extended from window cornice to door-arch.

The dining-room treatment was extremely effective with asparagus ferns in low bank about the picture moldings and from this sprang pink carnations as if growing there. Light festoonings of these ferns were festooned to the center chandelier and from there carried to pink-shaded candelabras at the corners of the table. This was banked also with ferns and pink carnations. Pink carnations were in the silver candelabra and with a group of pretty maids assisting, all dressed in pink or white, the color scheme was pronounced and beautiful. In the drawing-room white hyacinths and asparagus plumosus, white carnations and smilax were used in exceptional arrangement. The frieze here was a bank of white carnations springing from the ferns and the mantel was banked with hyacinths. In front of the fireplace, which was filled with palms, two tall white candles stood candlestick-like in their massive gold candlesticks.

Mrs. Bragdon wore a handsome costume of pale-green brocade satin with trimmings of Duchess lace; Miss Ransom's gown was pale-gray crepe de chine.

The library was lovely in white roses and fernsonia and in each of the many apartments opened, some flower and greenery were used in decoration.

The light was excluded and the light that was soft and cathedral like, was made by candles matching in tint the floral decorations.

Musical music added to the pleasures of the occasion. The room which received the most attention was the gallery, which contains many rare and celebrated paintings and choicest etchings of many kinds.

Among the unbonneted ladies were: Mrs. William Stanton, F. H. Valentine, K. Macomber, Ernest Hoag, Jesse C. Mann, Rose Whitmore, W. Watts, John Bragdon, Theodore Bragdon, James Swan. The punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. J. F. Parker. Mrs. Herman Bridge, Mrs. Gertrude Macey, Mrs. R. T. Vandevort, Mrs. John B. Miller presided at the tea table. The bonneted maids assisting were: Agnes Markham, Alice Markham, Ruth Rowland, Whitmore, Fisher, Carpenter, Vallette, Dowling, Watts, Otis, Rothehous, Holmes, Bradshaw, Nevin, Hampton, Cloud, Stehman, Bragdon and Coolidge.

There were more than three hundred guests who enjoyed Mrs. Bragdon's hospitality between the hours of 3 and 5.

CARRIAGE DRIVERS PROTEST.

The public carriage drivers of Pasadena have a grievance against which they are registering a strong kick. They say that the Board of Trade hoodwinks them out of the whole of the Los Angeles tourist business. A few weeks ago the Board of Trade had a special "seeing Pasadena" arrangement with a Los Angeles tourist agency whereby the beauties of the Crown City were to be systematically advertised to tenderfoots. At the invitation of officers of the board a speaking conveyance was hired and the party made a rate to tourists holding a ticket from the Los Angeles concern of $1 per person for a ride about the principal streets and points of interest, occupying a little over an hour. The regular charges, which are fixed by city ordinance, are $1.50 per person for the first hour, and $1 for each hour thereafter. The carriage men did not like the idea of some one else offering a different particular brand of goods at a lower price, and the Board of Trade made their complaint by taking off the special rig and offering the business to the carriage drivers generally. A few have taken it at the reduced rate, but the majority have rebelled and some of them refuse to haul the Board of Trade tourists at any price. The carriage men argue that this difference in rates is unjustice and they propose to have a fight.

"We are paying a license to do business here and we are complying with every clause of the city ordinance," said H. Card as spokesman for the disgruntled drivers yesterday afternoon. "We object to paying an additional license to the Board of Trade, after to give us 40 cents for every hour we haul and keep 10 cents to ourselves, when even at the regular rate it is hard living enough for us, the price of feed where it now is. The carriage drivers, many of them, have resided in Pasadena for years and are always eager to sing its praises to the visiting stranger and in this respect they do more for the good of the town than any other class of citizens. The Board of Trade would traduce the carriage drivers in the eyes of visiting tourists just because we are trying to make an honest living. It is a mean deal."

Secretary Coolidge of the Board of Trade said: "I cannot see how we are using the carriage drivers any injustice. We offered the business to all the drivers alike, and some of them don't like it and they kick. If they don't want to haul these tourists they don't have to, and that's all there is about it."

PRESBYTERIANS EXPAND.

Following the recent action of the denominationalists of Pasadena in deciding to erect a new house of worship on Marengo avenue, trustees of the First Presbyterian Church have been under consideration for an extensive addition to their church building at the northwest corner of Colorado street and Worcester avenue. Under the guiding hand of its pastor, Rev. Malcolm J. McLeod, the church has grown to such a size that the present quarters have been found totally inadequate. It was a moot question whether to build an entire new church or to add a wing to the already magnificent structure, but the latter move has been decided upon. An addition to cost $25,000 will be built on the north and the old struc-

PHILANTHROPY OF JEFFRIES.

Sold Everything for Less Than He Paid.

Unable to Tell What Became of All His Money.

Ex-Sergeant of Police W. T. Jeffries was in Justice Pierce's court yesterday teaching a Latin class. There were Le Compte Davis, Oscar Lawler and R. W. Coleman as the principal pupils, with a miscellaneous crowd of others interested.

The lesson of the day was the mastering of the intricacies of the old Latin proverb that "Nothing out of Nothing Comes," and that the star pupils were the ones most dense in their understanding.

There was an attorney for Jeffries present, who said little. He understood probably, but then he may have taken private lessons.

Some time ago G. F. Arnold got judgment against the ex-Sergeant of Police for $265, and as he wanted to satisfy that judgment in some way he had Jeffries in court on supplementary proceedings, hence the scholarly proceeding in which his attorneys learned the truth of the Latin proverb under a free translation means that "one can't get blood out of a stone."

Mr. Jeffries was complacent and perfectly ready to answer all questions put to him. When he was through it was all as clear as mud. Only one thing stood out in bold relief—he has no money nor valuable assets of any kind. True he and Chief Elton and Chief of Detectives Bradish own the Egyptian Queen and Lucifer mining claims in the Providence Mountains, but he owned up to an interest in the other claims in the same group; as to the value of these claims is problematical and Jeffries did not care to mislead by placing a value upon them. The assessment work has been done, and they are still in the mountains and have not been brought to the city or otherwise disposed of.

"I paid for the foundations, sidewalks, electric lights and fixtures, the insurance and lots of things on that house on the hill, where I live, and together I spent about $7000 to $8000 of my wife's property," said Jeffries.

"How long have you been married?" inquired Attorney Coleman.

"Nearly four years."

"And that property you refer to belongs to your wife?"

"Yes, sir."

"Didn't she pay for these improvements on her property?"

"No, sir," was the acrid reply. "I paid for them and gave them to her—like a fool."

Jeffries was asked to tell about some of his real estate ventures, and it was extraordinary to note how unfortunate these all turned out. He had only to take hold of something and right off it would fly to pieces. He took a piece of property on Figueroa near Seventh street, over from the old woman who was his housekeeper and ex-fiancee, for the mortgage on it of $2500. That was about twelve years ago, and he sold it two years ago for $5700, after having expended about $3400 on it. But he didn't even get $5700 for it, for he said that he had to borrow money from the Merchants' National Bank to take up the mortgage, and also borrowed money to meet the interest every three months, and when it came to a show down it took the entire property to liquidate the indebtedness.

Then there were three lots at Budlong avenue and Thirtieth street, which Jeffries and Sergeant R. C. Harris bought six or seven years ago. Jeffries said that he paid $840 for a half interest and sold out over a year ago for $1200. The $600 he received he said that he handed over to Harris on a debt of $1000 that he owed him.

Several other real estate deals were shown also to have been losing propositions, but it was in the manipulation of mining stock that Jeffries got mixed to a finish. Any little bit of money that he had flew into some kind of unproductive real estate, or improvements that depreciated the property apparently the more there was piled on.

For a short time, too, Jeffries said that he was loaning money. He got ten per cent. a month, but as he advanced on personal notes he lost money at that. After he had got rid of his real estate he said he was worth about $10,000 less than nothing.

Occasionally he would raise money on his own note but couldn't tell where he put it.

"I used to pay Harris $74 a month, but kept that up for a long time."

He said that about ten years ago he had borrowed $700 from Harris, and the sum of his total indebtedness to him, he said, is about $4000, "and I am going to pay him, too," he added, parenthetically.

"And how much do you owe his brother, Lon Harris?"

"About $2500."

"Well, what became of that $7000?" asked Attorney Coleman, thought he saw a glimmer of light.

Jeffries tried to show just what had become of that bunch of money, but it didn't make a startling success, after a good deal of calculation it appeared that his loaning money in the real estate department had lost him about $2000, but the mining stock of the Resistance Gold and Copper Mining Company was supposed to have absorbed all the rest.

The then agreement of police was somewhat as a kind of public benefit, buying the stock at anywhere from five cents to fifteen cents per share, and peddling it out again at ten and one-half cents a share, and the more expensive stock at from five to ten cents. Upon being pressed for a detailed statement, however, it developed that Jeffries had not lost as much as he thought he had in this deal. After a good deal of figuring it appeared that on a block of 55,000 shares of stock, he lost from $500 to $600, and that left a goodly portion of the $7200 being inquired after.

"Well I don't care much to talk about it," said Jeffries, "but when my son was sick in San Francisco I borrowed from Mr. Hill and spent the money. Altogether I spent about $1200 and never got any of it back again."

It was no use trying to account for the balance. It had all been sunk in the home on the hills, and that's all there was to it. Mrs. Jeffries has the benefit, but the improvements are all that Jeffries has to show for the large balances remaining, even allowing that Dame Fortune was unkind to him and never allowed any of his schemes to show a profit.

SCHEME OF PREACHERS FOR CATCHING CHRISTIANS.

St. Valentine's Day Will Witness a Secret Exchange of Pulpits All Over the City — Scholarly New Preacher to be Installed on Sunday—Society to Aid Sailors.

Every Christian, when he dons his Sunday clothes on St. Valentine's Day, must also put on the very best brand of piety he keeps hung away in his Sunday coat.

The preachers have put up a job that is dead sure to catch the creed-worshipers napping.

If you go to church on that Sunday morning, loaded to the brim with denominational dogmas that you hope to have tickled, you want to look out, that you don't make a comic valentine of yourself.

The devil will have you in his swim in a minute and you'll go flying off the handle like a skyrocket.

It's all a part of the scheme of evangelism now operating throughout the city, under the auspices of the Ministerial Union. They have determined to make a secret shake-up of the preachers of the city, and nobody is to know what he is to draw.

People who go to Temple Baptist Church, on that morning, to hear Brother Burdette on "close communion" will run up against a preacher from some wide-open church who believes otherwise, and who may preach his belief.

The quiet United Presbyterian may be surprised by a Methodist revivalist, and some believers in the old Bible in its entirety may be treated to a taste of "higher criticism."

Anyway, it is a novel tack taken by the ministers, and it will likely result in crowded churches all over the city. Both curiosity and church pride will contribute something to this result, but this will not minimize the good that may be done in the way of bringing all denominations closer together.

INSTALLATION OF PASTOR.

Rev. Herbert J. Weaver, pastor of the First English Lutheran Church of this city, returned yesterday from the annual meeting of the Southern California Conference of that denomination, which has been in session at Santa Barbara.

He brings the information that Rev. P. W. H. Frederick will be installed as pastor of the recently-organized Trinity Lutheran Church at Pasadena, on Sunday morning. The ceremony will be held in the G.A.R. Hall. Rev. Herbert J. Weaver will deliver the charge to the pastor, and Rev. George H. Gillerman of Riverside, secretary of the California Lutheran Synod, will deliver the charge to the people.

Rev. Mr. Frederick has for four years been professor of church history in the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Chicago, which work he laid down to come to Southern California for the health of his wife. He was at once called to the Pasadena church, which is his first pastorate, having taken the professorship immediately at the close of his university course. He already feels assured of success in his new field.

SEAMAN'S FRIEND.

The Seaman's Friend Society, which conducts a sailors' bethel at San Pedro, is composed of many prominent people of Los Angeles. The old ship, Warrior, was purchased from the Banning Company, beached and transformed into various departments for the comfort of sailors landing at that port.

Mr. Farr, the superintendent, is an old sailor and has had much experience in work of this character and has met with much success at San Pedro. His last monthly report shows ten services held in the bethel, and 110 vessels visited, distributing 150 bundles of literature. Three sailors in distress were aided and three professed conversion.

The expense of maintaining the work is $100 a month; receipts last month, $80. W. E. McVay, cashier of the Union Bank of Savings, this city, is treasurer of the fund.

ASSAULTED BY BEGGAR.

Mrs. Mary Dunning Attacked by a Vicious Tramp Whom She Refused to Feed.

Mrs. Mary Dunning was assaulted by a vicious tramp yesterday morning at her home, No. 306 Bonnie Brae street. About 7 o'clock she opened the kitchen door in response to a knock, and was accosted at the threshold by a rough-looking man, who demanded something to eat. She replied that she did not keep a boarding-house for beggars, and was about to close the door in his face, when he made a rush at her and grabbed her by the throat. In the struggle her clothing was torn, but she received no serious injury. The miscreant ran away when he heard other members of the family coming to his victim's rescue. Mrs. Dunning describes her assailant as about 35 years of age, of medium height and heavy build. He had a sandy mustache and a disfigured nose. His clothes were shabby and he wore a round black hat with a hole in the crown. The police were promptly notified and are on the lookout for the scoundrel, but thus far he has eluded arrest.

TO INTEREST THE LADIES!

Surpassing Showing of New Spring Styles

Again the Walk-Over Store is to the front, making the first extensive showing of Women' Fine Footwear for Spring 1904, and surpassing as have been the Walk-Over styles in previous seasons, this year the great Walk-Over factory has outdone even itself.

The result is the swellest, snappiest, smartest shoe shapes ever formulated in the United States—and that means the world. Walk-Over shoes are sold only at one price, everywhere, $3.50. Pay that and you obtain shoes just as stylish, just as durable, just as satisfactory in every way as though you had paid five dollars—in fact,

Dress Shoes

This spring sees the Ladies Dress shoes in prettier shapes than ever before; the Louis XIV and Cuban model heels will divide first honors; the leathers are fine French finished kids and patent kid with tips and plain toes in a wide variety of widths. Cloth tops will be extensively worn by the smartest dressers, and the Walk-Over cloth top will be most popular, for it has many features that go only with these styles.

Walking Shoes

That wide, comfortable shoe that the men have been wearing now has a prototype in the new Walk-Over walking model for women. Made of finest calf, patent kid and vici kid, it has all the distinctive points that go into every pair of shoes that leave the Walk-Over factory. Particularly desirable for those who spend much time out-of-doors, as is the custom in Southern California, the walking models will have wide popularity.

Oxfords for Spring

No less than a dozen models are shown in the Walk-Over Oxfords for Spring 1904, and not a single style but will have hundreds of admirers and wearers in this city. The Oxfords are made in all the famously finished leathers that have contributed to the popularity of this factory.

A Word About Walk-Overs

Walk-Over shoes are made in the Walk-Over's own factory and sold only in the Walk-Over's own exclusive shoe stores. Walk-Over shoes are made to fit the feet, and no make of shoes has such a wide and deserved popularity on account of the shoe satisfaction obtained as is known in the Walk-Over.

EIGHTH WARD'S REDEMPTION.

NOTICEABLE BENEFIT FROM CLOSING OF THE CRIBS.

Rev. Dana W. Bartlett Protests Against Dubbing the District the "Bloody Eighth" or the "Slums." Says Great Change Has Been Effected.

Closing of the "crib district" has been of inestimable value to the Eighth ward, according to Rev. Dana W. Bartlett, pastor of the Bethlehem Institutional Church, corner of Vignes and Ducommon streets.

Mr. Bartlett has worked and lived right in the center of the Eighth Ward for the past eight years, and he is certainly well qualified to make an accurate observation as to the effects of this crib closing.

"This was the greatest thing that has ever happened to this ward," said Mr. Bartlett the other day, as he discussed the general situation. "It has tended to lift from this community the stigma under which we have so long struggled.

"We protest, and we protest vigorously, against being classed all the time as 'The Bloody Eighth' and 'The Slums.' There are many just as good and just as respectable people down in this part of the city as can be found anywhere. And we are doing our best to redeem the ward from the foul name that has been given it.

"Even in the short time since the closing of that open sore on Alameda street there has been a noticeable change in affairs here. It is true there are several more parlor houses in the district than there were before; but of the two evils the latter is less objectionable.

"I do not presume that any of the social purity crusaders have the idea in their minds that the social evil is to be entirely wiped out of Los Angeles through these efforts. It is useless to expect such a thing as long as there is human lust. But we do know that the vice is not now flouted so openly as heretofore, and that the closing of this open market of shame and sin is a decided advance in the morals of the neighborhood.

"As it was before, our wives and our children could not go to the downtown districts without having to witness these scenes along the Alameda-street district which no man wants his wife or children to see. Now they can go downtown without so much as seeing these women of the underworld on the streets.

"The parlor houses will doubtless be found by the sports who always seek after such places; but the very fact that the general crowd of men and youths is shut out, and that there is no lounging place now as there was in the time of the crib district, is of itself a great victory."

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

THE dinner given by Mrs. Elizabeth Prewitt of No. 23 St. James Park last evening was one of the most perfectly-appointed affairs of the season. The table decorations were carried out most successfully in white and green. The centerpiece was a delicate arrangement of white hyacinths and maidenhair ferns; a dainty silver candelabra, containing white candles, which shone through shades of green, ornamented the table further, and green bon bons carried out the color effect, while white hyacinths were everywhere in the room.

Those at the table were: Mr. and Mrs. John E. Plater, Count and Mrs. Von Schmidt, Dr. and Mrs. John Oldham, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Dorsey, Col. A. W. Hamilton of Kentucky, G. M. Chartiers, Miss Eva Prewitt and Mrs. Elizabeth Prewitt.

For Oakland Guest.

Mrs. S. C. Johnson of No. 1157 Hobart boulevard was the hostess on Wednesday at a dainty luncheon given for Mrs. W. L. Hamilton of Oakland.

Poinsettias formed pleasing decorations, the center of the table being ornamented with a cluster of the gorgeous flowers, and each place marked by a single brilliant blossom. The menu was also in red. During the afternoon the guests were entertained with recitations by Miss Pearl Wilson. Covers were laid for Mrs. W. L. Hamilton, Mrs. J. N. Sellers, Mrs. John S. Outlaw, Mrs. W. Williams, Mrs. D. A. Russell, Mrs. W. G. Wilson and the Misses Pearl Wilson, Jennie E. Moore and Myrtle Carter.

For Mrs. De Van.

Mrs. J. S. Chapman and the Misses Chapman of No. 262 North Soto street gave one of the prettiest and most charming card parties of the season at the Woman's Club House yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Durward de Van, who was Miss Rita Merrill, and is only a bride of the last six weeks.

In honor of the occasion the clubhouse was gaily decorated by Miss Winnifred Waite. The hall was in bridal attire, all done in white and green. Down the center hung four large bells of white tarleton, with clappers formed of white callas, and asparagus plumosus rested lightly on the bells, while fluffy white tarleton was festooned about the room with ropes of asparagus plumosus, until it seemed a veritable fairy bower. Behind the receiving party a curtain was arranged of filmy white tarleton, draped over with smilax, and hung with white satin ribbons. The musicians' stand was screened by potted plants arranged in artistic profusion. The lights here were covered with shades of dainty white tarleton.

The room to the right was a yellow affair of unusual beauty and intricacy of design. From the chandeliers which were covered and draped with bows of yellow tarleton, long strands of asparagus plumosus went to the side walls and suspended at intervals from them were tiny French baskets filled with yellow jonquils. Over the central card table and suspended from the chandelier was a large basket of jonquils tied with yellow satin ribbon and large bows with long streamers were placed about the room to make an added bit of color. Acanias and black Venetian iron candelabra covered with yellow shades added to the beauty of the room.

The other apartments were arranged in the same color scheme of red and green. The lights here were shaded with scarlet tarleton and ornamented with dainty bows of the same. From the central chandeliers festoons of red satin ribbons were arranged to go to the corners of the rooms and from these hung dainty little Japanese lanterns, making a bright and attractive scene. About the rooms rustic baskets hung filled with red carnations and asparagus plumosus ferns, and over the piano was suspended a canoe filled with carnations and ferns. The mantel was banked at the top with Boston ferns and lower the graceful sprengeri added its foliage, while red carnations were banked in among the ferns. The score cards for the occasion were hand-painted heads done in green and white and tied with green and white ribbons.

Mrs. Chapman wore a handsome gown of black violet over white taffeta, and Miss Chapman's gown was of white embroidered chiffon with garniture of cerise roses and green foliage. Miss Merry wore a stunning frock of black tarleton embroidered in pink roses. Mrs. De Van wore her wedding gown, an elaborate creation of white voile with trimmings of peau de soie. Those who assisted the hostesses in receiving were: Mmes. Charles Modini-Wood, Edward L. Doheny, H. G. Cates, Ward Chapman, J. W. Hendrick, Herman Kerckhoff, W. H. Perry, J. D. Bicknell, E. P. Johnson, Jr., Charles Dick, Charles Noyes, A. B. McCutchen and Mme. Genevra Johnstone Bishop.

Hull-Lloyd Nuptials.

Last evening beneath an airy canopy of pink and white crêpe paper, Miss Lula Hull, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hull of No. 402 East Adams street, was married to Ralph H. Lloyd at the Vincent Methodist Episcopal Church on East Twenty-ninth street. The altar was a mass of smilax and white calla lillies, and the altar rail was twined with smilax until it appeared a hedge of coral greenery. The whole church was artistically decorated with tan palms and potted ferns and palms.

The bride was unattended, and wore a stunning frock of white crêpe de chine, over white taffeta, with garnitures of pearl passementerie and Cluny lace, and a long white sash added to the girlishness of the gown. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, but wore no veil, only white carnations were prettily arranged in her hair. Miss Reba Hull, sister of the bride, and Earl Rebber, a cousin of Miss Hull, Virginia Montgomery, a niece of the groom, and Wayne Montgomery acted as ushers, the girls being gowned alike in pink mull over white taffeta. Rev. Hugh Dobbins of Colusa, brother-in-law of Mr. Lloyd, had charge of the ceremony, assisted by Rev. George Hough.

The bride is a very pretty girl of the blonde type, with rich coloring, and is a graduate of the Los Angeles High School and also of the State Normal School. She has a large circle of friends here. The groom is a resident of this city, but formerly lived in Berkeley.

As the couple came up the aisle J. A. Barrows rendered the Mendelssohn "Wedding March," and before the ceremony Miss Anna Lloyd, sister of the groom, sang "Ecstacy," and during the service sang, "O Perfect Love." After the service was performed a reception was held for the relatives of the bridal couple, at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hull, at No. 702 East Adams street. Here the house was decorated in garlands of colored crêpe paper and potted plants added a touch of greenery to the whole. Light refreshments were served during the receiving hours.

A wedding trip has been planned which is only known to the happy couple themselves, after which they will be at home to their friends at No. 134 West Twenty-third street. Many beautiful wedding gifts attested the popularity of the young couple.

Dinner for Actors.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dobinson and Mr. and Mrs. J. Bond Francisco gave a delightful supper on Wednesday evening complimentary to Frederick Wurde and Louis James, the two well-known actors who have made themselves so popular in Los Angeles. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ozro W. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hay Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. August Kurtzeburn, Mrs. L. Gottschalk, Miss May Ward, Miss Gertrude Keilar, Miss Elizabeth Wood, Miss Alma Aruger and Norman Hackett.

Raggazza Club Entertained.

The social club known as the "Raggazza Girls" was informally entertained by Miss Mirna Baldwin at her home on West Twenty-eighth street, Wednesday. The afternoon was spent with music and needlework and dainty refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Edna Waterman, Stella and Alice Blanchard, Grace and Lura Maile, Helen Day, Iris Newman and Madge Henry.

Buffet Luncheon.

The luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Clifford Page, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman and Mrs. Albert Cruicher, was quite as much a success as that of Wednesday. The decorations were the same, and the hostesses as charming, only the receiving party were changed as follows: Mmes. S. S. Salisbury, Shelley, Tolhurst, W. L. Graves, J. T. Norton, Joh. Y. Jones, Roland Bishop, Charles Baillie Irwin Herron, I. N. Van Nuys, A. G. Wells, Carroll Allen, Will Mathews, Ira O Smith, Henry T. Lee, Albert Stephens, Donald Frick, Burton Green, J. H. Bohan, Carl Adams and Miss Eleanor Page.

During the luncheon hours delightful vocal music was given by Mrs. Madison Boyd Jones. Miss Hays of Kentucky and Mrs. R. B. Baumgart. These luncheons have been something of an innovation here, as nothing just like them has been given, and they have been so successful, owing to the graciousness and tact of their hostesses, that others will probably follow.

Club Entertained.

Mrs. R. C. P. Smith of No. 1044 Grattan street gave a delightful luncheon and informal afternoon yesterday to the members of the Friday Afternoon Club of Ontario.

The table was exquisitely ornamented, the soft greenery of maidenhair ferns and asparagus plumosus mingling among the brightness of yellow jonquils. The place cards were dainty affairs, ornamented with hand-painted jonquils and tied with yellow ribbons. The lights were softened by dainty shades of tulle in the prevailing color.

During the afternoon a guessing game furnished entertainment, and the prize, a pretty picture, was won by Mrs. W. L. Malone. In the four-leaf-clover hunt, which followed, Mrs. W. H. Watson was awarded a beautiful cut-glass vase. The guests of the club were Mrs. W. W. Smith of Ontario and Mrs. H. W. Rapier of Los Angeles.

The club members present were Mmes. C. G. H. Bunnineck, D. A. Woodford, Earnest Thayer, W. L. Malone and Sara Ensign of Ontario, Mrs. Leslie Smith of Armona, Mrs. I. S. Wilson of Long Beach, Mrs. W. J. Home of Long Beach and Mrs. M. B. Ayers of Los Angeles.

From Santa Barbara.

Mrs. G. Alexander Bobrick, with her little girl, Miss Marie Bobrick, are at home at No. 923 South Burlington avenue, after a visit to Santa Barbara. Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Givensnaud of New York will be the house guests of Mrs. Bobrick for some time.

Home Wedding.

Last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, No. 752 East Washington street, the parents of the bride, Miss Maude M. Hill, was married to William E. Calvert.

The house was artistically festooned with smilax and white ribbons, while white carnations and callas were used in profusion. The couple were united under a canopy of white roses and satin ribbons, the bride wearing a beautiful gown of cream silk voile over cream taffeta silk, with lace medallions. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses. The maid of honor wore a dress of cream crepe de Paris, with ornaments of spider-web lace, and carried pink carnations. David Davids assisted as best man, and Rev. J. E. Burr performed the ceremony.

Later supper was served to the bridal party and the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvert will be at home to their friends after February 1 at No. 638 East Twenty-fourth street.

Jolly Evening.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Colby were at home to a number of their musical friends. Musical numbers were given by Messrs. Lott, Barnhardt, Zinck, Gates and Edson and Mrs. Welburn, accompanied by Misses O'Donohue, Rogers and Williams.

Leap Year Event.

Mrs. Ozro W. Childs of No. 928 West Twenty-eighth street entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of Frederick Warde and Wordsworth Harris. Mr. Warde and Mr. Harris delighted the guests with recitations, and Mrs. Albert Carlos Jones sang in a particularly pleasing manner.

Mrs. Childs was assisted in receiving by all the gentlemen present and by Mrs. John E. Plater, Mme. Von Schmidt, Mrs. Stephen Childs, Mrs. R. H. Hay Chapman and Mrs. Frank Hicks.

The affair was altogether one of the most charming given lately.

Church Social.

The ladies of the Knox Presbyterian Church announce a social in their parlors this evening. Some prominent young ladies will take part in the programme. They are Miss Jessie Pope, Miss Henrietta Dobinson and Miss Carrie Williams of the Dobinson School of Expression, and Miss Ruth Messmer.

Notes and Personals.

Mrs. Francis A. Eastman, wife of Col. F. A. Eastman, formerly of this city, is staying at the Hotel Figueroa for the winter.

The members of the Concordia Club gave a delightful bowling party last evening at their clubhouse, corner of Sixteenth and Figueroa streets.

E. W. Britt of No. 710 West Twenty-eighth street is quite ill.

Samuel Riter of the Riter-Conley Steel Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., is the guest of Mrs. Mary A. Tombes of No. 1022 West Eleventh street.

At the home of Mrs. E. Parsonage, in Santa Clara, Cal., January 18, 1903, Walter Brown and Nina J. Paulin were united in marriage by Rev. F. B. Walworth.

L. T. Shettler leaves tonight on the Santa Fé and will visit Chicago and Detroit on his trip. He will be gone about two weeks.

H. H. Walker has accepted a position with a gold mining company in Antioqua, South America, and left for there a few days since. He leaves a host of friends who wish him good luck and Godspeed.

Making the Desert to Blossom.

Though so recently established the reclamation service undertaken by the Geological Survey in the barren lands has already begun the construction of certain large dams, and has under consideration among other projects a six-mile tunnel for diverting the Gunnison River in Colorado, so that the waters may be used in irrigation. In the planning and carrying out of these great works the officers of the service will have unexampled professional opportunities, not only because of the size of the works themselves, but on account of the freedom given the engineers in planning and building them. The supervising engineer will report to a board of consulting engineers, each of whom is thoroughly familiar with the difficulties of such work, instead of having to win, as in private work, the approval of a board of directors largely unfamiliar with his difficulties, and concerned mainly with completing the work at the lowest possible cost.

It has been estimated that ultimately sixty to one hundred million acres, which are now worth perhaps 50 cents an acre, will be converted by irrigation into farming and orchard land worth from $50 to $500 per acre. The law carefully provides that this shall be sold in small lots to actual settlers, so as to accomplish the main purpose of the whole work—homes for our rapidly-increasing population and opportunity for the young men and the children equivalent to that which the older generations enjoyed.—[Booklovers' Magazine.

MINES AND MINING

SEARCHLIGHT DISTRICT.

Will Richardson returned several days ago from a visit to the Searchlight district just across the Nevada line, and reports that the camp has almost completely recovered from the effects of the strike of last summer, and that the old-time activity prevails. According to Mr. Richardson the plan adopted by the mine operators of making no discrimination between union and non-union men, so long as the work is properly done, has proven successful and now work is going forward actively on a number of properties.

The Quartette, which is the big mine of the district, has just opened up the 600-foot level of the mine, and the showing is reported as better than expected. The company is now operating the ten-stamp mill at the property in addition to the twenty-stamp mill on the Colorado River, and both mills are making good showings.

The Southern Nevada Mining Company is operating its ten-stamp mill successfully, and is sinking the shaft at a point, where the big blanket vein on the property has dipped. This shaft has reached a depth of 200 feet, and is in a good grade of ore.

Mr. Richardson states that more prospecting is going on in the district than for many years, and that a number of new Los Angeles people are becoming interested. The Cyrus Noble and Ione companies are among the most active in the field.

MISSIONARY'S DEATH.

The Two Founders of the Friends' Missionary Work in Guatemala Die Within a Few Weeks' Time.

About two years ago two bright and promising young men went out from the Friends' Missionary Training School in this city to open up mission work among the natives of Guatemala, a territory practically untouched by missionary efforts.

Today both of these young men, C. J. Buckley and Thomas J. Kelley, are in their graves. The Times several weeks ago published an account of the death of young Buckley, which occurred in Honduras, his body being found beside a road, where he had been traveling as colporteur for the American Bible Society.

Kelley came back to Los Angeles some time before and was recruiting a band of missionaries to take back with him to the work in Central America. This band started from Los Angeles several weeks ago, and on the 7th inst., sailed from New Orleans, arriving at Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, on the 12th inst.

But at the time of their departure, their leader, who was the pioneer in the Guatemala field, was in such precarious health that it was deemed advisable for him to remain in California for a longer time in order to recuperate.

He went to Orland, where his father resides, and now the Friends' training school has received word of young Kelley's death. He passed away just nine weeks after the death of his close friend and associate in the new mission fields, C. J. Buckley.

The Friends' missionary work in Guatemala will not cease, however, because the two young men who opened the field have passed away. The new band which has just reached that country will carry on the work and establish headquarters in Guatemala for the general work in Central America.

Henry Phipps, the Baltimore steel magnate, has donated $20,000 to the Johns Hopkins Hospital to establish an out-patient department for persons suffering from consumption.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES.
Los Angeles, Jan. 28, 1904.

FINANCIAL.

Bank clearings today were $832,606.33 against $869,509.89 in 1903, and $751,[illegible] in 1902.

MONEY SENSITIVE. The condition of business has not everything to do with the money market. This is shown by the fact that often money fluctuates while business remains almost stationary. The violent fluctuations of interest rates during the last quarter of 1903, were not justified by business conditions, but were rather attributable to a feeling of doubt as to conditions that 1904 would usher in. Secretary Shaw was justified in his assertion last fall that "the increase (for winter) exists, if at all, in the mind, it is not elsewhere." That the present has opened propitiously is admitted by all, and the Wall Street Journal is compelled to say:

"Surplus reserves of $22,000,000 in the clearing-house banks make a cheering addition. A credit capacity of nearly $40,000,000 imparts confidence and affords a basis for more extended operations."

Sales of stocks of more than 300,000 shares in one day are also a good thing, especially when accompanied by higher prices. This is a sign of optimism. It is proof that some men believe that times are not as black as they have been painted. Even though this volume of sales represents mostly professional trading, it is something that gives confidence and dispels fear.

Yet it is a still better thing that the transactions in bonds in the New York Stock Exchange exceeded $7,000,000, as this represents, not speculation, professional or otherwise, but investment, and investment is the backbone of American business, as it is, or should be, the chief aim of Wall street.

But best of all is the conviction which is coming home to all observers of the situation that the business of the country, notwithstanding the partial reaction which has taken place, is still very large, and is bound to continue so in spite of every condition which might be unfavorable to its progress.

During the thirteen years there was much fluctuation from year to year. In 1896 the total fell to 1,836,063,000. In 1891, 1892, 1893, 1897 and 1898, the totals were in the three billion class, in 1894 the product was 2,-093,367,850, and the total has not risen to 3,000,000,000 since 1898. Stocks of shingles on hand at the end of 1903 make a heavy showing against 1902, the figures standing for 667,072,000 at the close of 1903, compared to 397,815,000 in 1902. In 1903 the production of hemlock reached 1,334,444,000 feet, against 1,277,814,000 feet in 1902 and 1,264,943,000 feet in 1901. The output of northern hard woods amounted in 1903 to 793,-734,000 feet, which compares with 731,-315,000 feet in 1902, and 790,592,000 feet in 1901.—[Bradstreet's.

COFFEES. The continued advance in the New York market for Rios has opened a further advance in Arbuckles to $16.25. Lion will doubtless follow tomorrow or next day. Business in these goods has been seriously curtailed by the frequent advances during the last few months.

SUGAR DECLINES. Following the local decline in sugar came a notice today of a decline of 5 cents in all grades for Arizona points. Dominoes declined ten points to $7.80.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

ORANGE SHIPMENTS. Improved conditions in the orange markets of the east have led to a resumption of picking, and shipments are slightly in excess of those of the last few days.

ACT OF GOD. The Supreme Court of Minnesota held, in the recent case of Jones et al. vs. Minneapolis and St. Louis Railway Company et al., that while an act of God will excuse a common carrier for loss of goods in his possession, yet where the negligence of the carrier concurs in or contributes to the loss he is liable therefor; but that where it is shown that the loss was due to an overpowering cause, the burden is on the opposite party to establish such negligence of the carrier. It appeared in this case that the plaintiffs delivered to defendant certain cattle to be transported in one of its freight trains to their destination, but before it was reached the train was caught in a blizzard and became snow bound, and the cattle were frozen to death. The court held that the proximate cause of the loss was an act of God, and that the evidence did not support a verdict to the effect that the defendant was guilty of negligence.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Some disposition to hold up the price of eggs is shown, but offerings are heavy on the street at 21 cents by ranchers and the market is probably 22 and 23 cents for ranch.

Potatoes continue firm and in good demand, Salinas being quoted up to $2 for fancy.

Onions are unchanged, fancy kiln-dried Nevadas and Oregons go at $2 and $2.50.

Berries are not plentiful but meet with only moderate demand at quotations.

Oranges sell better and demand from hotels and restaurants is increasing as quality improves. Fish and game are sufficient for the market's needs.

NEW YORK MARKETS.
SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The speculative party which has persistently supported stocks through the later stages of the recent advance, desisted today and allowed prices to slip back without any appreciable measures to resist. During the morning, a big order was executed in Atchison, which lifted that stock a large fraction over last night and which was attributed to the Gradwell bull party for the purpose of supporting the market. It was accompanied, however, by the rumor that Atchison was soon to be listed on the Berlin Bourse, and the fact that Atchison has a block of $10,000,000 bonds for sale was supposed to furnish a motive for stimulating the market for the stock. The movement was ineffective in checking the declining tendency elsewhere. The rally in the last hour was probably due to covering of short contracts by room professionals, and pointed to an inference that the day's selling had been on the short side. The bears, however, found it so easy to secure stocks that they desisted from their buying, and prices sagged again to the end of the day. The closing was weak and dull. The highly professional character of the market makes it fitting that it should be treated from the standpoint of technical causes. So far as actual conditions bearing on values were concerned, the most influential was the frankly outspoken tone of pessimism in which a leading trade review wrote of the outlook for iron and steel. "The tonnage is not there," says the Iron Age, "and the industry must simply adjust itself to the prevailing conditions." United States Steel preferred was not illogically the weakest and most active stock and in these circumstances. A batch of very unfavorable railroad earnings for December furnished another reactionary factor. Possibility of further restriction of money supplies is coming up for discussion again, owing to the decline in the inflow of currency to New York. February 1. requirements to be considered include the payment of a $3,000,000 Central Pacific note to the government; deposit of $3,000,000 to retire the month's quota of banknotes for which application has been made, and the increase in trust company reserves to comply with the clearinghouse requirements for 7½ per cent in place of 5 per cent. The reflection implied by the action of the Stock Exchange authorities in striking from the list the securities of an industrial corporation on the ground of misrepresentation of financial condition was a depressing factor. The severe weather in the winter-wheat belt was a possible factor as well. As a result, prices were lower, when trading left off, than they were last night. Bonds were heavy and r the leadership of United States 2s, the second of the Chicago Terminal 4s slumped 3½ points. Total sales (par value) $3,30.000. United States 2s declined ¼ on call.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Severe cold weather, with rain in Argentina, strengthened wh at prices today. A gain in the price of cash wheat in the Northwest also contributed to the advance. The close was firm. May being up ¼ to 76c. Early news was of a bearish nature. Cables were lower, the price of cornels steady and crop news generally was of an encouraging character. May opened ¼ to ⅛c lower to a shade higher, at 76@76¼c, but soon sold off to 75 cents. The leading bull operator then came to the support of the market, and on buying by this interest May quickly advanced to 77½c. A decline in the price of New York stocks caused some traders to give credence to a private dispatch from London which stated that the war cloud was again assuming alarming proportions, and buying orders were mor in evidence du ing the last part of the session. From 76c, May slowly moved upward until it had reached 90¼c. Realising sales late in the day caused a decline of ½c, but the close was firm at 89¾c. The sp culative demand for the July option showed some increase. After ranging between 81½c and 82½c that month closed ¼ to ⅝c higher at 82¾. The corn market was influenced mainly by the action of wheat. May closed firm, at 49¾c. Oats followed oth r grains, fluctuating within a narrow range and closing about unchanged from yesterday, at 42¼c for May. Liquidation of lard by the leading bull interest was in force in the provision pit early in the day, and the whole list weakened in consequence. Later, however, the market recovered most of the loss on a scattered commission-house demand. The close was steady, with May pork unchanged; May lard, 5c lower, and ribs 2½c lower.

The leading futures closed as follows:

New York Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The cotton market from the start ruled exceedingly firm and active on higher cables, light estimated receipts and further reports of a growing scarcity of the cotton in the interior, accompanied by the most bullish gossip concerning the speculative situation. The opening advances had been into new high ground. Europeans were buying heavily here, the local bull leader was openly supporting the market, whatever he may have been doing previously, and outside demand seem d bigger than since last Tuesday. At any rate, with only slight concessions, the market was worked steadily upward until shortly after midday. May reached 14.15 cents at noon. This uncovered stop-loss orders and the market dev loped into the wildest excitement so far noted in cotton. June July went from 14.25 to 15.40, while May sold up to 15.30. The active months at this level were met 46 points higher for the day and had scored a net advance from the low point of last week of about 2¼ cents. Such a gain as this naturally attracted heavier realising, and with demands less pressing there was a quick reaction of about 25 to 30 points, which, however, was followed by renewed steadiness as the bulls again came to the support of the market. Sales were estimated at 1,500,000 bales.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

GREAT STORAGE RESERVOIR BEING CONSTRUCTED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 28.—A storage reservoir with a capacity of half a million barrels of oil is being constructed for the Southern Pacific on Kern River, in section 5, 29, 28. One hundred and fifty teams and fifty men are at work on the big excavation, and operations will be pushed along rapidly under the supervision of C. J. Lindgren, the contractor. The reservoir will be 20 feet deep, 400 feet in diameter at the bottom and 460 feet at the top. It will require one-half million feet of lumber for the roof and the amount of P. and B. roofing required would cover four acres of land.

The contract price is over $20,000, and this does not include freight on material. Mr. Lindgren also has a contract to erect a similar reservoir at Coalinga on section 7 for the same company, and the work is under way.

The Standard is about to construct a pipe line from its reservoirs across the famous section 6 belonging to John Enos to connect with different properties, and this relieves the pressure now being placed upon the different lines in the field. The need for more facilities in this regard has been felt for a long time, those now in existence being insufficient to carry the oil. A short time ago the company issued an order forbidding the placing of more than 500 pounds pressure on the line. This was due to the fact that several very serious breaks had occurred from too much pressure being put upon the pipe by producers who were anxious to get their oil to market.

The great line to Point Richmond has not yet started actual work, there being some delay in getting the pumps in operation, but the several stations are manned by full crews, and they are waiting for the order to start work, and the expectation is that oil will again begin to flow within another week or ten days at the outside.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTENING.

The period of inactivity which has characterized the oil fields for the past few weeks is giving way to a general resumption of operations with prospects brighter for the inauguration of a season of old-time activity.

The Union Pacific Company, which has operated extensively near McKittrick has begun drilling again, its present undertaking being the putting down of a test well upon its property in the vicinity of McKittrick.

The Oriental Company has two rigs up in the San Luis Obispo field, and will do considerable drilling in the next few weeks.

A rig has been put up by the Southern Pacific Company near McKittrick, and the work of sinking the well will be hurried to completion.

The Aita Oil and Development Company is deepening and completing a number of wells it has been prospecting for some time.

A new well of the United States Company, also in the McKittrick field, is down to quite a depth, and the company is hopeful of satisfactory results.

The Fearless Company has commenced operations on a "wild-cat" well that gives promise of pleasing results.

At present the railroad is taking four thousand barrels of oil out of McKittrick daily. This is gratifying to the oil men, who, for a while were unable to have their product removed as quickly as desired. The improved transportation facilities are thoroughly appreciated by those interested.

Business in the Sunset field is a little dull at present, owing, it is alleged, to the inability to obtain adequate railway and pipe-line facilities. It is thought, however, the former hindrance will soon be obviated by the extension, for which the grading will shortly be completed.

Fred Gordon, who has been assistant to the superintendent of the California Consolidated Oil Fields Company, has been promoted to succeed Superintendent W. N. Forker, resigned. In his new position Mr. Gordon will have full charge of all the pipe lines through Sunset and Midway and all the interests of Jewett and Blodgett.

It is reported that Mr. Forker has accepted the managership of the Fulton Oil Company under President John M. Wright.

DEEP WELLS.

LOCAL EXPERIENCES.

The experience they had at Beaumont, the greatest and earliest of the oil fields of the Southwest, may again be repeated right here in Los Angeles, namely, the finding of lakes one beneath the other, at depths varying from 700 to 1200 feet. The Consolidated Crude Oil Company has had on the pump for a long time to practically exhaust it a well on Yale street, a little beyond Bernardo street, at the extreme limit of the company's field. This well is now being deepened, and there is every indication that at a depth of about 1200 feet a new and larger supply of oil will be encountered. The original depth was 700 feet. The company has now thirty-seven wells on the pumps. Almost directly in front of its office door, at the corner of Adobe and College streets, a smaller operator, John Joyce, has a brand new well already drilled to a considerable depth. But it is not apprehended that for a long time to come the enterprise of local oil men will be called upon to drill to such depth as that attained by a new well of the Union Oil Company in Santa Barbara county, which well is now practically two-thirds of a mile in depth, or, to be exact, 3240 feet.

GRAFTOVICH IN BELGRADE.

Chief of Late King Alexander's Cabinet Implicated in Misappropriation of a Few Thousand.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BELGRADE, Jan. 28.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Miloch Peteronievich, chief of the late King Alexander's Cabinet, is also implicated in the misappropriation of $30,000 belonging to the estate of a natural son of Prince Michael Obrenovics, in connection with which former Minister of the Interior Todovics was arrested January 27.

Peteronievich admits that he remitted money to certain persons in England, claims he obtained a direct order of King Alexander, and refuses to furnish further details. He has been arrested pending an examination of the statements made.

FLEE IN THEIR NIGHT CLOTHES.

Roomers in Main-street Lodging-houses Driven Out by Early-Morning Fire.

Fire broke out in the second story of the Alaska rooming-house, southeast corner of Fourth and Main streets, about 2:30 o'clock this morning, and was quickly communicated to the Golden West Hotel, adjoining. Occupants of the places were obliged to flee for their lives, and thronged the streets in their nightgowns, saving what they could of their personal effects. The names were confined to the upper portion of the Alaska House, and destroyed one corner of the Golden West Hotel, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars.

The places are owned by J. B. Lankershim. The Alaska is managed by Harvey Robinson and the Golden West by John Hays.

Fleeing inmates, many of them scarcely more than naked, were cared for in adjoining buildings. They were able to save but little of their property, as the buildings are of wood and burned swiftly, compelling their occupants to think of their lives rather than of their belongings. The burned structures are in a thickly-settled portion of the city, just across the street from the Van Nuys and Westminster hotels. The fire was under control in less than half an hour after it started. The total loss will not exceed $3000.

CLASS DAY AT STATE NORMAL.

GRADUATES CRACK JOKES AND RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

County Superintendent Keppel Hands Them a Lot of Good Advice Along With the Sheepskins—The Class Roster, With Its One Young Man.

Assembly Hall at the State Normal School was crowded to the limit last night, to witness the class-day exercises of the winter graduating class. They to the for a of a reading of an unpublished copy of the "Exponent"—the annual class publication. The hits and joshes on members of the class, other students and the faculty, were received with laughter and applause.

At the close of the exercises by the graduates, Mark Keppel, County Superintendent of Schools, addressed the class. He said, in opening:

"The Los Angeles Normal has graduated many classes, and its graduates are the educational leaders of the Southland today and are doing a great work for education. On behalf of the great county of Los Angeles, with its 60,000 school-children and its 1250 common and high-school teachers, I welcome you to the ranks tonight."

The address was one of solid advice to the coming teachers, meant to guard them against the many pitfalls that beset the feet of the novice, when he comes into the field of active participation in his chosen calling. At the close of this address the diplomas were presented.

The complete programme was as follows:

"Spring Song" (Davis,) Normal Glee Club; Echoes of an Unpublished Exponent: (1) "Dedication" (Etha Dawley,) reader, Edith Graves. (2) Senior Department: "The 'Now,'" reader, Floy Stafford; "Twenty Years from Now," reader, Pearl Thompson; "Thirty Years from Now," reader, Ida Lawrence. JIMINEZ'S SECOND WIND.

Will Soon Return to Santo Domingo With Arms, it is Said—Haytien Government's Throw-down.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CAPE HAYTIEN, Jan. 28.—[By West Indian Cable.] The Dominican gunboat Presidente arrived last Tuesday and the captain asked the Haytien government for munitions of war. President Ord made no response. After the installation of the new Dominican consul here, the Presidente left for Monte Cristi to attempt to prevent the German steamer Schamburg from entering Monte Cristi, it is said.

Word has been received from Gen. Deschamps, a partisan of Gen. Jimines, of the shipping of munition of war and that he and numerous followers of Jiminez will soon return to Santo Domingo from Cuba. Leopold Espalat, former Minister of War, has arrived at Monte Cristi, to help Jimines.

RELIEF FOR AALESUND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Official information has been given out that the needs of the 13,000 inhabitants of the town Aalesund, Norway, which was destroyed by fire January 24, have been provided for adequately. Several thousand of the people of Aalesund have gone to neighboring towns and villages, and the Hamburg-American line steamer Phoenicia, which was sent out for Aalesund with relief, at the instigation of Emperor William, is caring for 4000 more, she has twenty days' supplies for this number.

DIDN'T REACH DESTINATION.

Wines and Tobacco for Army and Navy Officers Safely Stored Away by Customhouse Officials.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Locked up in a private storeroom on Pier 15 is a pile of cases of wine, cigars and Cuban cigarettes, each case addressed to an officer of the army or the navy. The customs officials have placed their seals upon the cases, however, and unless the officers who own them pay duty, some commercial person will probably bid them in at an appraiser's sale. The goods came on the transport Sumner from Havana, but an officer who got nothing got sore and tipped the customs officers off that the goods were contraband, and seizure and scandal followed.

Quartermaster - General Humphrey, whose wine was seized along with the rest, was chief quartermaster at Havana during the Spanish War. As quartermaster-general he has complete control of the transport service, and he and officers under him are expected to work in unison with customs officials to see that dutiable goods are not brought into the United States without being properly declared.

To officers returning from Cuba and the Philippines much latitude has been allowed in the matter of bringing in dutiable goods as personal property, but the privilege has been greatly abused.

PORT ITEMS.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT.

WEATHER: Clear at 5 p.m.; wind southwest, velocity 9 miles.

Another eastern-built steamer is on the way to San Francisco to augment the coasting fleet. The vessel is the steamer Breakwater, which has been purchased by John D. Spreckels of San Francisco to run on this coast in the coal trade. The Breakwater was purchased at New Orleans, and sailed from that port Tuesday of the current week. Capt. Seamens, who formerly commanded the Czarina, is in command of the Breakwater, and will bring her around to this coast. The Breakwater is a 700-ton vessel, and will ply between San Francisco and Coos Bay.

A tugboat has been ordered from San Francisco to take the disabled steamer Bonita to that port. Capt. Gielow, master of the Bonita, stated this morning that it would probably be necessary to bench the Bonita's rudder, repairs to her rudder and steering gear before she could be taken North.

The following masters of Pacific Coast vessels are reported: Schooner Gem, J. Benson, master; steamer City of Dawson, F. L. Kato, master; schooner Gracie S., H. Duggan, master; schooner Regina S., H. Bolters, master; schooner John Lambert, H. E. Melville, master.

The schooner Mabel Gray arrived today from Eureka with 242,000 feet of lumber consigned to the J. M. Griffith Lumber Company of Los Angeles.

The steamer Redondo finished discharging her lumber cargo and cleared for San Francisco with freight and passengers.

RIAGE DRIVERS PROTEST.

public carriage drivers of Pasahave a grievance against which are registering a strong kick. They that the Board of Trade hoodthem out of the whole of the Los tourist business.

w weeks ago the Board of Trade a special "seeing Pasadena" arngement with a Los Angeles tourist whereby the beauties of the City were to be systematically ted to tenderfoots. At the in- n of officers of the board a spe- conveyance was hired and the made a rate to tourists holding a from the Los Angeles concern of $3 per person for a ride about principal streets and points of n- occupying a little over an hour. gular charges, which are fixed by ordinance, are $1.50 per person for first hour, and $1 for each hour onal. The carriage men did not the idea of some one else offering own particular brand of goods at h price, and the Board of Trade their complaint by taking off the rig and offering the business to drivers generally. A few have it at the reduced rate, but the y have rebelled and some of fuse to haul the Board of Trade at any price. The carriage men that this difference in rates is injustice and they propose to a fight.

are paying a license to do busihere and we are complying with clause of the city ordinance," H. Card as spokesman for the nted drivers yesterday after- "We object to paying an additional license to the Board of Trade, fer to give us 40 cents for every per we haul and keep 10 cents to ers, when even at the regular is hard living enough for us, the price of feed where it now is. carriage drivers, many of them, ided in Pasadena for years and ays eager to sing its praises to ing stranger and in this respect they do more for the good of the han any other class of citizens. Board of Trade would traduce riage drivers in the eyes of visitists just because we are trying make an honest living. It is a mean sistant Coolidge of the Board of said: "I cannot see how we are the carriage drivers any injus- We offered the business to all the s alike, and some of them don't it and they kick. If they don't to haul these tourists they don't to, and that's all there is about it."

RESBYTERIANS EXPAND.

llowing the recent action of the egationalists of Pasadena in de- to erect a new house of wor- on Marengo avenue, trustees of First Presbyterian Church have under consideration for an exn addition to their church buildon the northwest corner of Colo- street and Worcester avenue the guiding hand of its pastor Malcolm J. McLeod, the church grown to such a size that the quarters have been found to ually inadequate. It was a mootwhether to build an entire church or to add a wing to ready magnificent structure, but latter move has been decided upon. An addition to cost $25,000 will be on the north and the old structure will be improved. The matter has progressed as far as the architects' plans, which are now being prepared at the instance of the church trustees.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

The Wetherby-Kayser Shoe Company, operating stores in Los Angeles and Pasadena, have disposed of their Pasadena business to Appollos Fuller, formerly the owner of the largest shoe house in Springfield, Mass., who will assume personal charge of the Pasadena business on February 1. Mr. Fuller will become a permanent resident, having purchased the McCament property on fashionable South Marengo avenue, and he comes to Southern California to escape the eastern winter climate. Mr. Kayser has been the manager of the Pasadena store, and will go into the city as soon as the change is made.

STARRY TALK.

Prof. George E. Hale, director of the Yerkes Astronomical Observatory at Lake Geneva, who is spending the winter in Pasadena, drew an audience which taxed the capacity of the hall at Throop Polytechnic Institute last evening, when he gave an illustrated lecture on "The Evolution of the Stars." With the aid of a powerful stereopticon he outlined the various physical processes through which science has evolved as to the evolution of the stars, the nebular hypothesis and gave some startling views from his own research along the lines of stellar formation. At the conclusion of his lecture he spoke briefly of his previously announced plans for placing an observatory in this section, probably on Wilson's Peak.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL.

From now on there will be things doing on the High School campus, for the athletic young maids of the school have again taken up the sport of basket ball, which was so popular last year, and have organized for a season of play. The members of the team this year are Misses Josephine Davis, Anna Tyler, Winifred Wells, May Darling, Ethel Flint, Miss Nichols and Fannie Furman. The girls expect to repeat the enviable record of last year, when the Pasadena High School defeated Los Angeles High School in a memorable match by the remarkable score of 95 to 6. The first game of the season will be a practice one on Saturday afternoon with the Occidental College team on the local High School campus.

Y.M.C.A. RECEPTION.

Parents, wives and sweethearts of the members of the Young Men's Christian Association attended the reception tendered the newly-elected officers by the association last night. An address of welcome that fairly sparkled with wit and humor was delivered by the Rev. Frank M. Dowling, pastor of the First Christian Church. President R. L. Metcalf, Vice-President Hall and others of the new board, besides members of the outgoing board, made fitting and appropriate responses. Throughout the evening was discoursed orchestra music by the members of the association orchestra, and in the reception room ices and cake were served by a committee of ladies, consisting of Mrs. L. H. Turner, Mrs. M. A. Hall and Miss Briggs.

FARMERS' CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Farmers' Club in Recital Hall yesterday afternoon was especially interesting for two papers presented, the first, by Editor Hartranft, on the "Fruit World," and a study of local grapes by D. W. Coolidge, secretary of the Board of Trade. Mr. Hartranft read a poper on "The Parcels Post," in which he criticised the dilatory action of the United States in adopting this system after it had been in use in a number of other countries. Mr. Coolidge is himself a grape grower of no small experience, and his remarks were received with interest. There was a fair attendance of representative farmers and fruit growers of the section adjacent to Pasadena.

MARGINAL NOTES.

Henry Thompson, widower of the late Mrs. Ruth Brown Thompson, who has been critically ill for the past several days, has improved greatly during the past twenty-four hours, and his condition last night was such that hopes are now being entertained for his recovery.

A small boy and a lighted match caused the destruction by fire of a house belonging to C. C. Thompson near the corner of Washington street and Lake avenue Wednesday evening. The dwelling was occupied by a family named Leebey, who saved most of their belongings.

Edith Zook Sutton, wife of Ernest V. Sutton and a member of the Friday Morning and the Badger clubs of this city, died yesterday at Alhambra. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the chapel of Evergreen Cemetery, Boyle Heights. Rev. Dr. Conger of Pasadena will conduct the service.

The funeral of Charles Washburn of No. 80 North Euclid will be held on Saturday at 2 o'clock at the parlors of Reynolds & Van Nuys. He was a native of New York, and is survived by a brother, who is a banker in Los Angeles.

Mrs. William D. Turner and Mrs. Holloway I. Stuart will issue invitations within a few days for a large reception to be given at Hotel Maryland Friday afternoon, February 12.

MUCH BUILDING IN OCEAN PARK.

QUARTER MILLION ESTIMATE OF WORK IN PROGRESS.

Large Part of Improvements Under Way—Bath-house, Business Blocks and Homes Make up Totals—Notes of Street Betterment.

OCEAN PARK, Jan. 28.—The song of the builders runs to the tune of $250,000 here. According to an estimate of George D. Snyder, building improvements in immediate prospect for Ocean Park and other building improvements now under way will aggregate nearly that sum and may exceed it. The estimate includes the $140,000 bath-house which the promoters of the enterprise confidently believe is assured. Mr. Snyder's estimate includes a two-story brick business block on Pier avenue, a one-story business block of brick on the same street and a block on Marine street, the three aggregating over $30,000. His estimate also embraces a number of cottages and enlargements.

C. E. Groesbeck is putting the finishing touches on a new $2500 seven-room cottage on Wadsworth avenue.

D. T. Denton of Duluth, Minn., is building a two-story cottage on Grand avenue at a cost of $3500.

J. D. Holland is building two $1000 cottages on India street.

A. Cavell is building a $2000 home on Ozone avenue.

J. M. Roberts is finishing a $2000 cottage on Navy street.

ELEGANT FITZGERALD HOME.

The $15,000 residence of Thomas Fitzgerald of Los Angeles is nearing completion on North Ocean Front. Mr. Fitzgerald has just purchased an additional frontage of 104 feet at the southwest corner of Ocean Front and Fraser avenue and it is his purpose to erect flats on this property.

The plastering of the new $10,000 Catholic Church here has been completed and the building will soon be ready for occupancy. This structure is of the old mission style of architecture and presents a neat appearance, plastered without as well as within.

Mrs. Cummings of Los Angeles will at once begin building a cottage for her own use on Short Line Beach.

A. Hutchinson of Los Angeles has prepared plans and will soon erect a bungalow on Short Line Beach.

F. M. Johnson has just completed a frame one-story business building at the corner of Pier avenue and South Second street.

Commodore Armstrong is building a $5000 house on Fraser avenue.

Thomas Menzies is building a seven-room one-story frame lodging-house on South Second street.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS.

Forces of men are at work paving Pier and Fraser avenues and constructing concrete sidewalks. Property owners on Hill and Wadsworth streets expect to make similar improvements.

At the crest of Hill street on the east two ornamental brick pillars of unique design have been erected to support electric lamps.

The city of Santa Monica is arranging for the grading, graveling and oiling of the speedway, the main driving thoroughfare running north and south through the city from Santa Monica proper to Short Line Beach.

Many men are at work grading and improving Ocean Park Place, a southeastern suburb of Ocean Park. A concrete wall to retain the sand has been erected and concrete sidewalks and curbing have been constructed for many blocks. At Brooks avenue brick pillars have been erected and these are to be developed into an arch to be surmounted by electric lights.

ALHAMBRA.

DISLIKED HIRED TESTIMONY.

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 28.—The jury in the Furstenfeld-Ritter case failed to agree and was today discharged by the City Recorder. The jury stood ten for conviction and two for acquittal. It is said the jurors who held out for acquittal were opposed to the procuring of evidence by means of paid witnesses. E. F. Hahn, the Anti-Saloon League's attorney, prosecuted the case, and Judson Rush appeared for the defendants. The case was continued and will be reset.

BRIEF NEWS.

Mrs. Sutton, sister of Mrs. E. D. Wellfare and of the late Mrs. Robert M. Buller, who came here ill from Monrovia recently, died this morning. The remains were taken to Los Angeles.

The basket-ball team of the Alhambra High School will go to Covina Saturday to play the High School team of that place.

SAN DIMAS.

LOVE FINDS A WAY.

SAN DIMAS, Jan. 28.—E. O. Kenyon is chief weigher at the packing-house of the San Dimas Citrus Union. Miss Erminia Alvarado is a member of an old Castilian family. The two met, loved, procured a marriage license and drove to Rev. Father Nunan, Catholic priest at Pomona, to be married. Kenyon is a Protestant, and Father Nunan demanded a promise from him that his offspring should be brought up in the Catholic faith. Kenyon refused to promise, and took his sweetheart to Azusa. All the clergy of that place had gone to Los Angeles for the day. Undaunted, the lovers proceeded to Covina, and were quietly married.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Plans have been drawn for a handsome brick block 60x100 feet, to be occupied by the Bank of San Dimas and the Foston Grocery Company.

T. J. Warner, president of the Warner Wholesale Grocery Company of Chicago, is visiting at Glen Way ranch, the home of James A. Joannes. Mr. Warner is accompanied by his son, who will remain and engage in citrus culture in San Dimas.

CLAREMONT.

DAY OF PRAYER MEETINGS.

CLAREMONT, Jan. 28.—The entire day has been given over to the meetings of the day of prayer for colleges. At 8:40 this morning the students attended the chapel exercises, led by Dean Norton. At 9:15 the individual classes held prayer meetings. The men and women of the college held separate meetings after luncheon.

Rev. B. F. Boner of Olivet Church, Los Angeles, gave the annual address to the students this morning.

MONROVIA.

FINE BUILDING PLANNED.

MONROVIA, Jan. 28.—A deal is pending for the sale of the Badeau lot at the corner of Myrtle avenue and Orange street. The purchaser proposes to erect a two-story brick building 70x160 feet. It will contain seven stores, and office rooms upstairs. Five of the stores are already engaged.

VARIOUS NEWS NOTES.

At the last meeting of the Woodmen of the World the following officers were elected: Past Consul Commander, J. J. Stones; Consul Commander, W. F. Bovee, Advisor Lieutenant, John P. Dunn, Jr.; Banker, F. J. Cornes; Clerk, L. E. Hotchkiss.

Mrs. J. S. Beatty and daughter have arrived from Des Moines, Iowa, to join Mr. Beatty, and will make their home on Ivy street.

Last night was ladies' night at the Granite Club, and about twenty members with their ladies were present. In a match game of whist the married ladies and gentlemen beat the singles by six points.

SAWTELLE.

OFFICERS OF WATER COMPANY.

Crawford; Treasurer, S. H. Taft; Superintendent of Juvenile Temple, Mrs. S. H. Taft; Marshall, Elijah Williams; Guard, Walter Beaver; Sentinel, Miss Nellie Langdon.

AZUSA.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEET.

AZUSA, Jan. 28.—The regular meeting of the Azusa Woman's Club was held Wednesday afternoon. The leading paper was presented by Mrs. Frank W. Hall, on "Physical Culture." Mrs. C. S. Ayers read two chapters on early California mining, from the advance sheets of the History of California, written by her husband, the late Col. J. J. Ayers, which is soon to be published. The literary programme closed with a parliamentary drill by Mrs. E. P. Rice. The officers elected were: Mrs. C. S. Ayers, president; Mrs. W. A. Sheldon, vice-president; Mrs. C. R. Gatton, secretary; Mrs. W. W. Heth, treasurer, and Miss Clara Smith, chairman of the Programme Committee.

SAN PEDRO.

BOARDING HOUSE QUARANTINED

SAN PEDRO, Jan. 28.—Several cases of smallpox have developed at Wilmington during the week, among the employes of the Southwestern Lumber Company's mill. The boarding-house, conducted by Mrs. George Wells, in which several employes boarded, has been placed under quarantine. There is no fear that the disease will spread.

AMATEUR ACTING.

A clever presentation of the rural comedy, "The Hickory Farm," was given by local talent at the Wetherby last night. The proceeds of the entertainment were donated to the San Pedro Brass Band. The following is a cast of the characters: Zeik Fortune, Howard H. Hogan; Jack Nelson, Lester Burke; Gilbert Darkwood, Ben Davis; Ben Halls, Robert Savage; Patrolman Murphy and Eli Fortune, Jack Patterson; Mother Meg, Miss Ruby Moss; Rose Morris, Miss Jessie Carpenter; Pansy Honee and Tommy Rocks, Miss Della Grable.

POMONA.

AGED MAN MISSING.

POMONA, Jan. 28.—Posses are searching this section for J. D. Jones, aged 70 years, who suddenly disappeared from his home here. He was last seen by Road Overseer I. S. Wire about 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on the Base Line road in the San Dimas wash, walking west toward Glendora. The vicinity of Glendora, Covina and Azusa has been searched, but no trace of the man has been found. The San Dimas wash covers an area of about four square miles, and contains many wells and shafts. It is covered with sage brush.

Tomorrow a large number of citizens headed by Constable Slanker will go to the wash to make thorough search of that place. The old gentleman was in feeble health and mind, and his wife and daughter, Mrs. Conley Heaton, are alarmed for is safety. Mr. Jones is about 5 feet 11 inches in height, weighs about 110 pounds, has a short gray beard, walks with his hands behind him and stoops considerably, and wears ladies' shoes. He was dressed in a dark blue coat and trousers and dark felt hat.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

Rogers Concert.

Miss Blanche Rogers gave the third chamber concert of her series last evening in her pretty studio-auditorium at No. 912 West Twentieth street. The pianist was assisted by Bernhard Mollenhauer, violin; Ludwig Opid, 'cello, and Harry Clifford Lott, baritone. The instrumentalists' playing is familiar to artistic Los Angeles, and their numbers last evening were given with good interpretative ability. Mr. Lott's voice sounds far better in comparatively small quarters, and the confines of a studio bring out the resonance and richness which sometimes seem lost in a larger room. Miss Rogers's audience chamber comfortably seats nearly 100 persons. This number is appropriate, for chamber music seems to lose its natural quality, transposed to a large hall.

Miss Rogers's next concert will be given Feoruary 25. Her programme last evening was well selected, including:

Trio, Op. 1, No. 1 (Beethoven,) "Allegro," "Adagio cantabile," "Allegro assai," "Presto;" violoncello Sonate (Mozart,) "Allegro poco maestoso," "Andante," "Allegro non troppo;" four songs from "Dichterliebe" Op. 48 (Schumann,) "The Two Grenadiers;" trio, Op. 63 (Schumann,) "Allegro," "Scherzo," "Adagio," "Finale."

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra presents the fourth concert of its season, at the Mason Operahouse. The opening number is the famous "Fingal's Cave" overture. Other selections are three movements of Godard's "Scenes Poetique," and an intermezzo from the opera "Manfred." For the last half of the programme Beethoven's second symphony will be given. The soloist is Miss Ella Clare Northup, who will sing Verdi's "Ritorna Vincitor," from "Aida."

New Entrance to Times Office.

While the Business Offices of The Times are being remodeled, the entrance to both advertising and subscription departments will be on First street at the eastern extremity of the building.

THE TIMES MAGAZINE the coming Sunday will contain an article by Commander Nordenskjold of the Swedish expedition to the Antarctic region, telling the thrilling story of his own experience.

FREDERIC J. HASKIN'S letter in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday will tell something of the leading men in the new republic of Panama.

ALL WANT A "UNION" CARD.

Alliance Membership Jumps to Thousands.

Employers Will, in Future, Dictate Schedules.

Bookbinders Reject Every Union Overture.

The Citizens' Alliance idea has caught local employers, and the organization effected Wednesday evening on the initiative of Herbert George and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association has in twenty-four hours, become a powerful factor in Los Angeles.

With a charter membership Wednesday evening of three hundred the organization today has an enrollment of 3500.

One fact that augurs well for the alliance is found in the manner in which heretofore indifferent merchants have taken hold of the project and, unsolicited, given their time and influence in awakening interest in the plans and purposes of the new "union" that is to meet organized labor on its own ground. Men who have been content to let the industrial world wag as it will, complacent in the knowledge that up to the present their interests have not been disturbed, spent all of Wednesday in effectual missionary work, bringing in last evening in some instances as high as fifty applications for membership, and carrying away another bunch of blanks to be used in their work today.

Every man signing the roll Wednesday evening was given ten blank applications and before noon yesterday every blank given out had been returned to the central office of the organization properly filled out and accompanied by the initiation fee. Before the close of the week it is confidently expected that the membership roll will contain 6000 representative names—names of men who will make the fight of a single member their own and give the disturbing union element a taste of their own nauseating medicine.

"ZEE" FOR SECRETARY.

Yesterday morning the Executive Committee of the alliance met in the chambers of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and perfected every detail of the new organization. A strong officiary was chosen, an advisory board selected, an automobile delegate commissioned and F. J. Zeehandelaar appointed as secretary.

Mr. Zeehandelaar's appointment was unanimous and spontaneous, and was made in recognition of the good work he has accomplished as secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Zeehandelaar was also heartily indorsed by Mr. George, who for the week past has, in the secretary's company, canvassed the city preparatory to the formation of the alliance. "In no city that I have visited," said Mr. George, "have I found a man who has every detail of the situation so thoroughly in hand as has the man chosen as secretary of this new organization."

IMMEDIATE EFFECT.

The effect of the alliance upon business men has already been apparent. A few days since the union bookbinders went out on a strike because a new schedule of wages and hours, proposed by the laborites, was rejected. The situation in some instances seemed critical. One employer even contemplated selling his plant rather than suffer the annoyances that seemed inevitable. Yesterday morning the atmosphere had cleared. The harassed employers braced up and when the walking delegate offered terms the employers hadn't time to talk, had nothing to arbitrate, and showed the intruders the door.

At the Long bindery a committee from the unions wanted to effect a compromise, but Mr. Long was deaf to the entreaties. Later in the day the committee called again and tendered a revised schedule. The response given the committee has been adopted as one of the fundamental principles of the new alliance. Courteously but firmly Mr. Long said:

"In the future the employers of Los Angeles, rather than their employes, will arrange the schedules of salary and hours."

Sufficient binders to take the places of every union malcontent are en route to Los Angeles from distant points, and by another week every bindery will be running full-handed.

ORIGIN OF ARBOR DAY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

FORMER Gov. J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska, is called the father of the movement for the observance of Arbor Day. To him belongs the distinction of inaugurating this happy custom. Through his personal effort the second Wednesday in April, 1872, was dedicated to a general tree-planting in the State of Nebraska. So great an interest was awakened that ten million trees were planted upon that day by the men, women and children of Nebraska.

The enthusiasm thus awakened has continued. After this brilliant initiatory tree-planting, Michigan, Iowa and seventeen other States in rapid succession followed Nebraska's lead. The tree-planting movement has steadily developed until now it is observed in some form in every State and Territory in the Union, including Hawaii, and it has extended to England, France, Canada, New Zealand, Japan and other countries.

Gov. Morton's action was inspired by a wish to benefit his own State. In 1872 Nebraska was a treeless Territory. The Governor believed that the planting of trees in sufficient numbers would redeem the waste tracts of land and develop a forest growth that would prove an effective barrier to the devastating blizzard, that it would give protection to animals and crops, and would besides become a source of wealth. It is estimated that there are now in Nebraska over 100,000 acres of planted forest land, in recognition of Gov. Morton's service to the State, the Nebraska Legislature in 1885 established the birthday of Gov. Morton, April 22, as a legal holiday, and gave it the name of "Arbor Day."

In 1882 the American Forestry Congress met in Cincinnati. The occasion was marked by a general holiday, with bands of music and flying flags 20,000 school children marched to Eden Park on the outskirts of the city, and there planted trees in memory of great heroes and statesmen, not alone of America but of the world. Thus happily began the especial connection of the school children with Arbor Day.

A resolution in favor of observing Arbor Day in all the schools of the United States was adopted by the American Forestry Association, and Dr. Northrup was appointed chairman of a committee to push the work. To this labor Dr. Northrup devoted the remainder of his life.

Arbor Day is now observed in the schools of almost every State by Legislative "act," or by special order of the Governor or school superintendent.

In California there is no legal recognition of Arbor Day. The Legislature passed an Arbor Day act in 1887, which failed to secure the signature of Gov. Bartlett. This is the only occasion upon which a Governor has defeated an Arbor Day act. The first observance of the day in California was in 1886. Upon that occasion the late Adolph Sutro of San Francisco, presented the school children of that city with 45,000 trees for their Arbor Day dedication.

Perhaps the greatest value of Arbor Day to the child and to the adult as well, is the lesson that it teaches of the unity and harmony of all living nature—that every created thing has its share in making perfect and splendid the destinies of the world. The child that waters and cares for a growing tree may learn to feel as Lowell felt when he wrote:

"I care not how men trace their ancestry,
To ape or Adam—let them please their whim;
But I in June am ready to believe
A tree among my fair progenitors;
Such sympathy is mine with all the race;
Such mutual recognition, gravely sweet,
There is between us."

LOCAL RAILROAD RECORD.

NEW ROUTE FROM SEVENTH.

WILL CONTINUE TO BIMINI BATHS VIA SIXTH.

Westlake Line to Cover Park District Between Alvarado and Rampart—Big Fill Being Made—New Cars for Second Street Line.

Gen. Manager Howard E. Huntington stated yesterday afternoon that within thirty days the Seventh-street cars will be running north on Alvarado street to Sixth and out Sixth to the Bimini baths. The Westlake (Second-street) line, which has terminated at Seventh and Alvarado, will continue out Seventh to Rampart, thus taking the place of the Seventh street cars along that territory.

After leaving Sixth street the new road continues over a private right-of-way and a crew of thirty teams is completing the largest fill ever made in the city across the gulch just east of the Bimini baths. The fill is thirty feet high and 1500 feet long and will take 34,000 yards of earth. Chief Engineer Curtis expects to have it completed and the line laying rails across in twenty days and to have cars running in thirty.

Big improvements have been made in the equipment of the Westlake line and a better service is to be given. Six large standard cars have been placed on this line and there is now but one of the old "dinkeys" in use. Four more large cars will soon be added. The new cars have open seats at both ends and are fitted up with magnetic brakes to assure safety on the steep hills over which the Westlake line passes. "The increase in traffic has been very great on the line going out Second street," said General Manager Huntington. "The district has grown up remarkably, so fast that we can hardly keep pace with it, but these new cars will give the best of service."

Let every resident and every stranger within our gates hasten to gaze upon the one surviving dinkey before it is relegated to the scrap heap. It can be found at intervals of about thirty minutes during the day and until midnight at the corner of Second and Spring streets. It is a car propelled by electricity and labeled, "For Westlake Park." But it is not like other cars; it is short and dirty and has an altogether woebegone look. When a Redondo car rounds the corner from Broadway all resplendent in a dress of green varnish, with the regular Pullman air, it sneaks off on to the north track to be out of the way and ready for its journey over the hills again. As it slowly crawls upward its pride gets another jolt, as one of the great double-enders which have preceded all its old companions out of business comes tearing down the grade clanging the bell and sending the dust as high as the new roof of the Bryson block.

"And yet I used to shine like that once and people used to think I was very comfortable to ride in, but that was many years ago and they want bigger things now," sighs the little car.

But just glance at the interior. On one side half of the first seat is occupied with the headlight, placed there for convenience, as it has to be used every night. Then in the corner next to the headlight is a broom and a shovel, also for use if required. On a nail driven into the side hangs the motorman's ulster, ready in case of need. On the other side of the aisle a long-handled turkey-feather duster projects at an angle to tickle the nose of any passenger who may drop into the first seat. The conductor's great coat hangs on that side and beneath it is a long iron intended for the scraping of mud out of switches and other uses known to street-car folk. There are many peculiarities of this last of a type of street cars of which Los Angeles once was proud, but it is not necessary now to dwell upon them.

TELEPHONE GOES.

It is probable that the cars of the Pacific Electric Railway Company will soon be dispatched by telegraph instead of by telephone. Telegraph instruments have been placed in the offices at Sixth street and at Long Beach and Whittier as an experiment and will be operated by the private telephone wires of the company to these various points. If the experiment proves successful the telegraph will be instituted on all divisions of the system, most of the ticket agents at the various stations being telegraph operators. The telegraph has been successfully worked on telephone wires at several places in the East, but this will be the first trial of the kind on this Coast.

The work is being done by the Postal Telegraph Company, and Local Manager C. L. Lewis stated last night that in all probability the lines would also be used for the latter company's business, thus giving them stations in several new towns and a service late into the night.

MORGAN AND SON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When J. Pierpont Morgan Jr., arrived today he said he would remain in this country for several months only. He admitted that he will be in his father's office while he is here, but refused to affirm or deny that his father will take charge of the London office of the firm, or while in New York that he will take an active interest in Wall street.

Dr. A. D. Bevan has stirred up the members of the Chicago Medical Society by saying that drug treatment is useless in cases of pneumonia.

SERIOUS FIRE AT BRAWLEY.

HOTEL ANNEX AND SEVERAL STORES ARE DESTROYED.

Invalid and His Friend Narrowly Escape Death—Blaze Starts from Explosion of Kerosene Stove—Loss Will Reach Ten Thousand Dollars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BRAWLEY, Jan. 28, via Od Beach.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Shortly before noon today fire broke out in Marlow's Hotel Annex, and totally destroyed it, together with Housk's hardware store and the Imperial Valley Bank. The main hotel, near the burning buildings, was partially destroyed. Peter Hoveley was seriously burned and W. F. Brown was slightly injured. The fire started in the annex by the explosion of a kerosene stove. Brown, who was ill, was in bed and Hoveley brought the stove in to heat the room. He had just lighted it when the explosion came, filling the room with flames and terribly burning Hoveley about the hands and face. Brown protected himself with a blanket. They will recover.

The loss is about $10,000, partially covered by insurance. Housk is the heaviest loser, having just put in a $2000 stock of hardware which was not insured. Occupants of the annex lost their trunks and all their wearing apparel. The bank saved all valuables and will open up in a room in the News Building tomorrow morning. The buildings will be replaced as soon as possible by more substantial structures.

SAN DIEGO.

EDUCATIONAL EXCHANGE.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 28.—An interesting instance of reciprocity in the public schools is furnished at the little town of Tia Juana, just across the boundary line in Lower California. The Tia Juana school is on the American side of the line. Across the line in Mexican T. Juana a public school is maintained by the Mexican government. Its term is ten months long. The American school has an eight months' term. Parents of American children send them into Mexico to learn the Spanish language during the two months that are unoccupied, and Mexican parents send their children to the American school to learn the English language. Thus far the balance of the courtesy has been on the Mexican side.

JURY FINDS HIM A FORGER.

DENVER (Colo.) Jan. 28.—A special to the News from Salida, Colo., says that the jury in the case of J. W. Ryan, charged with victimizing two banks in this city, today returned a verdict of guilty. Sentence was deferred. Ryan, with several confederates, was charged with cashing two forged checks, amounting to several thousand dollars, drawn on two banks there, after having them verified by a confederate over the telephones.
